The Cost of Crime.
East and West, and Gandhi.
Do You Need Triplets?
Raising Wheat, at Home.

—By ARTHUR BRISBANE—

A FEDERAL judge has said that crime in the United States costs annually between eleven thousand and THIRTEEN THOUSAND MILLION DOLLARS. Every year crime costs the country more than the total sum we lent Europe in the war. An expert says racketeering costs Chicago alone one hundred and forty-five millions a year.

"Legitimate" business of many kinds, important branches of union labor, and many other lines of effort are victims, and some times originator, of racketeering.

This country needs to clean house in more ways than one.

GANDHI BEGINS the death fast that is to terrify Britain in some mysterious way, and attain the Mahatma's political ends. He refuses to leave prison, unless put out by force.

In America, some of his friends, imitating him, also will fast, but only for 24 hours, to show friendly feeling.

The difference between east and west is illustrated in Gandhi's fasting. The dissatisfied westerner starts a revolution or attacks some individual. The protesting Hindu starves HIMSELF.

IF YOU want to make an experiment in child rearing, or if you would like three pets better than any three dogs, call on Mrs. Florence Serena, of Vandergrift, Pennsylvania. She offers to give her triplets, two boys and a girl, twenty-one months old, blue eyes and yellow hair, to anybody that will provide a good home, also a baby boy one month old, if desired.

The mother has three other children and is very poor. That situation might interest the founder of Christianity more than all Wall Street's troubles.

THOMAS D. CAMPBELL, with the approval of this government, showed Russia how to prepare and sow with wheat, thirty million acres. At present, working on his own big farm in Montana, he writes:

"We have just finished harvesting one of the largest crops ever produced in Montana, at the lowest cost of production in the history of our organization, and, owing to the low price of wheat, this crop has been produced at a loss. The average price of wheat f. o. b. Hardin, Mont., all fall, has been 22 cents a bushel, which included trucking the wheat to the railroad.

It must amuse Russia to see what happens to an American expert raising wheat in his own country.

MR. CAMPBELL says:

"The simple way to solve the agricultural problem is to eliminate the cause, namely, that the farmer has never had the advantage of the tariff on the portion of his commodities sold in the United States. He has always been a buyer in a protected market."

Mr. Campbell has a plan to help the farmer to which the government might pay attention.

Meanwhile, one plan for farmers would be to organize, vote together and stick together as do big industrialists and keep close to the government.

NORMAN THOMAS, who would like to be elected president on the Socialist ticket, points out the interesting fact that sixty small towns in the United States are entirely free from local taxation because they own their own public utilities, gas, power, electricity, etc.

One big town that can testify to the value of public ownership is Jacksonville, Fla. John H. Perry's Jacksonville Journal reports that citizens for 1933 will pay as tax levy, eleven mills, the lowest tax in forty years. The 1932 tax rate is cut in two, thanks largely to earnings of the publicly-owned electric light and power plant.

A PHILOSOPHICAL British lady, Mrs. Pawley, is kidnaped by Chinese bandits. She writes:

"Please send me a powder puff, face cream and a lipstick. I don't want anything else but a bath."

She asks that police be kept away because if they follow the bandits she may be killed.

She would like to be ransomed if possible, but says:

"Please don't bust yourselves."

There is a marvelous placidity in certain British women, and great courage.

THE BRITISH, always practical, have quieted the dangerous riots at Birkenhead, not by shooting a lot of men and making the riots worse, but by raising the amount of the dole for the idle.

The dole may have all the vices that respectable Americans attribute to it, but it seems to have helped the British through a bad period.

THE ASSOCIATED PRESS says:

"Senator Reed of Pennsylvania and Ambassador Edge inform French authorities that the American people believe Germany's recent move for armament equality was inopportune."

The American people believe nothing of the kind. They believe that what Germany does is GERMANY'S business, and the same of all other European nations. What Americans ask is to be kept out of foreign fights and planning.

COYNE HITS AT SCHOOL BOARD

Senator's Committee Begins Probe Into City, County Costs

With a broadside against the Pittsburgh Board of Public Education as a "closed corporation," State Senator James J. Coyne and his legislative committee this afternoon began their long-heralded investigation of city and county governments with a view to reducing taxes.

Coyne charges that officials of the school board had been responsible for false reports that Coyne's committee would seek to lower teachers' salaries; that school children had spread the rumors that teachers had to buy ink, papers and pencils because of the Coyne economy drive.

DENIES 'SNOOPING'

Denying any intention of "snooping," Coyne declared the committee's object was to cut costs of government and that perhaps repeal of certain state laws would be recommended to the Legislature.

Coyne in a prepared statement, declared:

"In understand officials of the Pittsburgh Board of Public Education has inspired rumors that our committee will seek to lower the pay of teachers. Speaking for myself, I want to say emphatically that there is no such intention.

"I am convinced the teachers are worth the present salaries and if there were any changes, it should be upwards.

"I have heard also that school children have told their parents that owing to our committee's investigation, the teachers have to buy pencils and scratch paper, ink and other necessary school supplies, the implication being that our committee proposes that as an economy measure.

AMPLE FUNDS

"There is, of course, no sound basis for that attitude on the part of officials of the school

Autumn to Arrive In District Friday

The autumn season makes a late entry into Pittsburgh this year. Officially fall does not arrive until 1:16 a. m. Friday, Forecaster W. S. Brotzman announced today.

Brotzman said the drouth this year in the Pittsburgh area is more pronounced than that of two years ago. To date the deficiency in rainfall is 10.07 inches, while at this date in 1930 the deficiency was only 9.22 inches.

Girl, 15, Scolded, Attempts Suicide

Scolded for keeping late hours, a 15-year-old girl of Highman street, attempted suicide in her home by taking poison, according to a police report. The girl was treated at Allegheny General Hospital and later removed to her home. The Sun-Telegraph, because of her age, does not publish the child's name.

M'Chesney, Radio Man, Killed

Allan MacChesney, 39, well known radio operator and electrical engineer, was killed today when 9,000 volts passed through his body at the WJAS transmitting station on the Steubenville pike. He lived at 516 Ivy street.

The Coroner's report indicated that the victim had come in contact with one of the many high tension wires leading into the transmitter. Efforts to revive him failed, and he was dead when Dr. G. M. Sprowls arrived at the station.

MacChesney had been with the station several years. H. E. Clark, manager of the transmitting plant, declared the cause of the fatal accident was unknown.

LA FOLLETTES LOSE AT POLLS

Associated Press.

A La Follette was beaten in Wisconsin yesterday for the first time in 40 years, as Wisconsin Republicans chose Walter J. Kohler, former conservative Governor, over Gov. Philip F. La Follette, for their gubernatorial nominee.

La Follette forces apparently suffered another setback in the Republican senatorial primary where John B. Chapple, young conservative candidate, was running well ahead of the progressive incumbent, Senator John J. Blaine.

It was the first time since 1892 that Wisconsin Republicans had turned down a La Follette.

Wisconsin has an income tax law. Gov. La Follette proposed to use it on a graduated scale against big incomes to finance unemployment relief and to reimburse general property for what it already had spent on relief work. He asked for a bill which he now estimates would have produced $24,000,000. The Legislature provided less than $6,000,000.

Massachusetts Republicans apparently chose Lieut. Gov. William S. Youngman as their gubernatorial nominee over Frank A. Goodwin, chairman of the Boston Finance Commission, but returns were not complete. Gov. Joseph B. Ely, Democrat, had no opposition for renomination.

Prohibition played a prominent part in many of the New York congressional races, with honors won on both sides.

Divorce Talk Absurd, Marion Nixon Says

HOLLYWOOD, Sept. 21.—(AP.)—A report that Marion Nixon, screen star, and her husband, Edward Hillman, Jr., wealthy Chicago sportsman, might seek a divorce brought emphatic denial from the actress today.

She said:

"It's absurd."

Judge Terms Raids Blow at Constables

Judge Frank P. Patterson, speaking today before the Variety Club luncheon, declared he is not a reformer. He said he started the drive against vice and crime to keep constables from committing perjury four times a year.

CAPONE WINS HEARING ON APPEAL

Gang Czar Taken From Prison to Court; Case Up Oct. 19

ATLANTA, Sept. 21.—Federal Judge Marvin Underwood today designated October 19 for hearing a petition for a writ of habeas corpus by which Al Capone, Chicago gang chief, seeks his release from the Atlanta Federal Penitentiary.

The date was set by the judge with the mutual agreement of the attorneys for the government and Capone.

Capone's appearance in Federal Court was the first time he had left the Atlanta prison since he started serving a 10-year sentence last May 4. He was sentenced following conviction on income tax evasion charges.

Capone was clothed in the same dark suit and light hat he wore when he entered the prison.

Harvard Prexy Gets Traffic Summons

PLYMOUTH, Mass., Sept. 21.—(INS.)—President A. Lawrence Lowell, of Harvard, today had a "date" to appear in court on October 4 to answer charges of violation of traffic laws.

Patrolman Robert M. Fogarty admitted today that he stopped the Harvard official on the Manomet road last Thursday night. It was alleged that President Lowell cut out of line.

Baby Born in Taxi Halted by Policeman

PHILADELPHIA, Sept. 21.—(AP.)—An eight-pound boy was born in a speeding taxicab today as a motorcycle policeman, his siren screeching, cleared the way in the hospital dash to outdistance the stork.

The baby was born to Mrs. Margaret Murphy, 33, of Narberth, a suburb, soon after Policeman Sparks stopped the taxicab for speeding, but took charge when he learned the situation.

Vickerman Leaves $35,000 to Family

An estate valued at $35,000 was left in trust by John W. Vickerman for his widow, according to the provisions of his will filed for probate here today.

At Mrs. Vickerman's death the estate will be equally divided among three sons and a daughter.

Bernard Baruch, Jr., Weds London Girl

PARIS, Sept. 21.—(INS.)—Bernard M. Baruch, Jr., of New York, was married to Miss Winifred Beatrice Mann, of London, Monday at Geneva, a brief announcement in the Paris Herald said today.

Douglas in a 'Marine War' Council

JOHN DOUGLAS, JR. W. F. MICHAEL

CAPT. WALTER HALFHILL EARL MOORE GEORGE ANDREWS

Mr. Douglas, big sand and gravel man, and his Attorney Michael questioning Watchman Moore, Engineer Andrews of his leased towboat R. F. Winton, last night cast adrift in the Allegheny "by men with sledges" in the latest "attack" in the war over sand and gravel supplies for the new postoffice building. As the Winton drifted away, a fleet of the competing Iron City Sand and Gravel Company tied up at the same wharf. This is a Sun-Telegraph picture.

CONSTABLE CITES BRIBE BOAST

Rum Seller Declared He 'Paid Captain,' Officer Says

The blame for lawlessness fostered by speakeasies and numbers rackets in the city's biggest ward—the Nineteenth—today was placed on Supt. Peter P. Walsh's police force.

Constable John Healy, defending himself in Criminal Court against charges that he allowed the rackets to flourish, testified:

"The first slot machine I saw I went in and told them to get it out. The next day it was out. Two days later it was back in. I asked about it and was told these people were all right with the city.

REPORTED TO BEEBE

"I went to Inspector (Albert) Beebe and told him the man said he was okay with the city. Beebe said, 'We will see.' The next day the machines were out.

"I had a complaint that an Italian was selling moon in Williams street. I sent Neuner, the deputy constable, to see what evidence he could get. Soon the Italian came to me and said, 'Me all right, I pay the captain for protection.'

"I went to No. 9 Police Station and told them. They said they didn't know him. He was knocked off by the police next day."

But Judge Frank P. Patterson refused to allow Healy's testimony to go without explanation. He interjected from the bench:

"You may put it down the police will knock off any man who accuses them of getting money for protection. A better way would be for the Constable to go to the District Attorney."

DENIES CHARGES

Healy flatly denied the charges of Joseph A. McArdle, son of in-

Secretary's Illness Delays Walker Tour

NAPLES, Italy, Sept. 21.—(AP.)—Former Mayor James J. Walker, of New York, said today he would abandon any plans to travel in Italy unless the condition of his secretary, George Collins, improves.

A physician said collins, who contracted an intestinal ailment during the voyage here from New York, was in a serious condition and required absolute rest.

Canadian Indians Defy Government

WINNIPEG, Manitoba, Sept. 21.—(AP.)—Defying government orders, Chief Great Eyes and 35 families of the Salteaux Indian tribe were encamped today on a reserve about 35 miles north of here which they surrendered 25 years ago when they were moved to the Fisher River reserve.

Chief Great Eyes said his people had been promised $90 each when they moved, but never had received the money.

Strike Off, Postoffice Tieup Ends; New Battle on Wharf Rights Looms

BOY, GIRL HURT BY GANG BOMB

CHICAGO, Sept. 21.—(INS.)—Cruelly mangled, a boy and a girl lay on hospital beds today, innocent victims of a dynamite bombing in front of the home of Judge John P. McGoorty, relentless enemy of the underworld.

The boy, Lee Wilbur Koeppen, 16, and the girl, Mrs. Ada Moyer, a 16-year-old mother, were blown off their feet and hurled to the sidewalk by the blast as they were strolling along the street in front of Judge McGoorty's home last night.

The youth, who playfully kicked the brown package containing the dynamite just before it exploded, was the most seriously injured. The girl-mother faced the loss of her sight. Her frail body was covered with burns and lacerations.

The judge and his family—two daughters and one son—narrowly escaped death or injury in the blast, which shattered all the windows of their home.

Boy Points to Man As Slayer of Wife

A 6-year-old boy stood on a chair at a coroner's inquest today and pointed to Lanzy Farino, 22, as the man he said he had seen stab his wife, Regina, 19, to death as she stood with a babe in her arms in front of her home, 1855 Crescent street, August 17. Farino, police testified, killed his young wife because she refused to return to him. Farino was held on a murder charge.

Karolyi, Hungary's Premier, Resigns

Union Engineers Win Gravel Handling Dispute

The strike which has halted work on Pittsburgh's new $8,000,000 postoffice was declared off today, as another battle over wharf rights loomed with the cutting loose of John Douglas's sand and gravel fleet below the Sixth Street Bridge.

The sound of hammers was heard on the postoffice building again today for the first time in nine weeks as carpenters went back to their task.

All the crews will be fully organized and the work in full swing tomorrow, M. Wertheimer, superintendent for the Aronberg-Fried Company, general contractors, announced.

SETTLED IN CAPITAL

The strike was settled at a conference in Washington late yesterday when the Pittsburgh Building Trades Employers' Association agreed to recognize the right of the union to see that union hoisting engineers are employed on gravel boats.

F. O. Reed, secretary of the Building Trades Employers' Association, announcing the strike had been called off, made this statement:

"The agreement between the Pittsburgh Building Trades Employers Association and Engineers Local No. 905, dated June 1, 1931, and addenda thereto of

M'KEE TO STAY IN OFFICE

NEW YORK, Sept. 21.—(INS.)—Mayor Joseph V. McKee will remain in office until January 1, 1934, and there will be no mayoralty election this year under a decision handed down today by Supreme Court Justice John McGeehan.

The court upheld McKee's contention that when he succeeded to the office vacated by James J. Walker it was for the remainder of Walker's term.

An appeal is certain to be taken to the Court of Appeals by Tammany Hall and others who hold that an election must be held this year.

Bride Divorced, Society Couple Wed Same Day

BALTIMORE, Sept. 21.—(AP.)—Harry Hays Morgan, socially prominent New Yorker, and Mrs. Edith G. Arnold, of Philadelphia, were married in Baltimore yesterday, it was learned here today.

Coming here after Mrs Arnold secured a divorce in Philadelphia earlier in the day from Paul Mitchell Arnold, former Army captain, the couple was forced to go to the home of two clergymen before they succeeded in being married.

A license was secured at the courthouse, where Margan gave his age as 34 and Mrs Arnold's as 32. Morgan, a member of a New Orleans family, is the brother of Mrs. Reginald C. Vanderbilt.

Morgan and Mrs. Arnold then went to the home of one clergyman where, for some reason not made public, they were unable to have the ceremony performed. They succeeded at the home of the Rev. Samuel J. McDowell, pastor of the Third English Lutheran Church.

Morgan told Edward J. Creighton, clerk at the Marriage License Bureau, they planned to leave for New York immediately after the ceremony and sail for Europe.

Morgan was married in 1924 to Mrs. Ivor O'Connor Trezvant and was divorced from her three years later in Paris. She charged desertion.

Ghost Cavalryman Seen On Massacre Eve Ride

PHILADELPHIA, Sept. 21.—(INS.)—Like a prototype of Ichabod Crane, immortalized by Washington Irving, a doctor stood amazed last night and watched the eerie ride of a ghostly horseman.

As the shadowy figure came flying down Darby road, south of Lancaster pike, the coat-tails of its blue military jacket stood out in the wind. Horse hoofs pounded without a sound. A saber jounced silently at its side.

Suddenly it stopped—disappeared without a trace.

Dr. Anthony Wayne Baugh, of Paoli, declared that last night he was but the width of the street from the cavalryman on his annual ride—on the eve of the historic Paoli massacre.

He identiqed the ghost as the one, who, it is whispered, makes a spectral journey each year to the spot where the British and Hessians under Gen. Gray fell unexpectedly on "Mad Anthony" Wayne and his Chester County militia. The massacre occurred on the night of September 20, 1777. It was engineered by Lord Howe's troops through the villany of the Tory keeper of the old Admiral Warren Inn.

The ghost rider was first seen more than a century ago. The horseman, it is related, resents the advance of those who are overcurious, by removing its head and handing it to the peeper. Within a year the latter dies.

U. S. CHARGES WITNESS FOR DAVIS CHANGED TESTIMONY

MEMORY FAILS MOOSE LEADER ON STAND

Aide Declares Senator Urged Drive to Build 'House of God'

NEW YORK, Sept. 21.—(AP.)—Rodney H. Brandon, public welfare director of Illinois and former supreme dictator of the Loyal Order of Moose, was accused by the government today of changing his grand jury testimony when he took the stand at the trial of James J. Davis for alleged violation of federal lottery laws.

Brandon was today's second witness at the trial of the United States Senator from Pennsylvania, who is lifelong director general of the Moose and who served in the cabinets of three presidents after rising to public life from early years as a steel mill puddler.

FAILS TO REMEMBER

Assistant United States Attorney Louis M. Treadwell, who is acting as chief prosecutor, sought to show through questioning Brandon that Davis had approved an alleged lottery the government contends was held in connection with the 1930 charity ball of the Moose.

Brandon said he attended the 1930 prize drawing, but that Davis was not present, although he saw him at a luncheon later. Treadwell asked:

"Did Senator Davis say anything about the charity ball?"

"I don't remember."

The prosecutor handed him a transcript of the minutes of the grand jury before which he testified and which indicted Davis and six others who are to be tried later. Treadwell asked:

"Doesn't it express his approval?"

ATTORNEY'S CLASH

Brandon replied that it expressed Davis' approval of any enterprise which brought money to the fraternal order. Treadwell pressed him for an answer whether Davis did not express approval of the whole plan for the charity ball.

Brandon snapped:

"My recollection is that I don't recollect."

Further efforts by Treadwell to compare Brandon's grand jury testimony with his testimony today were objected to by the defense. One question showing such comparison the prosecutor insisted on his right to ask. He said:

"Your honor, I am surprised at the change in the witness' testimony, and I think I have a right to ask this question."

The court took the matter under advisement.

Brandon was preceded on the stand by Malcolm R. Giles, of Baltimore, supreme secretary of the Moose, whose testimony was interrupted by adjournment yesterday.

SUGGESTED CASH DRIVE

Giles testified that Davis had always objected to gambling and prize giving by Moose lodges. He said the charity balls were instituted after a speech by Davis in which he suggested raising money for a "House of God" at Mooseheart. The first was held in 1929, he said, and no prize tickets were given in connection with it.

Treadwell asked:

"Do you know if Senator Davis was told of the difference between the 1929 ball and the two following?"

"I do not."

Man Gets 4 Years In Postal Robbery

Albert Allen, alias Nathan Allen, a Negro, of Youngstown, was sentenced four years in Atlanta Penitentiary today following his conviction in Erie for burglarizing the St. Clair Pharmacy, a postoffice sub-station, at 901 St. Clair street. Louise Thames, his companion, who turned state's evidence, will be sentenced later. The pair also were accused of taking morphine and liquor from the drug store.

Ohio Mines Picketed Despite Strike End

CROOKSVILLE, O., Sept. 21.—(INS.)—Disregarding the formal end of the Ohio coal strike, pickets massed at the Manhattan Coal Company's Nos. 51 and 52 mines today and prevented miners from going to work, charging the coal company had violated terms of the strike settlement.

dependent Councilman P. J. McArdle, that he allowed the clubs to operate in Mt. Washington and Duquesne Heights.

He denied, too, that he had told Thomas K. Dunn, a witness for McArdle, that he wanted to "cut in" on the numbers racket.

Healy denied telling Mrs. George Soffel, Republican vice chairman of the ward, that Frank Petrollo had offered him $100 a month to allow the Italian Republican Club to operate. He denied asking Joseph Regano to "organize" the numbers racket for him.

Before the hearing adjourned to Friday, Attorney Ralph Frank, counsel for Healy, sought to show that McArdle was retaliating because Healy had not named deputies wanted by McArdle.

Healy told of visiting the places given to him as run by law violators by young McArdle and finding no evidence.

He told of finding beer and slot machines at 27 Steuben street and arresting one Ponzo, later acquitted in court; of failing to find evidence at No. 6 Horner street; of not finding "Wiltman's machines" or any moonshine at Mike Steinhauff's or the Red Robin—all places named by McArdle.

Healy added:

"Others on that list were the Skookum Club, the South Hills Republican Club, the Maennerchor Club. I went to all these clubs and told them to close down or I would close them. They closed for a short time. I went back later, but was never able to get in. After making an investigation of McArdle's list I didn't have much confidence in his information."

NUMBERS WRITERS

Healy then told of swearing out informations against five persons named as numbers writers by McArdle witnesses.

On cross-examination Attorney James McArdle brought out that Healy and several deputies had visited the big clubs in the ward and notified them to close this last January. McArdle asked why Healy hadn't raided the places.

Healy retorted:

"Well, I might say that your crowd told me not to raid them, just to close them down."

Healy then admitted he had gone into the Nineteenth Ward Republican Club, but had refused a proffered drink.

McArdle asked:

"Before the spring primaries this year, didn't you tell officials of the Maennerchor Club and the Skookum Club you wouldn't bother them if they treated you okay?"

LIE! SHOUTS HEALY

Healy, rising from the witness chair, shouted:

"That's a lie!"

Healy admitted, reluctantly, that Mike Cafarra had talked with him about the Nineteenth Ward Republican Club but Healy denied giving the club protection.

When Healy told of walking along streets looking for slot machines, Judge Patterson said:

"They don't put those things out where they hit you on the face."

Healy was preceded on the stand by John Lauderbaugh, who identified himself as a city fireman and treasurer of the City Firemen's Protective Association.

When Lauderbaugh had apparently convinced listeners he was not the Lauderbaugh who was named as "picking up" numbers at Jones' drug store in Broadway, Attorney McArdle, counsel for his brother, brought out that Lauderbaugh had a son, George, who uses the auto identified with the pickup man.

McArdle brought his charges against Healy to support his petition to remove the bond he posted for Healy when Healy was elected constable and they were friendly.

Detectives Batter Door In Oakland Club Raid

In a midnight raid on "The B and C Corporation" club, second floor Forbes Building, Forbes and Atwood streets, county detectives reported arresting Philip Klein, 25, alleged owner, and confiscating whisky, gin and beer. Detectives battered down the doors to gain entrance, but found no patrons. Gambling paraphernalia was found, the raiders said.

Nathan Herman and Morris Whitman, alleged distributors for a slot machine syndicate, were arrested as a result of the raid on the La Barbe barbecue, William Penn Highway, in which county detectives charged William Smith and Allen Bailer, Turtle Creek High School instructors, as the proprietors. The two instructors were discharged at a hearing, and William Jones arrested as the proprietor. Herman and Whitman were named during the hearing.

William Reagan, 5923 Second avenue, was held for court after county detectives reported finding two slot machines in his confectionery. David Shanye, of New York, and Virgo Olson, of Chicago, were held for investigation by Magistrate Rothenberg, after they admitted they installed punch boards in local stores.

Thomas Conavon was arrested after county detectives reported seizing a quantity of liquor in his home at 314 Island avenue, McKees Rocks.

Healy today subpenaed Dunn, Blair Schulter and Joseph Regano, who had testified in court, to appear at hearings before Alderman Haas tomorrow night, in lottery cases which Healy brought this week against five Mt. Washington men.

MYSTERY FALL KILLS BROKER

NEW YORK, Sept. 21.—(AP.)—William B. Knox, 28, socially prominent son of the late William Elliot Knox, banker, was killed early today in a mysterious, eight-story drop from his apartment.

Detectives, seeking to learn where he jumped or fell, questioned Larry Morgan, who detectives learned was asleep in an adjoining room at the time Knox hurtled from a window.

Morgan said he met Knox for the first time last night when the latter went to see a friend off on the liner Paris. He said they visited a drinking resort and then Knox invited him to the apartment.

2 DIE IN VETS' 'MASS SUICIDE'

OTTAWA, Ont., Sept. 21.—(AP.)—Two unemployed World War veterans were dead and six others were in custody today after what authorities described as an apparent "mass suicide" attempt.

Police engaged in a terrific battle with the ex-service men last night on the banks of Rideau Canal, near Parliament Hill. Authorities said all the men were intoxicated and attempted to hurl themselves in the canal.

Daniel McLean, 36, who served overseas with a Canadian battalion, and Don Clarke, 35, veteran of the Black Watch Imperials, plunged into the canal before police and other rescuers could halt them.

PINCHOT SCORES HOOVER REPLY ON AID LOAN

People 'Indignant' at Delay, He Wires President

HARRISBURG, Sept. 21.—(AP.)—Gov. Pinchot today telegraphed President Hoover that his refusal to take a hand in speeding Reconstruction Finance Corporation aid to Pennsylvania "is a deep disappointment."

The Governor yesterday requested an appointment Friday to discuss with the President means by which the corporation's action on the state's application, now two months old, could be expedited.

HOOVER REPLY

The President advised him that if he studied the law he would realize that the corporation alone could determine its loans and that he was without authority to advise it in the manner the Governor requested. Although Mr. Hoover did not refer to the Governor's request for an appointment, it was said at the White House that he would not be received.

The Pinchot telegram to Hoover today said:

"Your answer to my appeal is a deep disappointment. The senseless arbitrary embargo which the Reconstruction Finance Corporation is enforcing against the starving in Pennsylvania remains.

"I cannot concede that you are powerless to help. Whatever may be your legal authority over the Reconstruction Finance Corporation, its members are your appointees and would unquestionably respect your wishes.

PEOPLE 'INDIGNANT'

"Red tape does not interest the hundreds of thousands of destitute families in Pennsylvania, now on the verge of winter without resources and without hope. What they want is help. All the help private charity, the commonwealth and the nation can give will still fall far below their bitter need. Through its harsh and needless delay, the board is punishing the poor.

"You yourself have given the guarantee that no one shall starve in this country. I ask you to make that guarantee good in Pennsylvania."

Philadelphia Backs Pinchot on Aid Loan

PHILADELPHIA, Sept. 21.—(AP.)—Philip C. Staples, chairman of the Philadelphia County Emergency Relief Board, said today federal aid is imperative to avert starvation among the city's needy during the coming winter.

Commenting on Gov. Pinchot's futile appeal for help to the Reconstruction Finance Corporation, Staples indicated that Philadelphia might stress its needs to the R. F. C. independently of the needs of the state.

19 Escape Death In Forest Blaze

SANTA BARBARA, Cal., Sept. 21.—(AP.)—Heat so intense that knives and forks of camping equipment were melted was described today by J. A. Morrow, leader of a crew of 19 fire fighters who narrowly escaped death when trapped by flames in the Santa Barbara Forest.

Mrs. Nixon-Nirdlinger, the one-time "Miss America" acquitted last year of slaying her rich husband, Fred G. Nixon-Nirdlinger, scion of the old Pittsburgh theater-owning family, today thinking of a film career. In Hollywood, she visited, parleyed at a big studio.

JOBLESS RIOT IN ENGLAND

LIVERPOOL, England, Sept. 21.—(AP.)—A parade of 3,000 unemployed men and women broke up in a riot this afternoon and several persons were injured before order was restored.

The trouble began when a woman knocked off a policeman's hat. The crowd got out of hand quickly, stoned the police, broke the windows in a number of trolley cars and fled when mounted police charged them.

Monessen Fair Rate Group to Organize

MONESSEN, Pa., Sept. 21.—The Monessen Fair Rate Association, which plans a campaign for reduced gas, light and telephone rates for this district, will be perfected tonight at a meeting in the council chamber. Daniel Reamer, former burgess and attorney, is president.

board. There is plenty of money for these school supplies, at least the board was provided with ample funds."

"What we will try to determine is how the board spends money for the purchase of school sites, the construction and maintenance of buildings and other expenditures with a view of effecting economies by turning on the light on what is now apparently a closed corporation."

Sitting with Coyne were other members of the committee, Senator Morris Einstein and Assemblymen George Soffel, James Wettach and Thomas W. Neely.

John Dimling, veteran restaurant proprietor and real estate owner, was the first complaining witness to be heard. He decried high taxation.

The committee also had before it a demand by the Pittsburgh Real Estate Board for abolition of the county delinquent tax collectorship.

KILLED BILL

Coyne, it was recalled, through his influence, had killed a bill introduced in the Legislature by W. D. Mansfield, which would have abolished the office. The board's report said:

"We recommend to you a study of the situation pertaining to the office of delinquent tax collector for the county of Allegheny, with a view of getting all the facts, as the preponderance of public opinion is that this office should be abolished."

The proposals would establish adequate accounting systems, compulsory audits, budget laws, a plan for the refunding of part of the gasoline tax, and a survey of the 240 taxing units of the county.

Material savings could be made in operating city owned buildings if the operation were let out to private interests under competitive bidding, the report said in urging serious consideration of this problem. Operation costs for 1932, exclusive of the City-County building will be $660,000, the report said.

Other problems dealt with included disposal of property seized on tax liens, disposal of garbage and rubbish, pensions, juvenile maintenance, Board of Assessment and Tax Revision, personal property tax, Board of Public Education, Allegheny County Poor Board, and rates of independent water companies.

Major Speech Slated In Oregon After Seattle Ovation

By GEORGE R. HOLMES
International News Service.

ABOARD ROOSEVELT SPECIAL TRAIN, Sept. 21.—Confident he has the support of the Pacific Northwest, Gov. Franklin D. Roosevelt turned southward into Oregon today preparatory to invading President Hoover's state of California for a stretch of intensive campaigning.

The Democratic nominee was to spend the entire day in Oregon, most of it in Portland, and tonight will deliver one of the major speeches of his western invasion there. It will deal with public utilities and their regulation. It is a subject in which he is especially interested and one of particular interest to the West.

LEADERS CONFIDENT

No Democratic presidential nominee except Wilson, in 1912, the year of the great split, has carried Oregon, but Gov. Roosevelt invaded it today with assurances from state leaders that this year it is Democratic territory.

In Oregon, as in Washington, the Governor found economic distress widespread, unemployment rampant, and political discontent the order of the day. The Pacific Northwest has been hard hit by the economic storms, and, according to authorities, is ripe for political revolt.

Evidences of this revolt were forthcoming in Seattle last night, where Gov. Roosevelt addressed a capacity audience of 12,000 people in the Civic Auditorium, additional thousands jamming the ball park outside.

MAYOR AGANDONS G. O. P.

He was introduced by Mayor John P. Dore, who was elected this spring as a Republican, but who declared last night he "belonged to that great army of progressive Republicans who are sick and tired of the kind of leadership we have in the Republican party."

Mayor Dore was followed by Senator C. C. Dill, and again there was an answering roar from the crowd.

That President Hoover "weakly yielded" to demands for outrageous tariff rates, which "started us on the road to ruin," was asserted by Gov. Roosevelt, the audience howling its approval of his denunciation of the Hawley-Smoot tariff act.

Hoover Forced to Reply On Farm Issue

WASHINGTON, Sept. 21.—A smashing attack on Gov. Franklin D. Roosevelt's farm policies is expected to feature President Hoover's opening speech of the campaign proper, to be delivered at Des Moines, Ia., on Tuesday, October 4.

In selecting Des Moines as the site of its first major broadside, the Republican command is throwing Mr. Hoover squarely into the heart of the "farm revolt." For weeks past the whole area around the Iowa capital has been seething with the activities of the "farmers' holiday."

Decision to have Mr. Hoover invade the Farm Belt followed close on the return to Washington of his political secretary, Walter H. Newton.

For 10 days Newton has been in his home state of Minnesota, and in Chicago. Before he left, the secretary had been one of those strongly advising the President not to take the stump, but he admitted frankly his trip had convinced him the Republican party was in for a hard fight to hold the Middle West.

Butler to Start Stump Tour Here

NEWTON SQUARE, Pa., Sept. 21.—(AP.)—Gen. Smedley D. Butler today said he would open the independent campaign for Gov. Roosevelt in Allegheny county next Monday. The retired Marine Corps officer said he would speak before the Hungry Club in Pittsburgh at noon and at a mass meeting at night in Wilkinsburg.

Candidate Indicted For Rum Withdraws

Fifth Avenue Widening, Mellon Dream, Speeded

One of Andrew W. Mellon's dreams for the improvement of Pittsburgh's main stem—Fifth avenue—is a step nearer realization today. The Board of Public Education yesterday authorized the giving of 20 feet of Fifth avenue frontage of the old Bellefield school to the city for the widening.

While the City Planning Commission included the widening of Fifth avenue to 80 feet a few years ago, the idea was propounded years ago by Mellon.

The present project, it is said, is to widen the street from Neville to Robinson, a distance of nearly 20 blocks.

The necessary frontage, it is understood, already has been tendered to the city by the Mellon Institute at Bellefield avenue and the Falk Clinic, near McKee place. The old Bellefield property is at Boquet street.

COX CARAVAN, 'BROKE,' MOVING ON TO ALBUQUERQUE

BAGGAGE HELD BY LANDLADY RELEASED

New Mexico Hamlet Donates Gasoline For Long Run

However, several members of the campaign party, who had contracted for cheap lodgings in the Elk Hotel, met some embarrassment when the landlady, Mrs. Harrison Lovelady, stood on the top of the stairs and refused to permit their luggage to be taken out until "things were settled up."

Satisfactory arrangements were made and the party at last was able to proceed westward—at least for several hundred miles.

FINANCES LOW

For more than a week, Father Cox disclosed here, things have been breaking badly in a financial way. There were times when it was a tossup between meals or gasoline.

Explaining his plight this morning, he said:

"We've studied geography; seen the movies and thought we had a fair conception of the bleak tablelands of the West, but we did not understand just what the wide open spaces were like until we crossed Texas and came into New Mexico from Elk City.

"Some towns marked on the map only are inhabited by the sparse population of 50 people. And towns of 4,000 population are 200 miles apart. Most of the people in this little town are penniless and could not help us. However, they are very interested—even requested our caravan to stop and for us to talk to the citizens.

"But because the railroads are in a bad way the people are idle, could donate nothing. And here we are stranded 2,000 miles from home.

"Campaigning for idealism brings as much suffering and privation as came to those who first crossed Route No. 66 in covered wagons. But there is no turning back. If we must sell our equipment, if we must sell our very clothes, we will reach California. And we will let history tell what our political pioneering achieves."

CONTINUES FIGHT

Then he hesitated and said quietly:

"If my friends and companions desert me, I will go on alone. I will carry the case of my party to California."

Father Cox, who is running for President on the Jobless ticket, began a cross-country tour more than three weeks ago. During that time he has spoken in more than 40 cities and towns in Ohio, Indiana, Illinois, Iowa, Nebraska, Kansas and Oklahoma.

At first he found small contributions from audiences sufficient to defray the expenses of his campaign. But as he moved farther West, with towns and cities being few and far between, the tour developed into a race with the wolf.

Arrangements are being completed for an airplane, piloted by Victor C. Tisdale, Jr., of Elk City, Okla., son of the Jobless party vice presidential nominee, to meet Father Cox in Albuquerque and fly him back to Pittsburgh, where he hopes to replenish the empty campaign chest of the Jobless party.

Recently in Elk City, Father Cox and his party were feted at a banquet by the town's citizens. But neither they nor Dr. Victor C. Tisdal, the vice president nominee, were aware of the sad state of Father Cox's finances.

NINE IN PARTY

Nine persons are traveling with Father Cox in a broadcasting car from which the candidate speaks. There are seven men and two women. One of the men is Donald J. Perry, of Johnstown, Pa., national chairman of the party's speaking committee.

Father Cox was nominated for the presidency by 1,500 delegates, representing 250,000 voters, who assembled in St. Louis, August 17. At that time an attempt to fuse the Jobless Party with Col. William (Coin) Harvey's Liberal Party, failed.

From an obscure parish priest, Father Cox has become a national figure in the last few years. He is the man who led an army of 25,000 jobless men to Washington last January. He is pastor of Old St. Patrick's Church in Pittsburgh. He conducts a soup line at his parish at which over 2,000 men are fed daily. He said today, as he tightened up his belt:

"I'd like to join that line myself."

INDICT CLARK IN TRAFFIC BRAWL

L. C. Clark, chairman of the Mt. Lebanon Township Commissioners, was under indictment today along with four others as the aftermath of a traffic jam dispute in Mt. Lebanon last July 4.

Clark is charged with assault and battery on Earl E. Gangewere, his wife, Alma, 46 Florence place, Mt. Lebanon, and A. C. Feagan, 1213 McNeilly avenue, Dormont, and with driving an automobile while under the influence of liquor.

Gangewere, his wife, his father, E. J. Gangewere, and Feagan were indicted on charges of assault and battery in an alleged attack on Clark.

Maschke Prosecutor Reveals Threats

CLEVELAND, O., Sept. 21.—(AP.)—A series of letters threatening him with bodily harm if he continues to prosecute the $177,000 county treasury embezzlement cases against Maurice Maschke, head of the Republican forces in Cleveland, and five others, has been received by County Prosecutor P. L. A. Leighley, it was revealed in court here today as guards were placed about the prosecution chief.

GANDHI'S FAST MAY END BY COMPROMISE

Political Leaders Visit Cell, Offer Plan to Bring Peace

POONA, Sept. 21.—(AP.)—A group of Indian political leaders from Bombay visited Mahatma Gandhi in his cell at Yeroda jail today and submitted to him a plan for a compromise on the communal elections question which they hoped would end the "death fast" began yesterday.

They spent two hours closeted with the Mahatma and, when they left, although no formal statement was made, the belief was expressed that Gandhi's fast would be ended before many days.

SON IN CONFERENCE

The committee included his son, Devidas, Sir Tej Bahadur Sapru and M. Jayakar. The Mahatma was up early and showed little effect from his abstinence, which began at noon yesterday.

The plan presented to him embraced a suggestion for joint elections, with proper safeguards for the Untouchables, in whose interest he began the death fast.

CONFERENCE TONIGHT

In response to Gandhi's invitation the leader of the Untouchables planned to come to Poona tonight to meet Gandhi. Gandhi announced he would agree to the depressed classes surrendering their right to separate electorates if the caste Hindus agreed, among other concessions, to the retention of 197 seats in the provincial legislature instead of the 71 awarded them by the British government.

Rajah Gopal Achariar, acting president of the Indian National Congress, visiting the Mahatma, said:

"Mr. Gandhi appears famished, but otherwise he is well. Aftern 10 days without food his condition will probably be so weak that he will be unable to participate in further discussions.

"Thus there are only five days in which to reach an agreement on the issue of separate electorates, and only a day or two to obtain the approval of the Prime Minister, which is essential before Gandhi will break his fast. After 10 days he might be so ill that he never would recover, although possibly he might live for 25 days."

Ex-Pittsburgher Dies In Parachute Leap

CHARLESTON, W. Va., Sept. 21.—(AP.)—William L. Price, 27, mechanic at the West Virginia Airways flying field here was killed and Fred E. Wiseman, 21, limited commercial pilot, was injured when a home-made unlicensed airplane crashed near Ravenswood yesterday.

Wiseman said Price leaped from the plane at 200 feet when he dropped into a glide to make a forced landing. He warned Price that the plane was too low for a parachute to open, Wiseman said. Price formerly worked at flying fields in Pittsburgh and Washington.

Sour Notes Lead To Identity of Cornet Thief

CHICAGO, Sept. 21.—(AP.)—Sour notes the police say, make good clues. Said Prof. A. L. Barendson:

"Doubtless the culprit who took my cornet will play it badly. I have given very few cornet instructions this summer. Look for a bad cornet player."

For two weeks Sergt. Benjamin Hanke looked and listened. Finally he saw Robert G. Sargis and his night club boys. Then, he reported, Sargis put down his baton and took up the cornet and blew. The notes, said the sergeant, were sour.

And so he arrested Sargis, who confessed, the police said, that he was the man who took the professor's cornet.

OPERA SINGERS SEPARATE

PARIS, Sept. 21.—After 21 years of married life, Mme. Emma Eames, American operatic soprano, and Emilio Di Gogorza, baritone, have "amiably separated," it was revealed today.

Di Gogorza, located in his Paris apartment, when asked if reports that he and Mme. Eames had separated, replied:

"I have really no declaration whatever to make. We separated some time ago. It was quite amiable.

"I am teaching in New York six months a year and here in Paris the other six months. My wife is now traveling in Switzerland. There is no talk whatever of a divorce."

Mme. Eames' attorney also said a legal separation is not contemplated. The singer announced her farewell from the stage of the Metropolitan Opera House in New York 23 years ago.

Von Gronau Resumes Flight in Japan

FLYING FAMILY IN SCOTLAND

LAIRG, Scotland, Sept. 21.—(AP.)—The short range radio equipment which his airplane, the City of Richmond, carried, was blamed today by George R. Hutchinson for the forced landing he and his flying family were compelled to make off the east coast of Greenland.

The Hutchinsons arrived here last night aboard the steam trawler Lord Talbot which rescued them after they had been stranded for two days on the Greenland coast during their attempt to fly from New York to Europe.

Hutchinson said he wanted it understood that the adventure of his "flying family" was not a "stunt flight." He explained:

"The children always have been with us in our flying and when we planned to fly to Europe we naturally took them along. Our route was the safest possible and we were only 14 miles from safety when the accident happened. It was just a bit of bad luck."

U. S. Admits Irish Actress for Film

NEW YORK, Sept. 21.—(AP.)—Una O'Connor, the Irish character actress, was admitted to the United States yesterday after she convinced a special board of inquiry at Ellis Island that a chronic heart ailment would not cause her to become a public charge.

Her most recent role was that of Ellen in Noel Coward's play "Cavalcade." She came to this country to appear in a motion picture version of the play.

Find Paris Suicide Former New Yorker

PARIS, Sept. 21.—(INS.)—A body found in the River Seine on Friday was identified today as that of James Jay Sheehan, 43, formerly a resident of Brooklyn, N. Y.

Identification was made by Sheehan's wife, who said he was born in Dublin in 1889 and became a naturalized American in 1916.

NATION MOURNS WITH GARNER

DETROIT, Tex., Sept. 21.—(AP.)—A burial service as simple as the life she led was arranged today for Mrs. Sarah Jane Garner, whose son was born in a log cabin, rose to the Speaker of the United States House of Representatives and now is Democratic vice presidential nominee.

The 81-year-old mother of John Nance Garner died peacefully yesterday in the home she and her husband built in this little community shortly before their eldest went away to become an attorney and a congressman. She had hoped to live to see him elected Vice President.

Messages of sympathy for the family came yesterday from all parts of the nation. Among them was one from President Hoover.

Reno Judge Bans Jaunts From State

RENO, Nev., Sept. 21.—(AP.)—Judge Benjamin F. Curler, known for his strict interpretations of Nevada's six-week residence divorce law, said today that he would refuse to grant decrees in cases where the plaintiff leaves the state between the time of filing of the complaint and the time of the hearing.

The practice of many visiting divorce seekers is to vacation in California when trial of their case is delayed.

Kin of Pennypacker Protests Marriage; Judge Insists

International News Service.

PASSAIC, N. J., Sept. 21.—Somewhere in New Jersey, or perhaps in Manhattan, Ruth Pennypacker, former Texas Guinan chorine, was a bride in duress today.

She had faced the choice of "marrying the man" or going to jail, and she had chosen the former.

It was the second marriage for Ruth, who claims kin to the family of former Gov. Samuel W. Pennypacker, of Pennsylvania. She divorced her first husband, George F. Kenny, Newark real estate operator, more than a year ago on charges that he deluded her with stories of his fabulous wealth, then beat her when she wouldn't continue her night club work and support him.

RUTH DEFIANT

Perhaps that experience led her to her dilemma of yesterday. Arraigned before Police Court Judge Frederick B. Conant, in Passaic, with Calvin Friend, a shoe salesman, on a statutory charge, she grew defiant. She demanded:

"Why can't I live my own life they way I choose?"

She tossed her little blonde head defiantly. Ruth's way had been to live with friend without benefit of clergy. The Judge explained:

"Your way is shameful, disgraceful.""

Ruth insisted:

"But I have seen so many rotten marriages based upon a piece of paper."

MARRIAGE OR JAIL

The Judge ruled, however, that she would have to marry Friend or stand trial on the charge, and so she consented. Procuring a license, wherein she gave her age as 23 and Friend as 25, the Judge married them forthwith. Ruth hurled back over her shoulder, as the couple departed:

"But I'll never live with him now."

CURTIS FACING HARD TASK, POLL SHOWS

By COLE E. MORGAN
United Service.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 20.—Vice President Curtis faces a difficult task as he swings into the southern border states in an effort to win electoral votes for the Republican ticket.

This was evident today from returns in the nationwide postcard presidential poll of the Pittsburgh Sun-Telegraph, in co-operation with all the other Hearst morning, evening and Sunday papers in the United States.

West Virginia, Kentucky and Tennessee are the three states the Republican high command set apart for the vice president to bring back into line.

New returns tabulated today bring the total poll ballots from West Virginia to 5,802. Gov. Roosevelt has 3,502 and President Hoover 2,300, a Roosevelt majority of 1,202. This gives the Democratic nominee 60 per cent. Roosevelt lost one percentage point in a week.

Kentucky has returned 8,313 ballots, of which Roosevelt has 5,375 and Hoover 2,938, a Roosevelt majority of 2,437, in contrast to West Virginia the blue grass state has been increasing Roosevelt's percentage share of the vote. In that state he started off with 60 and has built it up to 65 per cent.

Tennessee, with 3,251 ballots returned, is giving Roosevelt 2,175 and Hoover 1,076, a Roosevelt majority of 1,099, or 67 per cent of the vote.

Presidential Trend by States

WASHINGTON, Sept. 21.—The tabulation that follows shows the total vote thus far recorded for President Hoover and Gov. Roosevelt in the nation-wide presidential poll of the Pittsburgh Sun-Telegraph in co-operation with all the other Hearst morning, evening and Sunday papers in the United States. It also shows the majority that each candidate has in each state in which he is leading. In addition it gives the gain of each candidate on the latest returns received from each state as compared with the last preceding report from the state. These state reports are usually a week apart. The final feature of this table shows the net gain of each candidate in each state where he has improved his position as compared with the preceding report from that state.

Vet Gets 15 Months In Counterfeit Case

PHILADELPHIA, Sept. 21.—(INS.)—Scored by the court for using his wife as a cloak for his crimes, Luigi Castagna, was sentenced to 15 months in the Federal Penitentiary at Atlanta by Judge George A. Welsh, in Federal Court, for passing counterfeit $10 bills on small shopkeepers.

Castagna, who was distinguished for his sharpshooting services during the World War, and who studied for eight years in medical colleges in Naples and Florence, was arrested August 29.

Conley to Welcome New Legion Chief

CLARKSBURG, W. Va., Sept. 21.—(AP.)—Gov. William G. Conley has accepted the invitation of the Roy E. Parrish Post No. 13, American Legion, to welcome Louis A. Johnson, national commander of the Legion, in Moore's Opera House Sunday. Conley wrote:

"I take great pleasure in accepting the invitation. I could not do less because of my high regard for the new commander, Hon. Louis A. Johnson, and my kind feeling for the membership of the Legion generally."

BILLINGS, NOTED DOCTOR, DIES

CHICAGO, Sept. 21.—(AP.)—The medical world today mourned the death of Dr. Frank Billings, 78, internationally known physician who was decorated by two governments and was twice president of the American Medical Association.

Dr. Billings died last night. He had apparently been in good health until Saturday when he slipped on a rug, the fall resulting in an internal hemorrhage.

Dr. Morris Fishbein, editor of the Journal of the American Medical Association, said it was his belief that Dr. Billings had founded more medical centers and trained more great doctors than any other American.

Dr. Billings was decorated with the Distinguished Service Medal and the Cross of the Legion of Honor for war services to America and France.

VOLPE WITNESS LIST MYSTERY

With the inquest in the murder of the three Volpe brothers set for Friday at 1:15 p. m. at the county morgue, speculation existed today regarding the identity of more than a score of witnesses who will be summoned by coroner's deputies.

It was rumored the mysterious blonde woman reported connected with the case would appear at the inquest.

Coroner W. J. McGregor will examine into the circumstances of the shooting of John, James and Arthur Volpe in the Rome Coffee Shop, Wylie avenue.

Two John Doe warrants have been issued to the homicide squad of county detectives, it is reported. One of these is said to be intended for Michael Spinella, indicted for murder by the grand jury last week in connection with the Volpe slaying.

TROOPS GUARD OIL WELLS

OKLAHOMA CITY, Sept. 21.—(AP.)—While reinforced National Guard troops, armed with pistols and tear gas bombs, patrolled the Oklahoma City oil field, County Attorney Lewis R. Morris began an investigation today of a clash between guardsmen and lease workers.

Meanwhile, the H. F. Wilcox Oil and Gas Company, whose attempt to reopen 10 wells in defiance of Gov. William H. Murray's military control of the field led to the disturbance, announced intention to seek a federal court injunction against the troops.

O. A. Kyle, a gauger for the Wilcox Company, was struck on the head yesterday when he allegedly refused to obey guardsmen's orders to quit a lease until after he had checked well connections. Others in the encounter were reported bruised. Kyle was not seriously injured.

Sons of T. R., Jr., Start Flight East

SEATTLE, Sept. 21.—(AP.)—Two of the Republican Roosevelts, Theodore III and Cornelius, took off by airplane last night for the East to resume their school and college work this fall, about the time their distinguished seventh cousin, Gov. Franklin D. Roosevelt, of New York, was entering the civic auditorium.

They returned from Manila yesterday after a three weeks' visit with their father, Col. Theodore Roosevelt, Republican governor general of the Philippines. They did not meet the New York governor.

Gulf to Expend $800,000 on Plants

Indications of returning confidence in business conditions was seen today in announcement by Frank Drake, president of the Gulf Refining Company, of improvements at Washington and Staten Island to cost $800,000.

At Washington ground has been broken for a new terminal to cost about $300,000. A small refinery is to be erected on Staten Island.

MARTIN NAMES PUBLICISTS

HARRISBURG, Sept. 21.—(AP.)—Gen. Edward Martin, chairman of the Republican State Committee, yesterday appointed the Republican publicity committee for the current campaign.

The committee comprises John E. McKirdy, of Pittsburgh, chairman; George F. Holmes, of Philadelphia; G. Scott Smith, of Kane; Col. Ernest G. Smith, of Wilkes-Barre; James F. Dewey, of Chester; Fred A. Godcharles, of Milton; Frank J. Gorman, of Philadelphia; Walter J. Christy, of Pittsburgh; Col. Clarence J. Smith, of Allentown, Walter W. Krebs, of Johnstown; Mrs. Helen Schluraff, of Erie; Mrs. Edna M. Kech, of Altoona, and Robert M. Ginter, of Harrisburg, who will serve as secretary.

The committee's headquarters will be in Pittsburgh. Its first meeting will be held Friday.

Vatican Co-operates In Mock Plane Raid

FILING OF NEW LIGHT RATES SPEEDED

Application for use of the new domestic consumer rate accepted by City Council after negotiations with the Duquesne Light Company, will be made this week, effective October 1, according to Frank R. Phillips, president of the Philadelphia Company.

Inasmuch as the new tariff, which will replace the existing Rate C, offers an average reduction to all consumers of 20 cents a month, Phillips said he did not anticipate unfavorable action by the Public Service Commission.

Seventy per cent of domestic consumers now billed under Rate C will benefit, Phillips said. The small store owners likewise will receive a saving anticipated to average 50 cents monthly. The latter represent reduced earnings for the company of $280,000, which is included in the total lower revenue of $696,000, he added.

The greater part of Beaver County will share in the reduced rates, as well as Allegheny County.

SEEK FREEDOM IN TATE KILLING

UNIONTOWN, Pa., Sept. 21.—An attempt to liberate the three sons of Isley Tate, slain mountain "bad man," from the county jail here was made today by Attorney E. D. Brown, counsel for the youths accused of plotting their father's death.

Habeas corpus proceedings were filed by Attorney Brown on behalf of the youth's mother, Mrs. Netty Bell Tate. The petition sets forth that two of the sons, John, 21, and Sam, 15, are being held illegally in that they took no part in the killing, and, if liable, "it would be to the state of West Virginia and not to Pennsylvania."

In behalf of George Tate, 19, the petition alleges he is being unjustly detained in that no formal charge has been placed against him.

Judge S. John Morrow announced he would rule on the petition tomorrow at 1:30 p. m.

DROUGHT HERE PERILS WATER

HARRISBURG, Sept. 21.—Theodore B. Appel, secretary of Health, today issued a general warning to waterworks officials, saying that a water shortage is anticipated in the state and urging careful conservation of all supplies immediately.

He said the situation is serious throughout the state except in the Philadelphia area. In the northeast section streams are at their lowest point in eight years with many small streams having run dry. In the Pittsburgh area the rainfall deficiency is 9.7 inches. Emergency water supplies are being used in many places.

Dr. Appel also warned against the use of private water supplies whose safety is not known, saying all such water should be boiled before being used. He said old springs and old wells are particularly dangerous.

Rio Grande Flood Cuts Beer Supply

MATAMOROS, Mexico, Sept. 21.—(AP.)—Barkeepers of Matamoros today impatiently awaited the arrival of the first shipment of beer since the Rio Grande flood recently washed away the railroad.

Not the least of the damage wrought by the flood was to the disposition of the barkeepers' clientele, large numbers of innocent customers being reduced to a state of involuntary abstinence.

Lloyd George Raps Disarmament Policy

LONDON, Sept. 21.—(Universal)—David Lloyd George, war-time Liberal Premier of England, last night attacked British foreign policy in a speech at Cardigan, Wales. He said:

"The British government has so contrived its policy on disarmament it has put three of the greatest powers in Europe against us—Italy, Germany and Russia."

Nursery Asks Right To Take New Name

A petition in Common Pleas Court asked permission for the First Allegheny Day Nursery to amend its charter to change its name to Allegheny Temporary Home for Children. The change was voted by resolution of the trustees July 27.

Police Teams Clash At West End Field

Police mush ball teams, representing the West End and Carrick, will meet at 4:30 p. m. tomorrow on the Wabash Feld, West End. Police officials have been invited. The Langley High School band will play. A silver loving cup will be presented the winner.

Thugs Bind Jeweler, Escape With $6,000

CLEVELAND, Sept. 21.—(INS.)—Two armed gunmen today bound and gagged Henry Bandler, owner of a jewelry store, and escaped with set and unset diamonds valued at nearly $6,000.

NEW PITT BOOK HOLDS DIVORCE 'NUISANCE'

Divorce, unemployment and crime are not problems but general nuisances, according to Dr. Harold A. Phelps, of the University of Pittsburgh, whose new book "Contemporary Social Problems," was published today.

He said:

"The reason we do not solve our economic problems is because tthe people do not study them. They want only the analysis.

"Divorce, unemployment and crime and the other so-called problems discussed in the book are not problems but general nuisances. We should break them up into subordinate parts and then solve each part.

"Take marriage for example. We are interested in the fact that people are getting married rather than the fact that they can marry better. We study the results rather than the causes and therefore make a problem out of it."

Dr. Phelps' new book, which has taken him over 10 years to write, will be used by more than 400 Pitt students this year in a sociology course.

PITTSBURGH HIT BY DELUGE OF DOLLAR BILLS

By MR. SPEAR

Miss Mint and I, and our assistants, vote for Pittsburgh as one of the friendliest cities we have ever visited.

Everyone we approach is so courteous and friendly when we ask them if they have a package of Wrigley's gum—and when we reward them with a new crisp dollar bill, if they are carrying Wrigley's—well, they are usually so excited they drop bundles, packages and even their Wrigley's.

One young fellow was so delighted with his dollar bill that he insisted I go to a dance with him, and his girl, that night.

BOB YOUNG, 335 Blvd. of Allies, who is an artist, told me Spearmint was most refreshing and cool. He received a fresh dollar bill.

MRS. W. WALIGOR, 124 Anderson St., didn't know about Miss Mint or me being in town. She had Wrigley's anyway, and you can picture her surprise when she received a dollar bill.

MRS. M. C. MYERS, 32 Dinsmore Ave., was downtown shopping when I stopped her. She had a package of Double Mint in her purse, which earned her a new dollar bill.

RALPH H. SMITH, Law and Finance Building—the former Assistant District Attorney, had his package of Spearmint when he told me: "Wrigley's is the world's best gum in the best possible package." I promptly gave him a dollar bill.

DOLLAR FOR BIRTHDAY

DOROTHY KOLLEK, 2311 Palm Beach Ave., had a package of Double Mint. It was her birthday. She said: "This is my lucky day. I can hardly wait to get home to the party to show my Wrigley dollar bill."

AGNES T. RUSSELL, 49 Grant Ave., Bellevue, had a package of Spearmint with her when I stopped her. She received a dollar bill said: "Wrigley's is always tasty, it's my favorite gum."

MRS. JACK TRAINER, 518 Chartiers Ave., McKees Rocks, was a surprised person when I stopped her. She said: "I have been looking for you for a week; now you stop me when I least expect it." Spearmint is Mrs. Trainer's favorite.

JAMES R. MILLER, 31 Evans Ave., Ingram, is just about the most courteous person I have met. Although he didn't know about my being in town, he offered me his last stick of Double Mint. I was as pleased to give him the dollar bill as he was to receive it when he said: "Wrigley's is the best chewing gum you can buy."

Among other Pittsburghers to receive dollar bills the last few days are: J. A. COCHRAN, 15 Chartiers Place, Ingram; H. G. BOLSTER, 108 Crotzer Ave.; BILLY PETTIT, 108 Dale Ave.; VICTOR J. GROENING, 7530 Perrysville Ave., Ben Avon; CLYDE C. ROMBACH, 1025 Ohio St.; JOHN G. McCONNELL, 573 Midland St., Wilkinsburg; MARTHA SCHUBERT, 5233 Wycliff St., Lawrenceville; DONALD E. SCALES, 100 Linden Ave., Monessen; HOWARD E. CLARK, 332 Elizabeth St., Avalon, and MISS EDNA M. HALL, 3872 Windgap Road.

Some people Miss Mint and I stop, lose out by forgetting to carry Wrigley's with them constantly. We hear so many say: "I left it at home, or, it's in the desk at the office." We would like to give everyone a dollar, but the rules of the game make it essential that in order to get one of the dollar bills the person stopped must have a package of Wrigley's Gum in their possession.

Never go out on the street, to school, shopping, or the office, without providing yourself with a package of Wrigley's. Any one of the four brands and you are all ready for Miss Mint or me—then when we stop you and ask your opinion of Wrigley's Gum, you will be able to tell us what you think of it. Show us the open package and a new dollar bill will be yours.

Wounded by Bullet, Sues City Patrolman

Alleging she was shot while sitting on the porch of her home, 2406 Edgar street, Mrs. Lydia Johnson filed suit in Common Pleas Court against Roy C. Brandt, city policeman on duty in Carrick at the time, seeking $10,000 damages. Her husband, Alvey Johnson, joined in the suit. Brandt was summoned to an adjacent dwelling July 20, 1931, and in attempting to subdue a man, shot at him twice and missed, one bullet lodging in Mrs. Johnson's shoulder, the suit averres.

Speed King De Palma On WCAE

Gov. Franklin D. Roosevelt, Alfred E. Smith, Senator Arthur H. Vandenberg, of Michigan, and Congressman Sam B. Pettengill, of Indiana, are heard on four separate programs devoted to political issues, the trials and tribulations of the taxpayers, government in business and other topics, broadcast over NBC and CBS networks today.

Gov. Roosevelt makes his third radio campaign speech within a week when he addresses a coast - to - coast audience through the facilities of CBS from Portland, Ore., tonight from 11 to 11:45. His address is carried locally by WJAS. On the same station at 5, former Gov. Smith, now editor of the New Outlook Magazine, discusses his new craft when he appears as guest speaker with Bill Schudt during the "Going to Press" broadcast.

Gov. Roosevelt

Senator Vandenburg's address, scheduled at 8:30 on WCAE, is one of a special group of speeches to supplement the new five-a-week series of Republican programs inaugurated Monday.

"Government in Business and the Taxpayers' Burden" is the topic of Congressman Pettengill's talk, heard on KDKA at 8 o'clock, during the American Taxpayers' League program.

Ralph De Palma, noted racing driver, tells about some of the most thrilling of his experiences during a long career behind the wheel of an automobile, as a highlight of the concert starring Gladys Rice, the Men About Town and Nat Shilkret's Orchestra on WCAE at 9:30 tonight.

Program Pointers

Helen Bell Rush, lyric soprano, who made her debut as Marguerita in "Faust" in Mantua, Italy, presents a quarter-hour recital of songs from KDKA tonight at 8:15 . . . Immediately following Miss Rush's program, a varied presentation, including "When Summer Is Gone," "Until," selections from "Magic Night" and excerpts from Herbert's "Babes in Toyland," by Joseph Pasternack's Orchestra, with Oliver Smith, tenor, as soloist, is heard.

Miss Rush

Johnny Hart's reactions when he discovers suddenly that he is being used as a glorified messenger boy by Helene and her Debutantes, the 15 beautiful girls with whom he is rehearsing, are dramatized during the "Big Time" broadcast on WCAE at 8.

Virginia Rea, appearing as guest artist with the Revelers and Victor Young's Orchestra, sings "Will You Remember?" the famous waltz from "Maytime," on WCAE at 9. The quartet features a new arrangement of Isham Jones' new song "If You Were Only Mine."

The 100dth anniversary of the birth of Sir Walter Scott is observed during a special broadcast from London on WJAS at 4:10 today. John Buchan, noted Scottish author and historian, is the speaker.

All of the noise and excitement of a Hollywood movie premiere, with the announcer and stars 'n' everything, is offered in a one-man show by Ward Wilson on KDKA at 7:15.

A new series of programs of special interest to women is inaugurated on KDKA at 3 today by Karen Fladoes, home service director of the Duquesne Light Company.

A play-by-play account of the Pirates-Cubs game at Chicago is scheduled on WWSW at 4:30.

In response to numerous requests, a group of old favorites, including two spirituals, "No Hidin' Place Down Here" and "Have You Got Religion?" is presented during the Corn Cob Pipe Club program on WCAE at 10 p. m.

A 15-minute revue starring Cousin Lora, the Johnson Sisters and Ken Martin's Orchestra, presented in connection with the introduction of Darrell V. Martin's new magazine, "Radio Review," is scheduled on KQV tonight at 8:30.

Listening In—

Whiteman Advice, World Series on Air, Rubinoff's Records.

Two of radio's best known band leaders rise to give advice to newcomers to radio—so we pass it on to you . . . Paul Whiteman, who ought to know, urges sincerity. It is his one and only suggestion to those who aspire to stardom. If you're not sincere, the microphone will detect you, Paul says, and adds that you can't fool radio audiences . . . . Roy Shield, whose radio, talking picture and recording experience makes him an authority on the subject, says to the young singer, "Don't be a 'microphone kisser'," stating that the practice started in the days of poor equipment and now results in a decided backwash on some tones. He further advises auditioners to refrain from trying to sing in a "soft" voice for the benefit of the microphone, the best practice being to sing in a natural voice and stand well back from the "mike."

Mr. Whiteman

Plans for broadcasting play-by-play accounts from New York and Chicago of the world series beginning next Wednesday have been announced by NBC. The "eyes" for the millions of American baseball fans will be a trio of experienced and seasoned veterans of radio reporting. Graham McNamee, one of the best known "mikemen" of the world, will open each of the daily broadcasts with a vivid description of the crowd and incidents. The actual reporting of the game will be given by "Hal" Totten, former newspaper reporter, who was the first announcer to describe baseball games direct from a ball park over the air, and Tom Manning, veteran baseball announcer, who has had years of experience at WTAM, Cleveland.

Pittsburgh's own Dick Powell, who's making a hit in the movies out on the Pacific Coast, will be starred with Phil Harris' orchestra over an extensive NBC network during the "Hollywood on the Air" presentation at midnight tomorrow. KDKA will broadcast to Pittsburgh listerers.

Dave Rubinoff has acquired a new home-recording device to make records of his violin solos as he practices. Then he plays the discs and looks for flaws.

Leo Reisman is one of the few important conductors who never signs his name to a new composition. He prefers to remain known as an interpreter of the spirit of other musicians' work.

Although Ward Wilson usually relaxes by playing golf or tennis, he'd rather tinker at an ailing radio set than do anything else . . . It's a heritage from his old amateur days.

Georgie Price carried a "good luck" cane for years and lived in constant fear of losing it. When it did finally disappear, it was on the day he signed a radio contract . . . and since then everything has been rolling his way.

Although Edgar A. Guest writes a daily poem for more than 175 daily newspapers, his friends often suggest that he do a daily piece in prose—which always sorta tickles him. Says Mr. Guest:

"I work eight hours a day. Any more would take my mind off my golf . . . and I cannot neglect my golf, gentlemen."

If you have a favorite funny story that you'd like to have worked into a song, send it to the Men About Town . . . because Will Donaldson, composer-arranger of the trio, is going to take the 12 funniest stories sent in by fans as the basis for 12 'unny songs he's going to write for the Men About Town's Comic Song Book. What's more, the winners' names will appear as co-authors.

STRIKE ENDED AT POSTOFFICE

April 4, 1932 to article 6, provides for the employment of union engineers upon sand and gravel hoists on building and construction work when under the control of a member of the Pittsburgh Building Trades Employers' Association.

"Regarding sand and gravel hoists not under the above conditions, it is our opinion that union engineers should be so employed for their operation and the Pittsburgh Building Trades Employers' Association further recognizes the right of the engineers to use its economic determination in securing such employment for its members."

JOIN IN PARLEY

Participating in the Washington conference held in the offices of the Federal Department of Labor, included Reed, John L. Mullen, steel contractor on the postoffice; D. G. Aronberg, general contractor; Col. James F. Dewey, of the Department of Labor, and Peter J. Dagnall, business agent for the hoisting engineers' local.

Failure to employ union engineers on lifting sand and gravel from boats to shore precipitated the strike. Union hoisting engineers were called out July 12.

Douglas today charged that the towboat R. F. Winton, which he had moored below the Sixth Street Bridge in the Allegheny River, had been cut adrift and that one of its crew of five men, Robert Johnson, of Charleston, W. Va., was missing.

The Winton, with a barge of sand, another of gravel, and hopper and hoist by means of which Douglas hoped to get part of the sand and gravel business, was found later tied up near the Point.

George R. Vang, president of the Iron City Sand Company, whose fleet occupied the wharf frontage after Douglas' equipment had been moved, admitted ousting Douglas.

Vang said:

"We went down there and pulled Douglas' fleet out and put ours in."

VANG IN POSSESSION

As to the legality of his action Vang declared:

"We don't know whether it is legal or not, but we'll soon find out. The wharf is ours."

Douglas and his attorney, Walter F. Michaels, conferred today with a United States Commissioner but no action was forthcoming because of the absence from the city of United States Attorney Louis E. Graham. Douglas had previously consulted with County District Attorney Andrew T. Park, who referred him to Federal authorities.

Douglas, ordered out by the city for failure to pay an old bill for rental of the Exposition Building, refused to budge despite claims by the Vangs that they had been leased the frontage occupied by Douglas, whom they termed a "squatter."

LEGION'S CHIEF LAUDS HEARST

LOS ANGELES, Sept. 21.—(Universal.)—As a vital defensive measure, the United States Army and Navy air forces should be strengthened, Col. W. E. Easterwood, Jr., of Dallas, Tex., newly elected national vice commander of the American Legion, declared upon his arrival here today. He continued:

"What this country needs today are a few more American leaders like William Randolph Hearst. Ninety-eight per cent of all of the American veterans of the World War feel just as I do."

Opposition to the continuance of prohibition and the proposed cancellation of war debts owed this country was voiced by the Colonel.

In stressing the need for increasing America's aerial defense, Col. Easterwood said that since the first of the year Russia has purchased $47,000,000 worth of military airplanes in this country.

DO YOU FAIRLY S-C-R-E-A-M WITH EVERY KIDNEY ACTION?

Grateful Relief Brought by FOLEY PILLS

So you feel achy all over, miserable and blue? Your head feels "crowded" your nerves quiver, you have pin-and-needle cramps—your appetite has gone and you feel weak as a cat. Don't fill your stomach with tonics or laxatives or rheumatism remedies. How can they help if it is your kidneys.

The job of the kidneys is to strain the uric acid and other poisons out of your blood. They purify your blood, that's it. Now you must not let these acids stay in the kidneys or they'll get back in the blood and poison your whole body. That's why your kidneys must pass 3 pints of "water" a day. Let them fail and you know it. Your appetite goes back on you, so does your pep, your sleep, and your nerves—your back hurts, your ankles and feet may swell up and you feel cranky and sick.

Now see what a wonderful change takes place after you start on Foley Pills. Kidney action increases at once. Out go those acids. Burning stops. Sleep is sounder, and none of this getting-up business. You feel like "somebody."

Your druggist has Foley Pills. Sells a lot of them, because most people know how good they are. Don't cost much either—but they certainly do a grand job. If they don't, your money back any time you want it. © 1932

One More Chance To Register for Election

Residents of cities in Allegheny County who have been assessed, still have one chance to qualify in order to vote at the November election.

October 8 will be the third and last registration day in the cities. This is also the last day to pay poll taxes. Only those regularly assessed can pay taxes.

September 7 was the last day to be assessed.

SEEK TO CURB WILD DRIVING

A campaign against reckless driving was begun by Pittsburgh police today on orders of Public Safety Director James M. Clark.

Five deaths from automobile accidents and injury to many others during the first seven days of this month resulted in Clark's order to arrest road hogs, snake drivers and others violating driving rules.

September's total to date almost equals the number of fatalities during August, in striking contrast to the first eight months of the year when the city showed a reduction of 26 per cent in traffic fatalities.

Dr. Millikan Ends Pikes Peak Studies

COLORADO SPRINGS, Colo., Sept. 21.—(Universal.)—Dr. Robert Millikan, discoverer of the cosmic ray, left yesterday for his home in Pasadena. For the past several days Dr. Millikan has been making observations from the summit of Pikes Peak. Dr. Millikan said it may take months of study to determine the significance of these observations. Having discovered the cosmic ray, Dr. Millikan now seeks knowledge as to what it is.

30 TAILORS GO ON STRIKE

Thirty tailors employed by the Stolman Company in the Nixon theater Building went on strike today, because, they say, the tailoring company had fired several union men and hired non-union men at less wages. Pickets were established by the strikers.

Meyer Rosen, president of the Pittsburgh local of the Amalgamated Clothing Workers of America, announced the strike. He said:

"We are striking because several union men who were making $40 a week were fired and others hired in their places for $8 a week. Besides we have received more than a 50 per cent wage cut in the last year."

Jake Stolman, owner of the clothing company, said:

"One of the cutters quit and then returned, expecting his job back. We told him we didn't want him. Then the other tailors went on strike because we would not hire him. There is no real reason for the strike."

SCOTT MEMORY HONORED

EDINBURGH, Scotland, Sept. 21.—(AP.)—The clans gathered and the pibroch skirled in many a mountain glen today as Scotland paid tribute to the memory of Sir Walter Scott, who died at Abbotsford on Tweedside, 100 years ago today.

Prince George laid a wreath at the foot of Scott memorial in Prince street here, and afterward attended a civic luncheon in parliament hall in honor of the celebrated novelist, poet and antiquarian.

Today was a holiday in Galashiels, near where Scott died, and Scotsmen from all over the British Isles made pilgrimages there. A Scott memorial was unveiled by Miss Patricia Scott, a descendant of the novelist.

DRIVE CHECKS VOTE FRAUD

Not a single complaint of illegal registration was received by the Pittsburgh Registration Board yesterday, the second day for voters to qualify for the November election. "This is the first instance of no protests since the board was organized," it was said.

Usually scores of complaints are received, particularly from the Strip and Hill districts. It was against these sections that the prosecution in recent years has been directed.

Yesterday's registration revealed voters are lax in qualifying to cast ballots this year. For the two registration days less than 100,000 persons in Pittsburgh, McKeesport, Duquesne and Clairton have qualified. One opportunity remains to register, October 8.

The Registration Commissioners estimated that only 49,000 persons registered yesterday.

Four years ago in the Hoover-Smith presidential fight, 122,189 registered the first two days. This year the total figure will probably not exceed 88,000, according to the commissioners' estimate.

Chinese Admiral Slain by Assassins

SHANGHAI, Sept. 21.—(INS.)—Admiral Wu Kwang-Sung, chief of the Hydrographic Bureau of the Chinese government, was assassinated today. Three men forced an entrance into his house in the Chapei district and shot him to death.

Train Victim's Body Found by Track

Believed to have been struck by a train, the body of William Splawn, 52, Negro, of 78 Arthur street, was found beside the Pittsburgh and West Virginia Railroad tracks by West End police early today. The body was taken to the morgue.

Mexicans 'Strike' Over Light Rates

MEXICO CITY, Sept. 21.—(AP.)—Protesting that electric power and light rates were too high, consumers of Tampico today declared a strike against the Tampico Power Company.

Reports said thousands of home owners, merchants and industrial plants had joined the strike.

James to Address Cost Accountants

City Engineer Post To Remain Vacant

The position of chief engineer of the Bureau of Engineering will remain unfilled until the 1933 city budget sessions end, Council has decided. The post has been vacant since the death of Tom M. Reed several weeks ago.

Councilman P. J. McArdle proposed keeping the job open because of lack of work in the engineering department. It has paid $6,000 a year.

They Satisfied in '17— and you can't Beat 'em Today

THIS picture will bring back memories to a lot of people of the days when the boys went marching away with flags flying and bands playing.

Chesterfields were very popular with those men who went overseas. They were "rookies" then. They're "old vets" today. And that milder, satisfying Chesterfield flavor is still their steady choice . . . after fifteen years!

It was mildness that first attracted smokers to Chesterfield. And it's mildness and better taste that is winning new friends for Chesterfield today . . . all over the country.

Next time you're short of cigarettes, ask for Chesterfields. They satisfied in '17, and you can't beat 'em today

Inveterate Falsifiers Lose Respect of Friends

Why is a boaster?

Lydia would like to know. She has one in her home—it's the Big Boy—and he's a very Big Boy—to hear him tell it! All of which makes her tired—and, she suspects, also makes all their friends laugh up their sleeves.

"What on earth ails him?" she wails. "And what can I do about it? It just makes me shudder, to sit and listen to his Tall Tales, that he thinks go over so big, and that I know darned well nobody believes."

Ever see a guy like that? Of course you have; Maybe you're one yourself!

Listen.

"Dear Sally Martin:

"I'd be so grateful if you'll try to help me with something that worries me Something that makes me wretched, and to put it mildly, has me stumped.

"It's my husband. He's really a grand fellow, but he's an inveterate boaster. And it's driving me crazy.

"I always knew he exaggerated things, but until I married him I didn't realize how much. We've been married four years now, and he seems to be getting worse. I just can't understand him. He's pretty successful. We have a nice home and a little car, and he has a good job. But he never seems to be satisfied to go on that. He tries to put a big face on everything.

"If he buys a $50 suit of clothes, I'm just as likely as not to have to sit and hear him tell some friend that he paid $125 for it.

"If he puts over a deal in business, he says, that it was at least twice as big as it really is. If he buys a lamp or a rug, or maybe a new chair, it's always a rare piece, and he paid some extraordinary sum for it.

FAILS TO IMPRESS

"He always seems to think he's gotten by with these stories, but often and often, I've shuddered with humiliation, when I saw some friend he was talking to look at someone else and grin meaningly. Or when I've accidentally overheard some laughing remark about 'the old boy being at it again' when he was holding forth in his 'best style.'

"I know he isn't making the grand impression he thinks he is. I know that, secretly, most of our friends have him down as a Big Blowhard. And it hurts me, for he really is such a fine fellow. He is kind and generous and awfully good to me. I'd like to have people really appreciate him. But how can they, when he is constantly undermining their regard by his awful boasting? What ails him anyway? And can I cure him? If so, how? Please help me.

"LYDIA."

SHOULD TELL HIM

What ails him?

That's simple, my dear. Secretly, he feels very small, and unsure of himself. But he'd die before he'd admit it, even to himself. And secretly, he's afraid people are belittling him . . . so he tries to ward off all his fears by boasting, to make him seem important. Of course he's wrong. Folks see through a person like that, pronto. And, of course, you're right, they think less of him, and not more, as soon as they get hep to him.

Can you do anything about it?

Maybe. Maybe not. But it's worth trying. How'll you go about it? By talking to him, frankly and lovingly, and making him see that he's really two-timing himself, instead of appearing as the Big Shot, as he thinks. Make him see that you love him as he really is and you'd like to have other folks admire him. But point out, tactfully, that they can't, so long as he puts on a Big False Front, and hides his real self from them.

Then help him, my dear, for a sickness—and it is a form of sickness—like that isn't going to be cured in a day. Help him to be really big enough to be genuine, even if he has to take it on the chin. Then folks will respect and honor him, even if he isn't a world beater.

No Child Should Be Punished for Poor Marks in School, Says Fay King

THERE SHOULD BE NO HOME-WORK. SOME CHILDREN DO NOT HAVE QUIET OR SECLUSION WHICH IS NEEDED. OTHERS ARE HELPED BY PARENTS OR OLDER BROTHERS AND SISTERS
SPELLING
FAY KING

By FAY KING

A teacher who is kind and understanding is second only to a good mother.

To my mind all study should be in the school room. Home work should not be given. Not all children have the same advantages for study at home.

Also I have always thought to judge children by examinations is unfair. The most expert and experienced men and women in business and professional life have at hand countless reference books to which they constantly refer.

A child's rating in school does not indicate his rating in life. Some of our most brilliant men were poor scholars.

Economic Ills Present a National Health Problem

I can think of nothing more timely than to warn you of the present need for conservation of strength and health. Reports from many hospitals and welfare agencies indicate an increase of illness throughout the land.

Dr. Copeland

Though the death rate for the past two years has been low, there has been a definite increase in the infectious and deficiency diseases, showing that the need of proper attention to diet and health is of national importance and must not be neglected.

In times of economic stress it is more necessary than ever to cultivate healthful habits. Worry is often worse than disease. Worry interferes with appetite and normal digestion. Loss of appetite, gastric distress, constipation, loss of weight, headache, disturbed sleep and other conditions too numerous to mention can be traced to worry.

If you have problems, remember that ill health will make your load heavier. Above all, do not economize by cutting down on your food and the necessary rest and recreation. Eat freely of fruits and vegetables. Meals should be regular and ample time should be set aside for each meal.

Drink at least six to eight glasses of water daily. Proper daily elimination is necessary. Alcohol, tobacco, tea, coffee and condiments should be taken in extreme moderation and drugs should be avoided.

A minimum of eight hours of sleep is necessary for the average individual. Remember that with lack of sleep it is necessary to expend twice as much energy to accomplish the same amount of work. If you have any difficulty in sleeping, take a brisk walk before bedtime. A warm bath and a warm glass of milk taken before retiring will be beneficial.

Of course, if you have an ailment it is necessary to receive the proper medical attention. If you cannot afford a private physician, do not neglect yourself, but apply at a hospital clinic or board of health station, where you will receive medical treatment and advice. If you are physically fit, guard and respect your health, for it will give you greater resistance against attacks of worry and disease.

Get out in the open air as much as possible. Hold your chin up, your stomach in and your spine erect. Walk and act as if living were a joy. I have no doubt that this attitude will aid each of us to deal successfully with the present distressing but temporary problems.

Answers to Health Queries

P. P. Q.—What do you advise for constipation?

A.—Correct your diet and avoid poor elimination. For further particulars send self-addressed stamped envelope and repeat your question.

* * *

H. B. Q.—Would dark glasses relieve eye-strain?

A.—Possibly. But it would be wise to have your eyes examined to determine whether or not you need glasses.

* * *

O. B. Q.—I am 18, 4 feet 10 inches tall, what should I weigh?

A.—You should weigh about 108 pounds. This is about the average weight for one of this age and height as determined by examination of a large number of persons. A few pounds above or below the average is a matter of little or no significance.

* * *

Mrs. B. Q.—Is deep breathing good for one who has a spot on the lung?

A.—Yes; should prove helpful.

* * *

W. J. J. Q.—What causes itching of the legs?

A.—This may be due to pruritis, caused by constipation or auto-intoxication. Certain diseases of the nervous system may also cause this condition. Send self-addressed stamped envelope for full particulars and repeat your question.

* * *

Miss G. A. Q.—What do you advise for dry brittle nails?

A.—Soak them in warm olive oil. This should prove helpful.

* * *

A. J. Q.—Can a large nose be reduced?

A.—Consult a plastic surgeon.

Contract Bridge -:- HOW TO PLAY and HOW TO WIN

By JOSEPHINE CULBERTSON

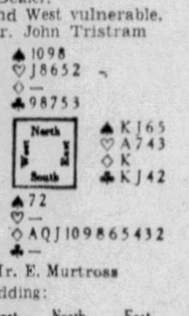
The Penalty of Unsound Bidding

Mr. John Tristram, of Wichita, Kansas, in sending the hand shown below, played recently in that city, modestly states that it resulted in one of the heaviest penalties on record—namely, a set of 3800 points. It is not often that unsound bidding is required to pay such a tremendous penalty.

East—Dealer.

East and West vulnerable.

Mr. John Tristram



Mr. E. Murtross

The bidding:

South	West	North	East
			1 N T (1)
2 ♡ (2)	6 N T (3)	Pass	Pass
Double (4)	Pass	Pass	Pass

1—East's correct bid with this holding was not one no-trump, but one spade. The hand contains 3 plus honor-tricks, but its distribution suggests the danger played at no-trump. In any event, it does not have the strength to justify an Opening bid of one no-trump, vulnerable.

2.—Laying a trap for his opponents.

3—West's correct response to the Opening bid of one no-trump was not six notrump, but a Forcing bid in spades. While it is true the freakish distribution would prevent the making of a Slam, it is as well the duty of the Responding Hand to approach in the bidding as it is of the Opening bidder.

Mr. Tristram thus describes the play:

"Mr. Murtross opened the Ace of diamonds, and followed with 10 more leads in the suit, setting the contract for 10 tricks, doubled, which, as the adversaries were vulnerable, netted 3800 points.

"In discussing the hand, Mr. Murtross stated that he had abstained from making psychic bids for two years to make just that bid."

QUESTIONS ANSWERED

Mrs. Culbertson will be glad to answer any specific question on bidding or play sent in by readers. Address her in care of this newspaper, inclosing a three-cent stamped self-addressed envelope.

TODAY'S QUESTION

Does a defensive Overcall in a minor suit require more honor strength than one in a major?

Answer: No—unless it is necessary to bid two. That is, it requires no more strength to bid one diamond over one club than it does to bid one spade over a bid of one club. However, it does require more strength to bid two diamonds over a bid of one heart because of the higher range of the bidding.

The Beauty Box

By HELEN FOLLETT

Face strapping has been revived. It consists mainly of treatment of the neck, shoulders and back, manipulations and slapping going on to induce the large arteries and blood vessels to rouse themselves and carry cell-making and muscle strengthening rations to the complexion. Neck and chest will take a lot of massage punishment, but the softer tissues of the face will accept nothing more vigorous than a light tapping.

When extremely dry hair has been subjected to the permanent wave process, it should be sprayed once a day with brilliantine to make the hair soft and the wave line perfect and fluid. Hot water can be used at the same time, if it is necessary to set the undulation. Coarse, dry hair needs a shorter term of heating than silky, oily locks.

Flowing locks, flying tresses, are only for the arty posers. This day's coiffure must show evidence of design, individuality and elegance. Not only that, but sleek, smooth perfection. It must bear the professional touch; every woman—no matter what her station—seems to be able to trot-trot to the beauty shop and have her hair dressed. The permanent wave puts in the curl quality, but that isn't all that is necessary. After each shampoo there must be given the finger wave which produces wide, fluid undulations with tag ends discreetly arranged in what is known as button curls. Flat and prim they are. Fluff is out again. Severity comes along to reign for a time.

Household Hints

Eggs should be clear if held up to the light, with a slightly cloudy appearance towards the center. If cloudy all over they are not fresh.

White enamelled furniture will not turn yellow if washed with warm water in which two tablespoons of household borax has been dissolved.

Potatoes should never be placed on the table in a tightly-covered dish if they are still steaming, or they will absorb their own moisture and become sodden.

Correct Manners

By MRS. CORNELIUS BEECKMAN

An Important Call

Dear Mrs. Beeckman

My sister is to be married soon and I would appreciate it if you would tell me whether her parents should ask her fiance's parents to call on them, or should his parents ask his fiancee's parents to call first?

I am in doubt about this and would be glad to have you help me. K.

The social rule is that, when the young man's parents are told the news of his engagement by their son, they go at that very earliest convenience to call on the young lady and welcome her into their family. Very important and significant is this visit of welcome. And if it is done in the way it should be done it will take place within 24 hours after they have been told of the engagement. If it is impossible for the father to go, the mother makes the visit in both of their names.

The visits that are made after this important visit-of-welcome depend on the circumstances of both families, whether they are accustomed to entertaining, and to the general convenience for them. For instance, the family of the groom-to-be may invite the girl and her family to dine with them, informally or formally, and other members of one or both families may be invited. Or the girl's family may give a dinner or some other form of hospitality for the couple and the families.

The Chaperon

Dear Mrs. Beeckman:

1. If a group of young people were in a room and the parents appear, should the girls, as well as the boys, rise?

2. If a girl asks a boy to accompany her to a dance, should she pay the admission fee?

3. When a boy escorts a girl home, should she invite him in?

4. When a chaperon invites a group of couples to attend a dance, should the chaperon pay the admisison fee for all?

E. G. THE GREAT.

1. Yes, the girls rise to pay respect and compliment to the girl's mother, the hostess of the home and an older woman.

2. Yes, the girl should buy the tickets, to complete her hospitable invitation.

3. This depends on the time. If, for instance, it is after a dance or the theater in the evening, the hour is too late for such an invitation.

4. The "chaperon" is usually not the "hostess." But, if in any case she is the hostess also, then she probably will wish to carry out the responsibility of her invitation by supplying the tickets.

(And oh, dear E. G. the Great, can't I please persuade you to change your habits of letterpaper and ink? The lurid red margin on your letterpaper is in the worst of taste, and to "complete" the redness with red ink is just too terrible.)

PITT STUDENTS NOT TO SUE

Attorney Percy C. Pachtman, counsel for three Pitt students recently exonerated in County Court when Judge M. A. Musmanno reversed a decision of Oakland Police Court fining them $5 each for attempting to hold an anti-war meeting Commencement Day, today denied stating that his clients would institute civil action against W. Don Harrison, director of athletics at the university, for causing their arrest.

Pachtman said that on his advice the students had decided to "bring no action whatsoever" on the ground that the court's ruling was sufficient justification.

TWO HERE GET WAR MEDALS

Robert H. Thompson, 249 Rochelle street, and Patrick Hines, 1054 Bayridge avenue, both members of the 80th Division, today received the order of the Purple Heart for military service during the World War.

Thompson, who was a member of the 320th Infantry, was wounded with machine gun fire in the battle of the Argonne.

Hines, who is a traffic officer served with the 319th Infantry. In the Meuse-Argonne he was wounded with shrapnel.

OBITUARY

G. F. Grapp.

G. F. Grapp, 72, of 5173 Liberty avenue, died yesterday in Homeopathic Hospital. He was born in Germany and came to Pittsburgh at the age of 12. Six years ago he retired from the wholesale grocery business, in which he had been engaged 22 years. He was a member of the German Evangelical Protestant Church, Smithfield street, where he served on the church council for many years, and the Bayard Taylor Unit, Steuben Society of America, of which he was treasurer. Besides his widow he leaves two sons, Edward H. and Theodore C. Grapp, and a daughter, Mrs. George Stengle.

Dickinson Funeral.

Funeral services for Mrs. Margaret Callahan Dickinson, 82, of 1025 Brownsville road, will be held with requiem high mass at St. Basil's Church at 9 a. m. tomorrow. Mrs. Dickinson died in her home, Monday. She leaves two daughters, Mrs. A. J. Rickerts and Mrs. E. R. Davis and a son, V. L. Dickinson. She was a member of St. Basil's Church, of Branch No. 147, L. C. B. A., and of St. Basil's Altar Society.

Mrs. Mary D. Bedel.

Mrs. Mary Dei Bedel, 79, widow of Peter Bedel, is dead at the home of her son, Jacob, 59 Park street, Millvale. She was born in Hesse Darmstadt, Germany, and lived in the Pittsburgh district 65 years; 17 in Millvale. She was a member of St. Anthony's Catholic Church and Branch 300, L. C. B. A. Besides her son she leaves five grandchildren and 4 great-grandchildren.

Haller Funeral.

Funeral services for John P. Haller, 75, of 38 Oxbow street, will be held tomorrow night from the home of his adopted daughter, Mrs. Annie M. Limbaugh, 287 Noble avenue, Crafton. He was born in Zellenople and moved to Pittsburgh when a young man. He was a member of the St. Mathew's Lutheran Church, of Crafton. He leaves his wife, Mrs. Annie Herman Haller and another adopted daughter, Mrs. Robert Craig.

Margaret E. Wallace.

Margaret E. Wallace died yesterday at her home, 7734 Kelly street. Miss Wallace was a daughter of the late Maj. Maurice Wallace. She was a member of Holy Rosary Church, Homewood. She leaves a brother, William S., and a sister, Miss Catherine E.

Dog Catcher Proud When Released Animal Returns

EVANSTON, Ill., Sept. 21.—(AP.)—When a dog runs away from a happy home and applies for re-admittance to the city dog pound it must prove something, William Erlandson, Evanston's dog catcher, believes. He said:

"It shows that I treat them better than their owners do."

To substantiate his claim he pointed to the case of "Buttercup," a dog that was placed in the pound, where it remained for a few days before its owner claimed it. Yesterday, however, the dog was waiting at the pound to get in again.

Appointed for Park Recreation Survey

Press Anderson has been appointed to make a survey of the swimming pool possibilities and other recreational features in North Park, at a monthly salary of $300. The County Commissioners made the appointment yesterday.

INCE AND BRIDE GO TO COLLEGE

HOLLYWOOD, Cal., Sept. 21.—(INS.)—Tommy Ince, son of the late Thomas Ince, screen executive, and Nancy Drexel, pretty motion picture actress, will spend their honeymoon—four years of it—in college.

The young couple announced that when they revealed they would enroll in the regular courses at Antioch (Ill.) College after their marriage here September 28. Miss Drexel will continue her film career after graduation, she said, and young Ince plans to be a film executive, like his father.

Father Rescues Boy From Sewer

Two-year-old Lawrence Shulli of 525 Boundary street, today kept his distance from the sewer in front of his home. Lawrence stepped to the top of the sewer, slipped and fell in last night, police said. The sewer was dry. The boy's father pulled him out.

ASKS DIVORCE FROM COUSIN

Divorce on the grounds of relationship, a cause rarely invoked, was asked by Alda M. Forney, 16, of 5217 Keystone street, whose suit against Charles L. Forney, of Avonmore, Westmoreland County, was heard yesterday in Common Pleas Court by Judge Samuel H. Gardner. Mrs. Forney testified they were married March 14, 1931, and that her husband left her at her home that afternoon. She said Forney is her first cousin. Pennsylvania law forbids marriage within this degree of kinship.

Divorce suits were filed by May C. Huffman against John L. Huffman, Albert Danch against Ann Danch, James E. D. Hill against Mary W. Hill, Lazo Zutina against Sophie Zutina, Anna Dursin against John Dursin, Augusta Rubin against David Rubin, Henry W. Schaup against Frances M. Schaup.

Make This at Home

Designed for Sizes 38 to 50
Pattern 2246
Pittsburgh Sun-Telegraph 15c Practical Pattern

By ANNE ADAMS

It's the well chosen lines from shoulder to hem that make you appear taller and slimmer. This frock for the matron affirms our very words. The illusion is created by the graceful tie ends of the bodice yoke, the slender unbelted waistline, new sleeve length and snug yoke with pointed seaming. Lace makes a dainty vestee.

Pattern 2246 may be ordered only in sizes 38 to 50. Size 38 requires 3⅝ yards 39-inch fabric and 1-6 yard 8-inch lace. Illustrated step-by-step sewing instructions included with this pattern.

Send 15 CENTS in coins or stamps (coins preferred) for each pattern. Write plainly your name, address and style number. BE SURE TO STATE SIZE WANTED.

THE FALL AND WINTER EDITION OF THE ANNE ADAMS PATTERN CATALOG IS READY! Charming, flattering models—32 pages of the newest and best house, street and formal frocks—cleverly designed for large figures—and beautiful, practical models for juniors and kiddies. Lovely lingerie patterns, and suggestions for gifts that can be easily and inexpensively made, are also included. SEND FOR THE NEW CATALOG. PRICE OF CATALOG, 15 CENTS. CATALOG AND PATTERN TOGETHER 25 CENTS. Address all mail orders to Pittsburgh Sun-Telegraph, 243 West Seventeenth street, New York City.

1.—Enclose 15 cents in coins.
2.—Write clearly NUMBERS of patterns and SIZE wanted.
3.—Write or print your NAME and ADDRESS plainly.
4.—If you want SUN-TELEGRAPH Style Book send 10c extra.

PHILA. PUTS BAN ON POLICE UNION

Despite the recommendations of Mayor Charles H. Kline and Public Safety Director James M. Clark indorsing the Fraternal Order of Police, Philadelphia Council passed an ordinance preventing "unionization" of police, it was learned today.

The ordinance was directed at the Fraternal Order of Police. Patrolman John B. Fogarty, newly elected president of the organization, admitted an attempt was being made to install a lodge in Philadelphia.

Expressing regret that the measure was passed in Philadelphia, Fogarty said:

"It's too bad. We had been trying to install a lodge there, and I'm sorry that it was blocked. We did everything we could; we even had letters indorsing the order from the Mayor and the Director of Public Safety."

Textile Mill Raises Employes' Wages

PHOENIXVILLE, Pa., Sept. 21.—(INS.)—Employes of the Ajax Hosiery Mills, this city, received a 20 per cent increase in pay this week following a decided upturn in business. Huge lots of orders have resulted in the running of day and night shifts at the plant. Approximately 600 persons are employed.

The increase in pay represented the amount of reduction which went into effect last spring with the decline in business at that time.

Patricia Pitt's Sprightly Comment on Pittsburgh's Society Happenings

In Mayfair
—With—
Patricia Pitt

At a lovely ceremony last evening at 7:30 o'clock in the Greensburg Westminster Presbyterian Church, Elizabeth Hortense Whitten, daughter of Judge and Mrs. Charles E. Whitten, of Greensburg, became the bride of Myron Sturtevant Fales, of Oklahoma City, son of Mr. and Mrs. George B. Fales. The church was decorated simply with cibotiums, palms and calla lilies.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a princess gown of heavy ivory satin, fashioned with long, puffed sleeves, and a court train, over which cascaded her ivory tulle veil, which was finished with a cap of princess lace caught with clusters of orange blossoms. She carried white roses showered with lilies of the valley. Mrs. Charles Mellor, as her sister's matron of honor, and Fay L. Fales, as maid of honor, wore similar gowns of peach transparent velvet, very long, and carried variegated fall flowers.

Men in Party

After the wedding the reception and dinner were held in the Greensburg Country Club. Mrs. Whitten, receiving with the bridal party, wore midnight blue velvet with a corsage of roses and Mrs. Fales chose amethyst triple sheer crepe with a shoulder spray of gardenias.

The bride's table was decorated with fall flowers lighted with tall tapers.

Lena Tortorete And Aliquippa Man Marry

Mr. and Mrs. Pasquale Tortorete, of Bishop stret, Morningside, announce the marriage of their daughter, Miss Lena Tortorete, to Anthony Trasport, of Aliquippa, which was solemnized this morning in the Church of the Immaculate Conception, Bloomfield.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a gown of white satin having a long train, and veil of tulle finished with a cap of tulle caught with lilies of the valley. She carried a sheaf of calla lilies. Miss Nellie Trozzo, cousin of the bridegroom, was maid of honor and wore a gown of brown transparent velvet with a maroon velvet turban. The bridesmaids were Miss Elvira Trasport, sister of the bridegroom; Miss Rose Tomasallo, Miss Josephine Mineo, who wore similar gowns of maroon transparent velvet and brown velvet turbans. The maid of honor and bridesmaids all carried yellow chrysanthemums.

Samuel Demme, of Aspinwall, was best man, and ushers included a brother of the bride, John Tortorete; Pasquale Cirvi and Frank Dasta. Domenic DePalma and Pasquale Tortorete, Jr., were trainbearers, and little Josephine Tortorete, niece of the bride, was ringbearer, and wore a Kate Greenaway frock of white chiffon and tulle.

There was a breakfast and reception later in the Tortorete home. Mr. and Mrs. Trasport will leave for Atlantic City by motor.

FASHION DECREES ABOVE THE HIP TRIMMING FOR NEW FROCKS

Sketched in Paris

Paris Bureau,
Pittsburgh Sun-Telegraph.

PARIS, Sept. 21.—Paris continues to confine all trimming—if any at all is used—to the portions of frocks or coats that are above the hips. The wide-shouldered, narrow-hipped, long-legged figure continues to be fashion's idea of the perfect silhouette, and clothes are designed to either accent or emphasize these features.

* * *

BIG SLEEVES and sleeve ornamentations are one device; skirts cut on the bias, falling smoothly over the hips and flaring only slightly at the hem, are another—they tend to make legs look longer than they really are; a third is by means of establishing lines—either seams or pipings or trimming lines—that run diagonally from the shoulders to the center-front and center-back of the waistline.

* * *

BRUYERE makes use of all three of these methods to get the effect of the fashionable figure in her new coat called "Apres-Midi." Brown angora fur, in the same warm tone as the wool fabric of the coat, makes trimming bands which give a widened effect just below the shoulders. The arm-eyes, cut well in toward the center of the figure, end in diagonal formations.

* * *

THERE ARE diagonal lines all centering toward the waistline on the Chantel afternoon dress in the sketch. Here, also, the sleeves are cut in one with a portion of the blouse. There is a printed chiffon scarf folded wide across the shoulders.

Former Ingram Girl Married In Norwood

The marriage of Miss Mary I. Waugh, daughter of John T. Waugh, of Urban avenue, Noorwood, Pa., formerly of Ingram, to Raymond M. Matthias, son of Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Matthias, of Mohawk avenue, Noorwood, took place on Saturday, September 10, at 12 o'clock in the Olivet Presbyterian Church, with the Rev. Leslie K. Richardson officiating.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a gown of white satin having a lace yoke, long, close-fitting sleeves and full court train. Her veil of net was finished with a cap of net and Irish lace, and her bouquet was of white roses showered with lilies of the valley. Her sister-in-law, Miss Miriam Matthias, was maid of honor, and wore shell pink chiffon with a periwinkle blue jacket and matching velvet turban. Her bouquet was of pink roses and blue delphinium. The bridesmaids were Miss Mary Burns, of Philadelphia, and Miss Helen Scott, of Noorwood, who wore pink chiffon frocks with matching jackets and velvet turbans. They carried pink roses and baby's breath. Janice Linton, as flower girl, wore a frock of pink organdie and carried a basket of roses and delphinium. Ralph Matthias was his brother's best man and ushers included Frank Matthias and Warrent Matthias.

The reception and dinner were held in the Waugh home, with covers laid for 55 guests. Ingram guests included Mr. and Mrs. Robert E. Newell, their daughter Bessie and son, Robert; Mrs. E. W. Burke, Mr. and Mrs. Slater Waugh and Miss Estella Briscoe.

B. P. W. Regional Meeting Opens October 7

By MRS. CHARLES M. BREGG

With such speakers as Mrs. Geline Bowman, of Richmond, national president; Miss Emily Kneubuhl, national executive secretary, and Mrs. Rachel Conrad Nason, of Hartford, Conn., as speakers, the second northeast regional conference of the National Federation of Business and Professional Women's Clubs should be decidedly worth while. It's to be held October 7 to 9 at Niagara Falls with headquarters at the Hotel Niagara.

Business to be taken up will include discussion of a geographical change in the region, a place for holding the 1934 conference, the chairman for that conference and recommendations to be given to the national body.

Mrs. Bowman will address the opening session and Miss Kneubuhl will lead the officers' round table, one of several groups to be conducted that afternoon. Miss Kneubuhl is also to address the prosperity dinner.

An open forum of the federation's 10-year objective will be led by Miss Frances Cummings, national educational secretary, and again round tables will be featured on the second day of the conference.

Mrs. Nason is speaker for the international relations dinner at the Gen. Brock Hotel in Niagara Falls, Canada, Saturday night. Sunday's events include sightseeing and the emblem breakfast. Mrs. Janet Snyder, of Wilkinsburg, is state transportation chairman.

Resume of Work Given In Oakland Year Books

"The Significance of Our Locality in History" is being discussed this afternoon before the McDonald Woman's Club by Richard T. Wiley, of Elizabeth. It is president's day, honoring Mrs. T. J. Miller, and the program includes, besides the talk, piano solos by Fred H. Campbell.

Mrs. Miller and the vice president, Mrs. G. C. Kuehnert, and the social committee members are hostesses.

Brooklyn Woman Made New Head Of Hadassah

NEW YORK, Sept. 21.—(A.P.)—Mrs. Samuel W. Halprin, of Brooklyn, was elected national president of Hadassah, women's Zionist organization, at the closing session of the organization's eighteenth annual convention yesterday.

Mrs. Halprin, a vice president, succeeded Mrs. Edward Jacobs, of New York, who is leaving for a year's stay in Palestine, where Hadassah's work in providing medical and hospital care for Jews there is centered.

Mrs. Halprin urged the 1,500 delegates to draw more women into Zionist work.

She said:

"The situation of Jews the world over is distressing. We are facing renewed persecution even in so-called liberal countries. Economic boycotts against Jews are widespread today. In this disturbing scene Palestine stands out as the hope of the diaspora. We Zionists must redouble our efforts in the work of rebuilding Palestine."

Officers re-elected included Miss Pearl Franklin, Chicago, and Mrs. Henry Harris, San Francisco, vice presidents.

CHECK WEIGHTS OF COAL FOR NEEDY

A drive against short-weight coal, especially truckloads en route to destitute families on welfare organization orders, will be launched by the city Monday, with arrests facing violators.

James Bailey, chief city ordinance officer, today ordered his staff of nine inspectors to begin an extensive drive next week. Complaints already received from buyers, suspicious of amounts delivered to their homes, have caused the campaign Bailey said.

The inspectors will follow coal trucks en route to delivery points. When preparations are made to unload, the inspectors will order the drivers to proceed to the nearest scales for a check-up on weight. Short weight will result in informations being made before Alderman Thomas M. Geary, charging violation of state act. The first offense provides a $25 fine; second, $50; third and each succeeding one, $100.

Bailey said he was determined to break up short-weight practice of drivers. Last year, drivers delivering coal to destitute families on welfare group orders were found among violators, he said.

Treasury Denies Hiring Agents to Buy Gold

WASHINGTON, Sept. 21.—(INS.)—Warning was issued yesterday to owners of old jewelry and gold that the Treasury Department is not sending out agents to buy this metal.

Director of the Mint Robert J. Grant said that throughout the depression many persons have been buying jewelry and falsely representing themselves as agents of the Treasury. They paid prices considerably under the gold's value.

After the gold is purchased it is sold to the Treasury. The law requires that the government buy whatever gold is offered in quantities of $100 or more.

Reitell to Succeed Collins on P. S. C.

—By MARK SHIELDS—

Gov. Pinchot, according to present plans, intends to draw from within his own administration the talent necessary for the major replacements in his cabinet necessitated by the transfer of Dr. Clyde King, secretary of revenue, and P. S. Stahlnecker, Pinchot's secretary, to the Public Service Commission.

Mr. Shields

Further, he will select as the Public Service Commissioner to replace Emerson Collins when he signs October 1 a man who has been connected with the administration.

Unless there is a complete change in plan Dr. Edward Logan, budget secretary in the Governor's office, is to become secretary of revenue, doubling his present salary.

Duncan McCallum, of Leechburg, who has acted as personnel officer in the administration, will become the Governor's secretary.

Dr. Charles E. Reitell, director of the Greater Pennsylvania Council until that organization was quietly throttled by the Legislature last month, is to be put on the Public Service Commission.

* * *

Not Much Recognition For Independents Here

In none of these switches is there much recognition for the Independent Republicans of the western end of the state who played such a large part in the Pinchot victory of 1930, and practically none for Allegheny County, though Reitell is credited as a resident of Pittsburgh. He was not, however, suggested by County Commissioner Charles C. McGovern, who has asked the Governor to name Attorney Clyde Grubbs, Pinchot chairman two years ago.

There is yet a chance that this may occur, but not unless the Governor changes his mind, and the situation is not pleasing to McGovern and some other Independents. They do not decry the ability of Reitell, but assert there are active Independents equally capable, while Reitell contributed little in a political way.

* * *

Private Funds Are Not Flowing Freely

Reitell, when the Legislature rescinded the oppropriation for the Greater Pennsylvania Council at the recent special session, set out to raise private funds to carry on the council's undoubtedly worthy work. In this he was encouraged by the Governor. But the understanding was that if private funds were not fluid then Reitell should be named to the Public Service Commission.

And the funds have not been flowing freely.

If Logan becomes secretary of revenue and McCallum secretary to the Governor there will be few to doubt that King and Stahlnecker will be doing some double duty. King will continue to exercise supervision over the Department of Revenue, one of the most important agencies of the state government now, and Stahlnecker will be the final word on patronage and political strategy, as he has been. These important functions would hardly be trusted to McCallum.

* * *

Savings Effected In Governor's Office

Incidentally, there will be a saving in the Governor's office, the $6,000 that McCallum has received and the $8,000 which went to Logan as budget secretary, as these two jobs will not be filled, the new secretary of revenue continuing to prepare the budget.

The Republican state organization is to continue its determination not to confirm in the Senate any of the major appointments made by the Governor.

Such an agreement was made among organization Senators during the special session, and it will hold for the meeting of 1933, according to men in a position to state the strategy of the regulars. This means that none of the five appointments to the Public Service Commission made by Pinchot will extend beyond his administration.

Regular leaders are frank in saying that they want this appointive power to rest in the hands of the next governor, whom they are sure will be an organization man.

Uncertainty Shrouds Next Move of Senate Probers

Uncertainty surrounds the next move of the Senate committee named to investigate charges that certain utilities or their officers had improperly influenced one or more members of the Public Service Commission. Senator William S. Rial, of Greensburg, chairman of the committee, has in previous statements set September 26 as the date for beginning the open hearings. Senator James J. Coyne also understands that is to be the time for beginning operations.

In Harrisburg, however, it is understood that business will not begin until a week from tomorrow.

Counsel is yet to be selected. Rial is known to favor Oliver K. Eaton, of Pittsburgh, and so does Coyne. Yet Eaton has heard nothing but what he has read in the papers.

It would seem almost impossible for counsel appointed at this late date to so familiarize himself with the situation as to be able to start proceedings Monday.

5 More Men Killed By Poison Drink

NEW YORK, Sept. 21.—(INS.)—Police today sought the source of wood alcohol which killed five men yesterday.

Three men were found dead on piers along the East River and two others died in hospitals.

Children's Diseases Show Decline Here

LAURA BELLE WILSON . . . . NEW HOSPITAL SUPERINTENDENT

Hospital Head Says Science Winning Better Control

A very noticeable decrease and better control of children's diseases are shown in Pittsburgh in the last 10 years, according to Miss Laura Belle Wilson, who was announced today as the new superintendent of the Children's Hospital.

Miss Wilson, who is a recognized authority on children's diseases, said:

"In the time that I have been here, tuberculosis has decreased noticeably among children and a much better control of such diseases as infantile paralysis and measles has been made.

"Also if we could educate the public, diphtheria could be eliminated in five years as much as smallpox has. Diphtheria is one disease over which we have absolute control.

TAX COLLECTOR MUST PAY RENT

As soon as a lease can be drawn up John Brown, county delinquent tax collector, will be required to pay $5,500 a year for his quarters in the Court House.

R. J. Kredel, the county's recently hired "space engineer," submitted to the commissioners yesterday his estimate of a reasonable rental for Brown's quarters. His figures were based on 10 cents a square foot for heat, 10 cents for light, $1 for janitor service, $1 for overhead, 25 cents for elevators and 25 cents for use of conveniences and stairways, a total of $3 a square foot.

The decision to charge rent came after Brown refused to pay for $50 worth of books. Commissioner Charles C. McGovern commented:

"You had better submit the price to him before you give him the lease. He might want to move across the street."

SCHOOL BOARD PREPARES FOR FUND CRISIS

Dire Predictions on Revenue Made And Denied

The Board of Public Education's finance committee will meet at the first opportunity to discuss, and prepare for, the 1933 budget. It will likely appoint a sub-committee to study the special conditions brought about by the depression.

Such a plan was agreed upon at the first fall meeting of the board yesterday. During discussion, in which dire predictions were made, and denied, for next year's revenue, it was brought out that tax collections this year so far are $1,000,000 behind last year; and last year they were $1,000,000 behind the average of the 10 preceding years.

AARON OPTIMISTIC

The need of a radical cut in the millage was inferred, if the revenue decrease was to continue during 1933. Marcus Aaron, president, commented:

"But the drop is not going to keep up."

The board suggested, however, that the finance committee have a special meeting as soon as the budget books are printed, which may be next week.

The formation of the committee was urged to prepare for conditions that might arise and endanger school standards, in the event business stagnation continues.

The board appointed Clark Kistler principal of the Westinghouse High School to succeed the late William L. Leopold; approved reports of routine matters, including the expenditure of over $70,000 for food and welfare for the children.

$19,000 FOR MILK

It appropriated $19,000 for milk for the children; discussed the question of providing for the welfare of school children who need help, leaving the question up to the city, which sold $800,000 bonds and has the legal right to offer such aid, and granted the city 20 feet of property now constituting the front yard of the old Bellfield School, for the widening of Fifth avenue.

The board ignored a demand of Dr. A. L. Lewin that some job be found for Mrs. Mae M. Specht, of 3200 Camp street, who was dismissed—or not rehired—in the cafeteria department.

Dr. Lewin declared conditions in the cafeteria department were

THE ALMOST FORGOTTEN KNIFE-FORK . . . . . JUST FOR THE ONE-ARMED GENTLEFOLK

Many Rings When Barroom Wed Miss Speakeasy

—By ARTHUR 'BUGS' BAER—

Are Dr. Nick Murray Butler's ideas about the saloon inside information?

Nick says the barroom married the speakeasy and took its wife's name. We were present at the wedding ceremony. Every guest gave the bride four rings.

Nick is for liquor control along the Quebec lines. That means the bartender has to put you on your Pullman.

He is in favor of serving wine on boats and trains. He figures if you miss one you'll get the other.

A New York speakeasy is an institution that has studied the problem from the ground up and is now on the second floor.

There are thirty thousand speaks in Manhattan. We didn't learn this through a straw vote. We took a sawdust poll.

Here's the speakeasy test in New York. Rap on any door. It is either a speak or it ain't.

If it ain't just keep on rapping, for it soon will be one.

WABASH SURVEY ENGINEER HIRED

Ole Singstaad, engineer for the Holland Tunnel, New York, has been retained by the County Commissioners to make a survey of the Pittsburgh and West Virginia Railway Bridge and tunnel. He will report on its feasibility as a traffic artery.

His fee, authorized by the Commissioners yesterday, is $5,000.

MODELS SHOW NEW STYLES

A parade of fall styles on living models today and tomorrow will feature the opening of Boggs & Buhl's new modernistic second floor. The models, many of them professionals, will display the new trend in fashion at 2:30 and 8:30 p. m. today and tomorrow afternoon at 2:30 o'clock.

The new second floor, including six shops for specialized merchandise, was finished under the direction of Arthur Stanley, head decorator, and is the first part of a plan of store-wide improvements, according to store executives.

Two of the most striking "shops" in the new section are the French room of the millinery department and the layette shop for baby clothes.

Stores Carry Many Articles to Supply 'Old-Timers'

Styles may come and go but the "Gay Nineties" live on—in packing cases that are brought forth from their hiding places in Pittsburgh's department stores to fill occasional orders from "old-timers" for whom long woolen underclothes are still the thing for winter wear and high-top shoes "have it all over on these new-fangled low-cuts."

The objects and the slogans that go with them tell the story. There are still a number of belles of yesterday who insist on striped percale petticoats and starched corset covers, long white woolen stockings, starched "nighties" and "spit curl crimpers from gay Vienna."

There are still little boxes in the drug department with this meaningful advice printed on them:

Then there are those items of fancy whose very listings recall the days of gas lamps and horse cars:

"Sleeve protectors for nice, neat men."

Endless seems the list, with beer steins that hold a bottle of beer at a pouring, brandy snifters white rushing for prim high collars, red flannel-lined ear tabs and collar wax.

And not a day goes by that some one doesn't ask for at least one of these objects-de-history.

Coal Company Sued Over Injury on Boat

William J. Lawrence, of Pittsburg, yesterday filed in Federal Court a suit for $50,000 damages against the Pittsburg Coal Company. He declares that while employed as first mate on the steamer Beacon, owned by the company, his knee was injured when he fell while disconnecting a steam pipe running between the Beacon and the steamer Ranger. Lawrence claims the accident was caused by his wrench slipping from a defective lug.

$100,000 ASKED OF CASUALTY CONCERN

Embezzlement Laid To Bardolph in Statement

George F. Taylor, Jr., deputy secretary of banking in charge of the closed Franklin Savings and Trust Company, today filed suit against the Maryland Casualty Company, of Baltimore, Md., for recovery of $100,000 on a fidelity bond protecting the bank against loss through embezzlement by employes.

The suit alleges that President Charles A. Bardolph, of the Franklin bank, "converted to his own use, misappropriated, abstracted and failed to account for" that amount of money. Bardolph is now under indictment on several counts of embezzlement.

PAYMENT REFUSED

The Maryland Casualty Company, according to the court petition, has refused "and continues to refuse" paymont of the bond.

Filing of the action confirms an exclusive story carried in the Sun-Telegraph, in August, which showed that the Maryland Casualty has refused to pay the bond because, it alleges, attorneys for the bank failed to give it detailed notification of the embezzlements in sufficient time.

Terms of the bond, a standard form, require that "not later than 10 days after the insured shall discover any loss hereunder, the insured shall give the underwriters notice thereof by registered mail or telegram, and shall also within three months after such discovery furnish to the underwriter affirmative proof of loss with full particulars."

ATTORNEYS BLAMED

The first notice was given to the Casualty Company. The second was not filed until Taylor hired private counsel at his own expense, it was learned, after the bank's attorneys failed to file on time. The proof of loss would, ordinarily, have been filed by Attorney W. T. Corbett, or Deputy Attorney General Thomas G. Taylor.

The suit filed today lists alleged fraudulent transactions of Bardolph's which total $120,973.13—more than the claimed loss of $100,000.

First loss, $27,500, on which recovery is claimed resulted from the unpaid balance of a mortgage assigned to the bank "full payment of which was received by the said Charles A. Bardolph at times at and prior to October 6, 1930," the petition claims.

Second loss is set forth due to "the illegal, dishonest and collusive grant of credit to Michael H. Parish, Inc., through the instrumentality, dishonesty and collusion of Charles A. Bardolph." Amount claimed is $29,063.14.

FRAUD CHARGED

Loss sustained through granting credit without authority to the Agricultural Exchange "through the medium of crediting the account of said Agricultural Exchange with unauthorized deposits" is set at $24,750.30.

In the same manner, Bardolph is alleged to have cashed checks for the Agricultural Exchange when it had not enough funds for payment, thus causing a loss of $39,512.08.

Granting of credit to D. L. Bazell "dishonestly, collusively and without authority" cost the bank $147.61 in 1930 and 1931, the petition alleges.

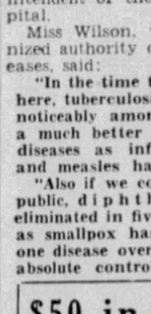
WILL ROGERS SAYS

BEVERLY HILLS, Cal., Sept. 21. To the Editor, Sun-Telegraph:

Say, I got a whole new slant on this election racket today. I ran into a Republican. You see on account of my low social standing I haven't been able to meet anybody but Democrats. But this Republican tells and shows me where this thing is going to be a real race. These windy Democrats had led me to believe that the thing was going by default.



Will Rogers

Mr. Hoover has made a move I wouldn't have let him make if I had been one of his advisers. He wants "to put more orators in the field." I think and hope that it was a typographical error. It should read, "we want more orators under the field." As I told you all before, I seem to be the only person in America that has no idea who will win this election, but I do know one thing, it will be the side with the fewest "orators." Yes, or even speakers.

Yours,

WILL.

Railroads Resume Old Schedules Sunday

Railroads will resume regular schedules next Sunday to conform to the change from Daylight Time to Eastern Standard Time.

All suburban trains on the Pennsylvania, Baltimore and Ohio and Pennsylvania and Lake Erie will be scheduled an hour later.

Practically all through trains operating through Pittsburgh will remain on present schedule.

Changes in P. & L. E. through train schedules include: Pittsburgh-Cleveland, 8:05 a. m. instead of 8:10 a. m.; Pittsburgh-Erie, 8:30 a. m. instead of 9:30; the Empire Express, 4 p. m. instead of 5 p. m., and the Pittsburgh-Chicago train at 8:45 p. m. instead of 8:30 p. m.

The B. & O. announced the Fort Pitt Flyer from Pittsburgh to Chicago would be moved back an hour, and the train from Pittsburgh to New York would leave at 10:25 instead of 9:56 p. m.

Pennsylvania Railroad trains between Pittsburgh, Philadelphia and New York will be adjusted to eastern standard time. Besides adjusting the schedule of commuter trains, the Pennsylvania has announced that from one to 10 minutes has been cut from the running time of all trains operating in the local zone.

The Cleveland Express will leave at 9:40 a. m. instead of 9 a. m.; the Pennsylvania Limited to Philadelphia and New York will leave at 7 a. m. instead of 6:35 a. m., and the Pittsburgh-St. Louis train will leave at 6:35 p. m. instead of 6:40

U. S. FIGHTING RACKETS HERE

The presence here of more than 20 special investigators of the Bureau of Internal Revenue, and the arrest yesterday of John Duffy, "the Wheeling Kid," for alleged failure to file an income tax return for 1929, when, the government avers, he had a gross income of $266,203.15, is believed to be the beginning of a federal drive in the Pittsburgh district against racketeers.

Duffy, a figure of the night clubs, after waiting five hours in the office of United States Marshal J. C. McGregor, was released on a $5,000 bond furnished by a surety company.

Earlier in the day Attorney A. M. Oliver had said Duffy would waive a preliminary hearing before the commissioner.

The arrest of Duffy in the lobby of the William Penn Hotel followed an investigation by special agents of the intelligence unit of the Bureau of Internal Revenue, under James L. Pearce, and internal revenue agents under W. P. Mays.

There are rumors that the investigators will examine accounts of several politicians.

SCHOOL BUDGET WORK BEGINS

"awful, its administration autocratic and arbitrary." He declared:

"There should be an investigation. I think it's a crime the way that woman was treated. She merely told about someone taking a few sandwiches. The department is run in a tyrannical manner, and needs cleaning out."

EXPLAINS DISPUTE

C. M. McKee, superintendent of supplies, of which the cafeteria department is a part, said its head was Mrs. Helen Gregg, a board employe 12 years. He said the dismissal of Mrs. Specht would stand, not because she told that someone took a few sandwiches home, but because this was the climax of a series of petty differences. He declared Mrs. Gregg was justified in her action, adding that the sandwich incident was one in which, rather than have a score of sandwiches go to waste over the week-end, a cafeteria employe, needy herself, divided what was left among two volunteer girls—girls from poor families—and took five or six sandwiches home herself. Mrs. Specht reported the infraction, making an issue of it, he said.

The board authorized the tearing down of a structure on the Overbrook Junior High School property; referred reports on the fire hazards of 56 schools to the properties department, instructing Dr. Ben G. Graham, superintendent, to continue his policy of submitting the safety reports to the individual schools for action in removing hazards noted.

HIRING OF TEACHERS

The question of whether Pittsburgh residents should get precedence over out-of-town educators was raised by Dr. Lewin. It was suggested that eligibility rules be studied, after it was reported that 22 of the newly appointed teachers live outside the city, and two came from other states. Mr. Criss suggested that some change in the rules might be made to allow a choice of $1,800-a-year teachers, where, under the present laws, eligibility forces the choosing for the most part, of $3,200-a-year teachers. No action was taken.

Among the other appointments were Frederick L. Wilson, as vice principal to Knoxville Junior High School; H. L. Cleland, vice principal at Baxter Junior High, and J. D. McClymonds as vice principal, Herron Hill Junior High.

Son's Slayer Admits Plot to Kill Family

NEW YORK, Sept. 21.—(INS.)—A jobless ex-convict who killed his 6-year-old son and admitted his intention to slay his entire family because he feared the break-up of his home, according to detectives, was held without bail.

William Henry Tubbs, 32, police said, admitted that when he killed William, the son, he also intended to kill his other boy, Donald, 2, and Mrs. Tubbs, but Donald awoke and began to cry, unnerving him.

Mystery Bullet Hits Policeman, Youth

NEW YORK, Sept. 21.—(INS.)—A boy and a policeman nursed wounds today as the aftermath of a mysterious election shooting brawl. Carlo Tabea, 25, a laborer, was arrested when Patrolman Leo Hope, wounded in the hand from a shot that ricocheted and buried itself in the ankle of Occario De Fazio, 12, found a gun in the man's hand. But investigation proved the gun was empty and had not been fired recently.

REGRETS BOOK INDICTMENT

Joseph Cortese, proprietor of a circulating library at 405½ Sixth street, Braddock, who preferred charges against Edward Grudowski, of Talbot avenue, for alleged failure to return a book, is sorry the grand jury has indicted his erstwhile customer. The grand jury returned a true bill against Grudowski yesterday on a charge of larceny by bailee.

Cortese said:

"I tried time after time to have Grudowski return the book. It was September 15, 1930 'War Birds' was borrowed by him. He had it 331 days at a cent a day. I told him all I wanted was the book, he could pay the money later. He denied having the book."

Cortese said he has more than 600 customers, many of them out of work and unable to pay, but they read all the time and will pay—when they get the money. He continued:

"When the case was held for court I thought it was finished. I expected the grand jury to ignore it. But now it has indicted Grudowski. I am sorry for this trouble, but he should have been fair with me."

Cortese valued the book at 75 cents.

STEEL TRAFFIC CHIEF NAMED

Pittsburgh officials of the Carnegie Steel Company today were without official announcement of the appointment of John A. Coakley, vice president of the American Steel and Wire Company, as central traffic manager of eight subsidiaries of the United States Steel Corporation.

The subsidiaries are the American Bridge, American Sheet and Tinplate, American Steel and Wire, Carnegie Steel, H. C. Frick Coke, Illinois Steel and National Tube companies.

According to an Associated Press dispatch announcing the appointment, Coakley will have headquarters in Pittsburgh.

NEEDY PREPARE FOR WINTER

Self-sustained relief has been worked out by and for needy citizens of Homewood and Brushton.

Preparations for winter are under way at a farm which has been turned over for their use.

Unwilling to ask welfare organizations for relief, they are chopping down trees for kindling wood, and plan to mine their own coal.

They have set up an employment agency in the Brushton Methodist Episcopal Church. There one may hire men to do anything from cleaning snow off sidewalks to building a house.

Fifteen acres of farm land owned by Miss Ella McJunkin, a Pittsburgh school teacher, at Center, Pa., near Universal, have been donated to the men.

For the past week the unemployed, with the assistance of clergymen, have been chopping down trees. The wood is then hauled to the homes of the workers in trucks donated by businessmen of the district. Yesterday 25 woodchoppers were served "mulligan stew."

TIRE CO. NAMES DISTRICT HEAD

J. C. Sanford, manager of the Firestone Service Stores, Inc., Baum boulevard and Negley avenue, has been named district manager of the Firestone Tire and Rubber Company, with headquarters here, it was announced today.

Sanford, a Carnegie Tech graduate, has served in numerous capacities with the Firestone company. He became a student salesman with the company at Akron, O., nine years ago, and his advancement since then has been rapid.

He was representative of the company in the New England states before he came to Pittsburgh to head the retail division here. He has lived in Pittsburgh 25 years.

KENNA DAMAGE AWARD HELD 'UNUSUAL'

Property held in the family of E. M. Kenna, former county road commissioner, and occupied by the Peoples Service Station, former official distributor of county gasoline, was taken and paid for at the time of the widening of the Sawmill Run boulevard at the rate of $16.64 a square foot.

The property is at the intersection of West Liberty avenue and the Sawmill Run boulevard at the south end of the Liberty Tubes. A portion of it not taken, is in use by the Peoples Service Station.

The amount awarded compares with an assessment of $9 a square foot and net damages awarded to owners directly across the boulevard of from $1 to $2 a square foot.

DAMAGES AWARDED

Mrs. Irene A. Kenna and her daughter, Katherine B. McKim, were awarded $52,000 damages by a board of viewers for 3,124 square feet taken, and, in addition, the Peoples Service Station received $6,500 for its reduced leasehold.

The net damages awarded directly across the street included $858 for 858 square feet taken from the Johns Lumber Company and $2,080 for 1,040 square feet taken from property of Harry F. Schulz.

The award of $16.64 a square foot for the Kenna property is considered by real estate men as an unusual value for the South Hills, as there are properties situated on the borders of the "golden triangle" not valued any higher.

West S. Brown, expert witness for the city, who last year received $17,307 in witness fees from the city, testified in the Kenna case. He placed the value of the Kenna property at $15 a square foot before and after the widening. He showed there were 3,124 square feet taken. He said:

DIFFERENT TESTIMONY

A different sort of testimony was given by Brown when, later in the year, he testified in the appeal of the Johns Lumber Company against the city on the $858 damages awarded across the street. Brown then, regarding the lumber company property, said:

"It is the most prominent corner there now, coming down West Liberty avenue with this new widening, and the first property you see is the lumber company. It has got a substantial benefit alongside of anything along that road, outside of what is on the other corner. (Kenna property.")

Brown's figures on the lumber company property were 19,133 square feet before the improvement at $5.50 a square foot and 18,275 square feet after the improvement at $6.50 a square foot, or a benefit before figuring damages to buildings of $13,556.

Three Confess, One On Trial in Robbery

BEAVER, Pa., Sept. 21.—John A. Mott, Aliquippa tuckman, is on trial before Judge Frank E. Reader, charged with the robbery of the W. E. Osborn Company, New Brighton, June 18. Lee M. Goldberg, New Alexandria; Abe Miller and Sidney Wilson, Pittsburgh, his three alleged accomplices, have signed pleas of guilty and turned state's evidence. The three testified they came to New Brighton with Mott under the impression they were to get a load of liquor.

Smoking by Girl Students Denied

NEW CASTLE, Pa., Sept. 21.—A committee representing the faculty of the New Castle Senior High School today made a public statement that an erroneous impression concerning the standards of conduct of the students had been given by publication of the statements of Mrs. J. E. Elliott, a member of the Board of Education. In particular the teachers deny that girl pupils smoke around the building.

COUNCIL SCANS EXPO PACT

Status of the city's accounts with the Exposition Society will be reported to Council Monday, as a result of action by the Committee on Finance.

Chairman W. Y. English asked Controller James P. Kerr to furnish Council all records of the city's dealing with the society, to determine the municipality's future course.

The request was in line with Council's plan to learn of all outstanding accounts with organizations and boroughs. The Controller also was asked for statements of money owed by Homestead, West Homestead, Etna and Sharpsburg, for water.

Accounts with Baldwin Township were ordered settled by the committee.

TRAFFIC SAFETY RECORD SEEN

Possibility that Pittsburgh may lower a 10-year-old record of traffic accidents this year was expressed by City Traffic Engineer Lewis W. McIntyre in a talk before the Mt. Lebanon Kiwanis Club yesterday. The traffic toll in Pittsburgh for the first eight months of this year was 80, he said. This is 39 under the total of 119 recorded for 1923, which set the low record.

Exceeding the speed limit, driving on the wrong side of the road and failure to have the right of way are the principal law violations involved in accidents, McIntyre said. More than half of pedestrian accidents are caused by mid-block crossings, he continued.

20 DEPORTEES TAKEN EAST

Twenty aliens were en route today from Pittsburgh to New York to be delivered to immigration authorities at Ellis Island for deportation to their native countries. The party, consisting of 13 men ordered deported by the Department of Labor, and seven "voluntary" deportees, was conducted east in a Baltimore and Ohio train by inspectors under W. H. Marshall, director of immigration in this district.

One member of the party was Domenic Siviglio, 46, of Clark street, being returned to Italy because he committed a crime within five years after his entry. On April 1, 1929, he was paroled from the Ohio State Penitentiary after serving 12 years of a life sentence for murder.

The "voluntary" deportees are being sent back because of inability to support themselves here. The others, arrested for illegal entry, and other offenses, are being sent to Greece, Italy, England, Czechoslovakia, Rumania, Arabia and Jugoslavia.

MALLORY HATS

"Cravenette" Resists Moisture And Perspiration

$3.50 AND $5

Buy At The Lowest Mallory Prices in Years

What is Mallory "Cravenette"?

Mallory "Cravenette" is a patented process for making both body and band of a hat impervious to moisture. It is invisible and does not affect color, texture or weight. "Cravenette" prolongs the wear and preserves the looks of a hat. Only a Mallory is "Cravenette"-Processed.

Good news! This fall, you pay only $3.50 or $5 for the same luxury-quality Mallory Hat that formerly sold at $5 and $7. And—you get all the exclusive Mallory features, including the "Cravenette" Weather-Proof Process which is, by laboratory test, 85% more moisture-proof than hats not so treated. In addition, Mallory Hats not only resist wear and weather, but also perspiration. Where else can you get so much value in a hat as in a Mallory?

Flagg-Quirt Story for Del Rio

By HARRISON CARROLL

(Copyright, 1932, King Features Synd., Inc.)

HOLLYWOOD, Sept. 21.

Don't be surprised if Dolores Del Rio's next picture turns out to be the Flagg and Quirt story that Fox is planning for November.

Harry Eddington, the Mexican star's manager, likes to surround his business deals with mystery, but negotiations are on and I've a hunch an announcement will be forthcoming before long.

It would be quite fitting for Dolores to take this part, because she was the girl in "What Price Glory," first of the series in which Edmund Lowe and Victor McLaglen played their now familiar characterizations.

Dolores Del Rio

Since leaving R-K-O, Dolores has been vacationing at her home near the beach. Some time ago, she intimated that she would sign a new contract in about three weeks. The time is nearly up.

BOULEVARD TOPICS

Harold Lloyd expects to see his picture, "Movie Crazy," open in six European cities: London, Paris, Berlin, Vienna, Madrid and Rome. The bespectacled star leaves here tonight for New York a week ahead of his family. A great baseball fan, he wants to get in a couple of world's series games before he sails.

What is this thing called love? Dorothy Lee and Marsh Duffield have made three trips to the harbor to sail on that ship of chance, the S. S. La Playa. They've missed it every time.

Even Lon Chaney never equaled the complicated makeup of Boris Karloff in "Omhotep." One day last week the star was in the hands of the makeup man from 10:45 in the morning until 6 at night. During this time, they converted him into a mummy—a little matter involving 150 yards of tape, wrinkling processes, deadening of the hair and a dusting with cement powder. After sitting in a chair for seven hours and 15 minutes, Karloff was carried to the set, where he worked until midnight.

A Fashion Note Out Of Hollywood

The latest trim in fall dresses, according to Adrian, who designs clothes for the Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer stars, is bows fashioned of fur. They are worn on the shoulder, on sleeves or on the belt, according to sketches made up by Adrian for Norma Shearer, Joan Crawford and Marion Davies, for their future productions.

What Players Are Doing

Monty Collins, who has appeared in many Radio Pictures' comedies, goes footlight for the star role of "Louder, Please," that play of a movie press agent soon to be presented in Pasadena . . . things are so mysterious on "The Phantom of Crestwood" set for Radio Pictures that George E. Stone, who plays a featured role, actually got frightened one afternoon . . . the same thing happened to Karen Morley at Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer during the spook scenes in "The Mask of Fu Manchu" . . . John Barrymore was literally besieged by autograph-hunters while attending a preview of "A Bill of Divorcement" in which he starred for Radio Pictures . . . Norman Foster, popular leading man, just sold his new play, "The Sun-Worshippers," to Arthur Hammerstein for Broadway production . . . Mitzi Green doesn't eat much (well, not very much) candy . . . Muriel Kirkland, that beauty from New York, grabbed herself a nice contract at Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer studio.

Movies Find Use for Steel Guitar

At last use has been found for a Hawaiian steel guitar. Boris Karloff uses the thimbles with which one is played, affixing long pointed strips of celluloid to manufacture the long Chinese nails he wears as "Dr. Fu Manchu" in "The Mask of Fu Manchu."

-:- Plays and Players -:-

By WILLIAM J. LEWIS

In Philly there is an echo of the good old days when some theatrical productions were made in that city, Chicago, Detroit and Boston, as well as in New York. Samuel F. E. Nirdlinger, who is operating two independent theaters there, is reported as getting ready to produce "A Good Woman—Poor Thing," by Dillard Lang. Genevieve Tobin, who has been abroad, is mentioned as the probable star of the play, tentatively on the books to open October 23 in Philadelphia, after which, if fates are kind, it will journey to Broadway.

* * *

A question frequently asked concerns the possibility of the return of stage shows to the Penn and Stanley. Eventually, of course, they will return. Whether soon or late depends upon how soon musicians and managers of theaters reach an agreement, and they are said to be quite far apart just now. When the theaters decided to run along without stage presentations there were two groups with which revised working arrangements needed fixing up, the musicians and stage hands. The latter and the managers are now in accord, but plans to get the orchestras back into the pits still hang fire. Stumbling blocks in negotiations are said to be the minimum number of men that may be employed and the number of weeks that may constitute a "season."

* * *

"Forty-second Street," which Warner Brothers will film, with Dick Powell as a member of a great stellar cast, will be partly musical . . . Baby Rose Marie, radio star, who has appeared in stage presentations in film houses, has been signed to appear in a picture with Jackie Cooper . . . Upton Sinclair, author of "The Jungle" and other novels that have attracted wide attention, will write an original tale for the screen, to be titled "The Star Spangled Banner" . . . George Fawcett, for years popular character actor on the screen, will be seen on the Broadway stage next month in "Peacock," in which he played as a summer venture in Nantucket . . . Adolphe Menjou and his wife, Kathryn Carver, have arrived in Paris, where Menjou will work in a French movie . . . Among pictures now in production in Warner Brothers studios in Hollywood are "Silver Dollar," "I Am a Fugitive from the Chain Gang," "20,000 Years in Sing Sing," "You Said a Mouthful," "The Match King" and "Central Park."

Revue Billed In Mosque

The revue, in 10 acts, will feature Freddie Stritt, master of ceremonies, and a large chorus. In addition to the show Tommy Christian and his dance orchestra will provime music for those who wish to dance in the ballroom. All seats will be reserved and will sell for one price. Seats will be on sale downtown beginning Friday, it is announced.

McLaglen, Lowe Will Co-Star Again

Victor McLaglen has been signed by Fox Films for a new, and as yet, untitled film in which he will be once more co-starred with his screen buddy, Edmund Lowe. Weird Tortures of Orient Unearthed

Weird tortures of the Orient, strange sacrifices, and bizarre customs, some of them too gruesome to attempt to film, were unearthed in the elaborate research involved in the filming of "The Mask of Fu Manchu" at the Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer studios. One of the strangest, the "bell torture," will be reproduced. In this the victim is placed under a huge bell, with a deep, penetrating note. The bell is sounded constantly, shivering on the eardrums and nerve centers of the victim until he becomes mad.

BY MARK HELLINGER

Theme for a Mother Song

AMONG MY acquaintances is a guy who has the reputation of being Broadway's most prolific writer of "Mother" songs. With that exception, he's really not a bad scout and I'm always glad to see him when he makes one of his periodic calls at my office.

This afternoon, however, was an exception. For nearly two hours I had sat in front of a blank sheet of paper trying to scare a story out of the inanimate keys of my typewriter. The composing room was yelling for my copy. I was yelling for aspirin. In fact, it was just one yell of a situation; when in strolled my song-writing friend.

"Are you busy, Mark?" he asked.

Resisting the temptation to throw the Bromo-Seltzer bottle at him, I murmured something about having a minute to spare and told him to sit down.

"I'll only keep you a few seconds," he said, "but I need your help badly. I've got a commission for a new mother song and I'm stuck for a theme. I thought, maybe, you could give me an idea. You know the sort of thing I want. Plenty of heart-throbs and pathos."

I told him that, at that moment, I could probably work out a swell theme for a murder song, or pen an immortal ode to a hangover. But mothers were not in my line.

"Well," he said as he left, "Maybe you'll think of something. If you do, let me know—for I sure need a new mother theme."

I returned to my typewriter and once more stared disconsolately at the blank sheet of paper in front of me.

Theme for a mother song! Funny, but there was something about that phrase that jogged my memory back a few years—and in a few seconds I had my story. I don't suppose it will help my song-writing pal much, but it may amuse my customers. So here it is:

I first came across Gloria in 1928. Maybe I should say she came across me, for, as a matter of fact, she introduced herself by giving me the eye in a side street gyp dive where she acted as hostess. To be less polite and more correct, Gloria was a "shade-down" girl whose job it was to trim the suckers who had been steered to the dump.

On this particular night, suckers must have been scarce, for, as I remember, there weren't more than five people in the place. And of those, three were newspaper men—which will give you some idea of how bad business must have been.

There was something about Gloria that attracted me. She seemed to be above the average "steer joint" hostess and I asked her why she was working in a joint of this type.

"I make good money. I guess that's my only excuse," she replied.

Then she went on to explain that she had a mother to keep, which was an old story. But, in this case, I believed it.

"You see, big boy," she explained, "my mother gave me a swell time when I was a kid and now I'm trying to give her a good time. I can pick up seventy-five bucks a week in this dump, and in that way send ma a nice little wad each week."

Though rescuing dames from sin joints is not one of my strong points, I really felt interested in this kid, and, when the opportunity presented itself, I gave her a note to a certain producer. He looked her over and promptly put her in one of his shows.

While the move from a "steer joint" to a Broadway show may have improved Gloria's status, it certainly didn't improve her morals. For, inside of a few months, she had a Park avenue apartment and a limousine.

Whenever I met her, however, it was the same old story.

"I'm doing this to give Mama a good time," she'd repeat. And then, reading the doubt in my eyes, she'd add: "Listen, Mark, I know you don't believe me, but one night I'll introduce you to Ma, and when you see how happy she is, perhaps you'll realize that it's worth it."

One night, in the Central Park Casino, I met Mama. A fat, overbearing dame with piggy eyes that spelt greed and selfishness. I sat beside her, and as we sipped our drinks, Gloria was dancing on the floor with her latest catch. A guy whose reputation would have made garbage smell sweet.

"Gloria doesn't look very happy," I remarked.

"Oh, Mr. Hellinger, how can you say such a thing?" the old dame simpered. "Of course, she is. Such a nice gentleman, her friend, and Gloria's simply mad about him. I'm not an old-fashioned mother, you know, Mr. Hellinger; I believe in letting my dear girl have her fling."

I glanced at the ice on the old dame's arms. I glanced at her beady eyes and cruel mouth. Lord, how I could have socked that dame! . . .

As they say in the story book, our scene changes. It is now 1932 and Gloria is no longer to be seen hitting the high spots, riding in limousines or gracing a Park avenue duplex. No, she hasn't committed suicide, taken to dope or hit the booze wagon. Gloria has merely fallen in love. Is there so much difference?

It all happened at the beginning of this year. Gloria felt she had done enough for Mama, who was now comfortably provided for. And to the surprise of everybody, Broadway's prize gold-digger let everything go and fell hopelessly in love with a commercial artist whose weekly pay check never exceeded 60 bucks.

Of course, even now, the respectable folks would look a little askance on Gloria's liaison. For her sweetheart is married and, though he hasn't seen his wife for years, he can't afford the price of a divorce. But they're a mighty happy couple.

About a month ago, I chanced on Gloria's mother. The same fat, smug-looking woman I had met a few years back.

I raised my hat and stopped to talk to her for a moment.

"Have you seen Gloria lately?" I asked.

"I certainly haven't," she replied. "And I don't want to; the ungrateful little good-for-nothing. After all I've done for her—she leaves her poor old mother to get along as best she can."

"But I understand she's very happy now," I said.

"Happy!"

How I could have soaked that dame!" . . .

Paramount Signs Comedian

Ned Sparks, the comedian who scored in "Blessed Event," has been signed by Paramount to play an important featured role in "No Man of Her Own." He will appear in support of Clark Gable and Miriam Hopkins.

Movies Favor Blue Eyes

Hollywood has discovered the answer to the song: "Brown Eyes, Why Are You Blue?"

Results of a survey just concluded show that the chances of brown-eyed girls making good in the movies are slim compared to those of their blue-eyed sisters.

The unusual odds against brown eyes are shown in figures compiled at the Paramount studios which disclose that of 15 contract actresses at this studio, only Claudette Colbert has brown eyes, while 12 are possessors of orbs of blue. The two remaining actresses have gray and green eyes.

Virtually the same overwhelming percentage in favor of blue eyes is found at other Hollywood studios, according to the survey. For every famous actress with brown eyes, there are six or seven with blue.

Most directors and photographers are of the opinion that the popularity of blue eyes on the screen is caused by their photographic qualities. All other things being equal, such as beauty, personality and dramatic ability, the blue-eyed girl can "get over" her expressions more effectively than the brown-eyed girl because blue, particularly light blue, registers to better advantage in the camera.

How to Lose Fat

Do Just These Two Simple Things—Fat Melts Away

Here is a quick and easy way to take off a pound a day—four to seven pounds every week!—with never a hungry moment. A way any doctor will tell you is safe and sure.

This is what you do: Take a teaspoonful ordinary Jad Salts in glass of water half hour before breakfast every morning. This reduces moisture-weight instantly. Also cleanses your system of the waste matter and excess toxins that most fat people have, and banishes puffiness and bloat.

Then do this about eating. FILL YOUR STOMACH—eat your fill—of lean meats, vegetables like spinach, cauliflower, cabbage, tomatoes, etc., and lots of salads. Eat a lot. Eat all you can hold. Don't go hungry a minute. Cut down on butter, sweets and desserts, bread. Eat any fruit for dessert.

That's all you do. Fat seems to melt away. The coarse lines of overweight give way to the refined ones of slenderness. You lose as much as a pound a day. You feel better than for years. For in this treatment you achieve two important results. The Jad Salts clears the system of toxins. *The diet takes off fat with food that turns to energy instead of weight.

If you're tired of being embarrassed by fat, try this way. You'll be glad that you did. You can get Jad Salts at any drug store.

*Note particularly—Jad Salts is urged purely as a poison-banishing agent—not as a reducing. The change in food does the work.

AMOCO APPROVED LUBRICATION

The "Tryon" Shackle gets its HYPODERMIC

to keep cars HEALTHY

IN many cars the "Tryon" Shackle is a vital feature in riding ease. For the shackle not only supports the springs, but makes the full action of the springs possible.

Thus the shackle must be thoroughly lubricated at all points. Amoco recommends a special lubricant thin enough and oily enough to penetrate and lubricate all parts of the shackle. In the picture you see this lubricant being applied by the special Amoco gun.

Such specialized lubrication is vital to the health of modern high speed cars. It's knowing what, where and how. That's where Amoco Approved Lubrication comes in.

Keep your car healthy. Try this new Amoco Lubrication Service. Like all our service "extras", it costs you no more. You pay just the same as for an old-fashioned "grease job".

You'll like our smiling, willing service. Joined with our products, it makes your car run smoother, longer and more economically. You know the products—famous for years—Amoco-Gas—Orange American Gas—Amoco Motor Oil and Lubricants.

There's a Station Near You!

IN Amoco Approved Lubrication Service, there's a specialized Amoco lubricant for every part requiring lubrication—a specialized gun for its application, and a specially trained man for the job.

PENNANT DUE TO CHANGE OF PILOTS

A NUMBER OF items entered into the pennant victory of the Cubs. There were the leap of Lon Warneke to the peak of pitching greatness; the way Riggs Stephenson fooled the critics who had thought his legs were gone; the manner in which Woody English solved the third base problem; the turn of Kiki Cuyler to sensational hitting form; the rapid development of Bill Herman at second base; the acquisition of Mark Koenig; the return of Gabby Hartnett to his old catching and batting standards, and the steady work of a fine slab staff. But largely it was a personal triumph for Manager Charley Grimm.

Charley Grimm

The main requisite of a successful pilot is ability to handle men, preserve harmony and spirit and make his players want to win for him. That's where Grimm stood out in becoming the first manager ever to take hold of a major league club during the course of a race and win a pennant that same year. Under Rogers Hornsby, up to the time of his dismissal on August 2, the Cubs won 53 games and lost 46, a percentage of .535; under Grimm they have won 36 and lost 15, a gait of .706. The difference would appear to indicate that the main factor in Chicago's flag success was the shift from Hornsby to Grimm, with the new spirit that the latter instilled. Incidentally, that managerial change perhaps cost Pittsburgh the pennant. In spite of their August slump, the Pirates' late drive in winning 18 of their last 24 games probably would have enabled them to beat out any Hornsby-handled rival.

BOXING TONIGHT WILL do its bit for charity in this district. The big show at Meyers Bowl in North Braddock, headed by the Panka-Rodenbach and Datto-Marcus 10-round bouts, would be worthy of a bumper attendance on its own merits, and is all the more so because it will be held for the benefit of the Salvation Army of Braddock, North Braddock and Rankin.

This will be the first charity glove show held around here on a large scale since the Cuddy DeMarco-Jack Zivic Milk and Ice Fund card at Forbes Field. Some shows of the kind throughout the country have found charity getting only a slight percentage of the receipts, but in this instance Promoter John L. Hernon has seen to it that the cause to be served will receive the big end of the intake.

NOW THAT HE has signed to manage the Giants for two more years, Bill Terry is being urged by many New York baseball patrons to take on Dave Bancroft again as assistant and coach.

Banny was urged to apply for the Cincinnati managerial job, but says it does not appeal to him. New York rumors say that if Donie Bush is not signed to lead the Reds, Eddie Roush may be the one to succeed Dan Howley, who is to go back to Toronto as manager and part owner.

THE YANKEE PITCHING staff has an unusual world series record in that the three members of it who have taken part in post-season classics have never lost a derby game. They are the veteran left-hander, Herb Pennock, who shared in the spoils of one world series with the A's in 1914 and four with the Yanks in 1923, 1926, 1927 and 1928, though he did no pitching in the 1928 event; George Pipgras, right-hander, who worked for the Yanks in the series of 1927 and 1928, and Wiley Moore, right-hand relief man, who participated in the title competition of 1927. Eight victories are credited to the trio.

Herb Pennock

PENNOCK HAS WON five series games without a reverse, a record equaled only by Jack Coombs. Herb pitched a total of 51 innings, allowing only 37 hits, giving but five bases on balls and striking out 20 batsmen.

Pipgras beat the Pirates 6 to 2 in the second game of the 1927 series at Forbes Field and defeated the Cards in 1928. Moore finished the first contest here in 1927 for Waite Hoyt and pitched all of the fourth and final game, in which the Yanks won out 4 to 3 in the ninth inning when John Miljus made his famous wild pitch after fanning Lou Gehrig and Bob Meusel with the bases full.

THE RECENT PERFORMANCES of Nelson and Page, Seattle hurlers, in pitching and winning double-headers, recalled to Coast League fans the famous "Mysterious Mitchell," who used to duplicate the major league feats of Joe McGinnity by flinging twin bills so often for San Francisco that it was almost a habit. He would start the second game by turning a handspring. And he was almost unbeatable.

Mitchell was called "Mysterious" because nobody knew whence he had come. He wouldn't let a photographer take his picture. It developed finally that he had been a major league pitcher under another name, but had disappeared after becoming involved in a scrape. When his identity became known Mitchell dropped out of sight.

WHILE THE HOCKEY situation in Pittsburgh is still in a tangle and no progress is reported in the plan to put this city in the major loop again, other National League clubs are busy on the job of rounding up their players for the season and completing training arrangements. Some of them may have trouble getting their athletes in line. For instance, Col. John S. Hammond, boss of the New York Rangers, has announced he will not sign any players for more than one year. Certain of the older members of the outfit are looking for long contracts, and there may be several lengthy controversies before agreements are reached.

HOCKEY MEN AROUND the remainder of the National circuit meanwhile are awaiting Pittsburgh developments with interest. Even if the Duquesne Garden lease is obtained for a major club here, they say the local promoters will have to do a lot of hustling to line up a manager and a club in time for the 1932-33 season.

As to a report that the new manager here will be Eddie Powers, Eastern ice circles admit he is one of the most promising of the younger mentors. But they add that picking up a manager is a soft assignment in comparison to lining up in a hurry a team that will be able to hold its own in fast company.

DOC HARTWIG, wheeling youth, who is giving Kenny Ormiston a battle for the left-guard job on the Pitt football team, wasn't figured to have much of a look-in for the position before practice started at Camp Hamilton.

Doc Hartwig

In fact the name of Hartwig was unfamiliar to most fans, due to the fact that he had been unable to play in a single game last year. An injury in training camp put Doc on the shelf for the entire 1931 season, and it was not until an operation had repaired the damage done that he was able to get going again in spring training.

HARTWIG WAS THE peppiest lineman on the squad during the spring drills, but his ability was limited to defensive play, for he was too slow on his feet to form an effective part of Jock Sutherland's famous screen interference. As a result he was just about forgotten when the off-season practice was over. But Doc had not given up. Every day during June, July and August he spent at least a half hour at practice in pulling out of the line. The result was that he went to camp farther advanced than most of the other guard candidates, and he has made such a good impression that Coach Sutherland is still counting him in, and is undecided as to whom he will use at the position in the opening game against Ohio Northern Saturday.

LOCAL VARSITY NEAR PEAK FOR W. VA. GAME

By JESS CARVER

Prying eyes, which may have been peeping through cracks in the fence surrounding the Duquesne University practice field or glued to knotholes in the same red fence have been peeping and prying in vain as far as learning anything of the mode of attack Coach Elmer Layden is planning to have his Night Riders employ against West Virginia at Forbes Field Friday night.

Those afternoon workouts the Dukes have been holding have been nothing else than the common, or garden variety of drills. The sessions the curious should have seen are the ones that have been held in the Duquesne gymnasium at night. They are the ones that would hold no slight degree of interest for Coach Greasy Neale and his Mountaineers. The first knowledge the Mountaineers will have of the results of these secret workouts will come Friday night, shortly after 8:45 p. m., and then, Coach Layden hopes, it will be entirely too late for the Mountaineers and the astute Mister Neale to do anything about 'em.

SIGNAL DRILL TODAY

This afternoon, the Red and Blue mentors will send the squad through its final daylight workout, a long signal drill being on the books. Tonight they'll have another star chamber session in the gym, and tomorrow evening will hold their weekly workout under the lights at the home of the Pirates.

Yesterday the freshmen, armed with Mountaineer plays, battled against two varsity elevens in a torrid scrimmage session. The Dukes evidenced satisfying ability to check the onslaughts of the yearlings, but stopping their own frosh and the 200-pound line and experienced backfield that Neale will show off here Friday night are, like caviar and beans, two entirely different things.

Graduate Manager John Holohan, who sits ensconced behind the money till, reports a brisk advance sale for the contest. Being the initial major tussle of the season for the city, and a ball game of great promise and first rank importance, it should pack away a sizeable crowd—possible one approaching, or, given a fair evening, surpassing the 30,000 mark.

LINEUP UNCHANGED

The varsity lineup continues to look as it did against Westminster, with Krankota and Capt. Abele at the ends; Noccolai and Donohue at the tackles; DeCarbo and Weinberg at the guards; Ciccone at center and Sullivan, Pawlina, DeLuca and Zaninelli in the backfield.

TARTAN BACKS SHOW POWER

It begins to look very much as though the Bevevino-Kavel-Sayles Mihm backfield combination will be the one that will open the season against Geneva for Carnegie Tech next week.

It was this star combine that yesterday tallied two touchdowns in a hectic scrimmage against a so-called second eleven. First it was co-Capt. Georgie Porgie Kavel who scored the Skibo star dashing around left end on a short run for a touchdown. Later on Bevevino flipped a long pass to Sayles, who pulled the ball down over the goal line.

Battling along in front of this combination of backs was a line made up of Red Jones at center; Hooks Sample and Bunny Burzio, guards; Croft and Plummer, tackles, and Stewart and Tesser, ends.

There will be no rough work in the Tartan bowl this afternoon. Today and tomorrow will be devoted to smoothing some of the rough edges that cropped up in the play of the teams yesterday. Another scrimmage will be held Friday afternoon.

Sayles and Kavel alternated in hammering away on line smashes yesterday. Few wide open plays were tried. Bevevino ran the team in very acceptable fashion and his passes were timely and accurate.

Northwestern, Irish Sign New Pact

EVANSTON, Ill., Sept. 21.—(AP.)—Notre Dame and Northwestern have reached agreement for football games in 1934 and 1935, Athletic Director Kenneth L. (Tug) Wilson, of Northwestern, announced last night.

The series appeared off when both institutions wished to play host in 1934, but the difficulties were ironed out and Notre Dame will play at Evanston that year. The 1935 contest will be played at South Bend. Notre Dame also will play at Evanston in 1933.

SPORT VIGNETTES

Manager Lefty Grimm will start Guy Bush on the mound in the opening game of the world series because he believes a game in the bush is worth two in the hand . . . The new amateur golf champion is not to be confused with Slim Summerville, of movie fame . . . The other day, Capt. Paul Reider, of Pitt, received a consignment of chocolate from home at Camp Hamilton . . . He left the hut and chocolate behind, and, when he returned, learned that his roommate and running mate at halfback, Warren (Fats) Heller, had turned merchant prince and sold most of the confection . . . It's doubtful if they'll speak to each other again this fall without an introduction.

Fats Heller

Speaking of Fats Heller, they do say he has more nicknames than the entire Carnegie Tech squad put together, and quite a few of the latter were published herein last week . . . Coming readily to mind, here are some of the appelations that have been hung upon the potential All-America halfback: Fats, Wimpy, Scrooge, Monk, Mother, Banjo Eyes, Pinney, Bushy, Baldy, Tubes and Curly . . . After that affair with Reider, they'll probably add Kid Chocolate, too.

One Phil Zwick, of Cleveland, who suffers from the sin of being a hard hitter, for which very good reason rival mittmen refuse to box him, plans to invade our sacred precincts under the management of Irish Kane if the promoters will give him a tumble . . . Philip is 23 years old, a 132-35-pounder, of German-Irish extraction . . . He has been boxing since 1925, and has been in there with Bud Taylor, Joey Sangor, Johnny Dunn, Armando Santiago, California Joe Lynch, Al Corbett, Joey Thomas, Freddie Miller, Tommy Ryan, Nat Arno, Pete Nebo, Sammy Shack, Johnny Datto, Chico Cisneros, Midget Mike O'Dowd and everybody else who would fight him, and he's just about run out of opposition around Cleveland . . . If the matchmakers around here don't scramble up some work for Phil, Irish is going to see what can be done about it, if anything.

LOUCKS PLANS TO RETIRE

GREENSBURG, Pa., Sept. 21.—Earl Loucks, former end star at Wash-Jeff, who has been football coach and athletic director here since 1927, when he succeeded Elmer Carroll, of Wilkinsburg, will retire from the coaching game at the end of his present term, which expires next spring. The coach announced his retirement last night.

Loucks has made a fine record since his advent here. He came here from East High, in Cleveland, and previous to that, had been head coach at Martins Ferry, O. At Wash-Jeff, he played the end opposite Carroll, who was an all-America selection.

PIRATES LOSE LAST CHANCE FOR FLAG

CHICAGO, Sept. 21.—The pennant excitement having abated somewhat, the Cubs today were free to throw all their efforts toward the goal of a World Series title. Charley Grimm's Bruins clinched the National League flag yesterday afternoon as they copped the first battle of a double-header with the Pirates. The score was 5-2.

Grimm rested most of his regulars in the second contest, which the Buccos won, 5-0; but the leader of the new champions is not likely to keep his stars out long enough for them to become stale.

HARRIS, SMITH READY

The Cubs will tackle the Pirates this afternoon in a single contest. Inasmuch as they must win another game to clinch second place, it is likely the Buccos will use their first strength in today's contest. Bill Harris is likely to twirl for the Pirates this afternoon, although Manage Gibson may give Recruit Hal Smith a chance on the slab. Manager Grimm may counter with Jake May.

Hazen Cuyler and Guy Bush were the heroes in the contest of yesterday which assured the Cubs the title. Cuyler tripled with the bases loaded and the score tied in the seventh, while the tall right-hander from Mississippi limited the Buccos to eight hits.

Approximately 40,000 fans turned out to see the pennant excitement, Steve Swetonic made things tough for the Cubs until the seventh, when Gus Suhr got off a bad throw to second in attempting to make a double play. The error put runners on second and first with none out and a sacrifice moved them into the scoring zone. Woodie English was purposely passed to make force plays all around, but Cuyler tripled to left to score three of his buddies. Jurges started the round with a single and Bush hit to Suhr, who tried to start to put a double play in motion. The three runs were sufficient to decide the game.

BUCS MESS CHANCES

The Pirates had chances to get out in front of the Bruins, but they gummed up their opportunities. On one occasion Earl Grace grounded into a double play with runners on third and first. Bush hit into a double play in the fourth round with his manager on third.

The Cubs scored a run in the first and were two in front after hitting in the third. Cuyler scored on Grace's passed ball in this round. Suhr's single with one out in the fourth opened the way for a deadlock. Piet walked, Vaughan and Suhr followed with hits to produce the runs. Swetonic came

NICKSICK STARS FOR PANTHERS

WINDBER, Pa., Sept. 21.—The Pitt varsity players, or those who so far appear to have starting jobs well in hand, were rejoicing today following their decisive 19-to-0 victory scored yesterday over the Reserves in the final practice tussle and scrimmage prior to the opening game in Pittsburgh Saturday with Ohio Northern.

Last Saturday, the Reserves handed the Varsity a setback to the tune of 27 to 12, and yesterday's revenge was very sweet.

Mike Nicksick, substitute halfback, broke away early in the first quarter to score for the Varsity. Onder failed at the point after the touchdown. Once again Nicksick eluded a field of tacklers and carried the ball over for a second tally for the Blue Shirts. The point after touchdown was missed again.

Dick Matesic, injected into the game in the place of Capt. Reider, scored the last touchdown, and Izzy Weinstock booted the extra point.

Through four full 15-minute periods, Sutherland drilled the Panthers in an effort to smooth out his running attack, but it was met each time by a stubborn defense.

YANKS AND CUBS MAY BREAK SERIES CROWD RECORD

OPENING GAME SELLOUT IS EXPECTED

NEW YORK, Sept. 21.—(AP.)—The New York Yankees are preparing to welcome the Chicago Cubs in the opening game of the world series next Wednesday with a barrage of base hits and perhaps the greatest crowd in the 29-year-old history of baseball's fall classic.

They may fail of both their objectives but they'll be in there trying. Advance sales have been lighter so far than in many previous years but the Yankee management is counting upon a capacity turnout for the opening game. Should every one of the 59,000-odd seats be filled, a series record for attendance at a single game automatically would be shattered.

BOX SEATS GO

Ed Barrow, secretary of the Yankees, reveals that although there has been a tremendous run on the boxes, there still are plenty of reserved seats to be had.

Should the series go the full limit of seven games, all records for attendance and receipts almost certainly would go by the boards. With the Yankee stadium seating almost 70,000 and Wrigley Field accommodating more than 50,000, an aggregate attendance of close to 400,000 would not be out of reach, far beyond the record of 328,051 established by the Yankees and the St. Louis Cardinals in 1926. Receipts, under those circumstances, should be materially greater than the record $1,207,864 the Yankees and Cardinals drew the same year.

KEYMEN HURT

Both teams approach the series with "key men" on the injured list. The Yankees are more than a little worried over the condition of Babe Ruth, although the big slugger maintains he will be in first-rate shape for his tenth world series. Tony Lazzeri, second baseman, whose comeback this year was a leading factor in the Yankees' success, is bothered with a sore shoulder. The Cubs' principal casualty is Mark Koenig, veteran shortstop, who used to wear a Yankee uniform. Koenig, however, is reported completely recovered from his hurts and certain to be ready for the series.

The first two games of the series will be played here next Wednesday and Thursday. After a day of rest the clubs will resume at Chicago with games on October 1, 2 and 3. The last two games, if necessary, will be played here October 5 and 6.

BURNS PRACTICE TILT CARDED

The Dan Burns Club, of New Kensington, will prep for its West Penn Conference opening game with the Baehr Olympics, by meeting the Evergreen Olympics at the High School Field, Friday evening, under the lights.

The Evergreen team has been together for a number of years, and Coach Kerr, former Carnegie Tech back, feels that his boys will make a creditable showing.

The Baehr Olympics practiced last evening and have another session carded for tomorrow. They will meet the Twenty-sixth Ward Traders at Olympia Park Sunday afternoon at 3 p. m. Edwards will play quarterback and call the signals for McKeesport.

Hymie Goldberg, former Carnegie Tech quarterback, signed to play with the East Liberty Papales yesterday. The list turned in by Manager Johnny Logidice finds Sweet, Dreshar, Morbito, Duncannis, Goldberg, Dummer, Kelleher, Lippman, Klinzing, Poletz, Reynolds, Matio, De Nardo, Miller, Meyers, Venturo, Eckert, McCune, Mathos and DeLuca signed for the season.

Di Stout is off the list since his broken arm will keep him out of the game for at least five weeks. The East Enders have nine former college players in the lineup.

SOCCER OFFICIALS MEET

The West Penn Soccer Referees' Association will hold a meeting Saturday night at the usual meeting place. The examining board, composed of George Brannigan, D. Martin and R. G. Corns will examine all applicants for jobs an hour before the meeting is called to order. The confab is scheduled for 8 o'clock.

Nick Altrock Baseball's Humorist Says:

BOSTON, Sept. 21.—Over in the minor league city of Newark, the Bears just broke all attendance records this season. Heaven only knows what they'd have done if they'd been named the Bulls.

Nick Altrock

There's been a lot of weeping and gnashing of bridgework lately about the plight of the minor leagues. I admit gate receipts might be off in Ottumwa, Pocatello and places like that, but winning baseball still has a draw the same as Greta Garbo. And the players don't have to be Swedish blondes.

It's been a tough year in the sticks, but you didn't hear of any minor league club pledging its pitching staff to the Reconstruction Finance Corporation, did you? And this doesn't mark the last year of the minors any more than Harry Lauder's next farewell tour will be his last.

World Series Rivals No. 3—The Infields

By CHARLES J. DOYLE

The advantage which the Yankee infield is supposed to own as compared with the first defense of the Cubs is somewhat dulled by the offense blowup of Joe McCarthy's kid shortstops—Lyn Lary and Frank Crosetti.

The two Coast League kids advanced to the Yanks with lithographs screaming of their brilliance. Lary was the first to arrive. Lyn had a big season last summer, but he slumped to .234 in his stick work for this year. The youthful Italian was better than a .300 swatter in the coast circuit, but Crosetti has had trouble staying around .250 in his first year in the big show. Both are fielding phenoms, so that they should rank with the best the Cubs can offer in defensive strength.

Lou Gehrig

Charley Grimm

Lary and Crosetti have divided the Wagnerian role as the Yanks pounded along to the flag. The other three spots on the infield have been dominated by three sparkling performers—Lou Gehrig, Tony Lazzeri and Joey Sewell.

The comeback of Lazzeri probably is the most outstanding of the American angle to the play of the American League champions. Here we have a comparatively young infielder, whom McCarthy is said to have attempted to swap in the off-season. Lazzeri has been bothered with arm trouble, but apparently he is O. K. again. At bat he is the same dangerous swatter; he has driven in more than 100 runs.

Third base shows another development of the surprising order. Cleveland and other cities had figured Sewell ready to pass out of the big show, but Joe has played bangup ball at the hot corner for the Yanks, and his batting has been timely.

The key man of the McCarthy infield, nevertheless, is Gehrig. Were it not for Columbia Lou, the Bruins would have the bulge on the enemy, and this is written with due consideration for Charley Grimm, who is a better first baseman than Gehrig, but who must bow, like all other gateway tenders, to the punch possessed by the Yankee Hercules.

HOW HE CAN SOCK!

Most batters find it very, very hard to drive in 100 runs in a season, but Gehrig thinks he is having an off year if he doesn't smack over 150 or more.

Any study of the infields owned by the two clubs really should revolve around Grimm and Gehrig, who, with Bill Terry, form an incomparable trio of first sackers. Both Lefty and Lou are possessed of that prime essential—fighting spirit. We must chalk up a big mark for the rivals on account of their hustle. Grimm undoubtedly is the better fielder, yet, while Charley is a long, dangerous batter, he has to be rated second to Lou on the offense. Grimm's leadership qualities have been shown to be great, but this does not detract from the brilliance of Gehrig.

HERMAN UNDERRATED

At second base, the Bears have a fielding sensation and a hustler of the first grade, whose delightful punch appears to have been lost in the shuffle. Maybe Bill Herman suffered by the contrast which Rogers Hornsby's bat offered as he played the keystone sack. In any event, Louisville Bill is hitting well over the .300 mark in the leadoff position and he is likely to score 100 runs this season.

Valuable as is Lazzeri, it is hard to give him a better rating than you would place on Herman. Bill is outhitting the veteran and he excels Tony as a fielder; in fact, many a National League backer regards Herman as the best second baseman in the league.

KOENIG HELPS GRIMM

The Chicago shortfield situation is not different than the condition that exists in the Yank camp. Manager Grimm has Mark Koenig and Bill Jurges for the role. The erstwhile Yankee is back in the big show following a siege of trouble that came from his eyes. Mark has batted close to a .350 clip for the Bears since he came back from the Coast League.

Jurges shapes up as one of the greatest shortstops in the sport, but the young player's batting mark is not above .260; so that Koenig may get the call. Moreover, Mark knows the Yanks better than anybody connected with the Cubs and this knowledge may be put to a better use if Koenig stays in the fight. In a sum-up, you might give the Yanks a slight edge at short, but I believe it to be very slight if it is there at all.

ENGLISH REAL STAR

Giving Joe Sewell his full meed of praise, it is this writer's opinion that Joe is not in Woodie English's class. Both are brilliant shortstops made into third basemen. English has been off in his batting this year, yet he remains one of the stars of the National League. A year ago, Rogers Hornsby declared English to be the most valuable player in the National League. He was not far off on that remark.

In view of the various angles and considerations, I believe that any recapitulation of the rival infields should put the combinations close to a dead heat. Gehrig's bat, of course, must be weighed carefully, and perhaps Lou gives his side the edge. Just the same, the matter will be disputed in the serior circuit.

PIRATES LOSE FLAG CHANCE

up with Vaughan on third, Grace on second and only one out, but Steve hit to Jurges and Vaughan was nailed at the plate.

The second game was more or less of an exhibition. Heinie Meine pitched a three-hit shutout against the Cubs' rookies and the Pirates nicked Bud Tinning and Yerkes, who worked on the mound for the Cubs. The Buccos scored twice in the first round, two more in the third and one in the sixth.

Manager Grimm almost went right back to work in the second game, although he long had planned to give Marvin Goudat a chance as soon as the National League title was won.

"Now that this battle is over," he said, "I could get a lot of fun out of this game. I won't rest long."

The clubhouse celebration after the triumph yesterday required a little time to develop. Billy Herman was the first player to reach the dressing room. He wore an awed sort of smile. The rest of the youngsters, with the exception of Lonnie Warneke, the sensational young righthander, matched Herman's expression. The older players just beamed—until Grimm, last to come in, appeared.

Then they yelled at Grimm, at each other, and finally demanded a speech from the manager. He obliged with one word, "great," repeated many times. President William L. Veeck, who on August 2, deposted Rogers Hornsby as manager and appointed Grimm, congratulated each man, finishing up with Grimm.

Local Hockey Lease Agreement Denied

Attorney James F. Callahan, member of the National Hockey League board of directors and the leader of a movement to revive National League hockey here, today denied a report that he had reached an agreement with the Philadelphia Company, owner of Duquesne Garden, for a long-term lease on the Craig street arena.

Callahan said that he probably would go to New York tonight for a conference with Bill Dwyer, New York sportsman financially interested in the local National League franchise. He has no assurance that terms of the lease, altered slightly in the last few days, will be acceptable to Dwyer.

CHESS TOURNEY CARDED

The Pittsburgh Chess Club has arranged to stage the annual Western Pennsylvania chess championship tournament at the club's rooms, 608 Investment Building, beginning November 1. Entries will close October 25. First and second prizes are to be awarded and international chess rules will govern the play.

FIGHT RESULTS

At New York—Phil Stark defeated Steve Smith, 6 rounds.

MT. LEBANON POINTS FOR CRAFTON

By JULIUS LEVIN

The Mt. Lebanon High School football team, under the coaching of Henry Leucht, former Waynesburg College star, begins its battle for the Class A football championship Friday afternoon when it engages Coach Wenrich's Crafton High machine at Mt. Lebanon.

Mt. Lebanon, a comparative newcomer in W. P. I. A. L. athletics, has come to the fore rapidly, winning the Section IX championship in basketball last winter. Last fall the team went through a tough schedule of 10 games, winning nine of them. Miles Bryan High, of McKees Rocks, was the only team to defeat the Cochran road gridders.

Crafton had a tough time nosing out Coraopolis last week, the Wenrich boys taking a 13-12 decision. Last year Mr. Lebanon defeated Crafton, 13 to 0, in the second battle of the season.

One boy Mt. Lebanon must watch in the Crafton game is Eugene Bates, who has been playing a brilliant game at end for the Wenrich machine. This boy stood out prominently in the opener with Coraopolis.

When Mt. Lebanon goes on the field it will be out to score its seventh straight football victory. After losing to McKees Rocks in 1931, 19-6, the Cochran road eleven defeated South Fayette, Scottdale, Carnegie, Imperial, Dormont and Jeannette in the order named. Jeannette this season is playing in the AA Conference. Bridgeville, Crafton and Braddock were the other victims of Mt. Lebanon last year.

World Series, Schmeling Fight, Great Outdoors on Seals' Bill

The Sharkey-Schmeling fight.
The Great Outdoors.

Gib Marsh

These are the topics that will be discussed during the Trained Seals program of the Pittsburgh Sun-Telegraph over WCAE this evening, beginning at 6:50 o'clock.

Charles J. Doyle, baseball expert, will tell you why he favors the Yankees to beat the Cubs for the championship of the baseball realm in the series opening next week.

Gib Marsh, veteran writer on hunting, fishing, trapshooting and kindred subjects, will speak of things that are dear to the sportsman's heart.

Harry Keck, sports editor, will tell you why Max Schmeling, dethroned heavyweight champion, ought to take the Mickey Walker hurdle and go on to another bout with Jack Sharkey, to whom he lost his title.

Collaborating on the program will be Herb McGee, WCAE announcer, and Miss Salmon, pianist. The troupe will be on the air until 7:15.

School Notes

The Duquesne-Monessen game, originally scheduled at Duquesne next Saturday, has been advanced to Friday afternoon. No reason was given for the change.

Revenge for a crushing defeat last season will be the objective of Scott High Friday night when the Redmen invade Charleroi to meet the Stepanian Cougars. The Cougars defeated Scott, 32-0, at Scott last fall.

New Castle is taking nothing for granted in its battle with Miles Bryan High, of McKees Rocks, at New Castle Friday night. Coach McHenry's eleven threw a scare into the Bridenbaugh machine last season when it held the Lawrence Counties to a 6-0 score.

Midland High, coached by Paul (Rusty) Lomond, begins the defense of its Beaver County championship Saturday afternoon when Ganey Benedict's Ellwood City eleven is met at Ellwood City. Greenville held Ellwood City to a 6-6 deadlock last Saturday.

The Ithaca (N. Y.) High School football team is eager to arrange an intersectional game with a Pittsburgh district school for Saturday, October 1, the game to be played either at home or abroad. Schools interested may arrange the details by writing Ithaca High School, Ithaca, N. Y.

Apollo High School has November 5 open for a Class B opponent. Write or call Apollo High School.

Bobby Angelo is busily engaged preparing his Stowe Township eleven for the opening battle of the season with Coraopolis at Coraopolis next Friday. Stowe Township has November 11 or 12 open for a game at home or abroad. Call Federal 1114.

U. S. WOMEN GOLFERS WIN IN CANADA

MONTREAL, Quebec, Sept. 21.—(AP.)—Five Americans, headed by Peggy Wattles, of Buffalo, won their opening matches in the Canadian women's Open golf championship yesterday, four of them by one-sided margins.

Miss Wattles, runner-up for medal honors in the qualifying round, brushed aside Mrs. J. A. Cameron, of Montreal, 8 and 6, for the most convincing American triumph of the day.

Bea Gottlieb, of Great Neck, N. Y., and Fritzi Stifel, of Wheeling, W. Va., both won by 6 and 5 counts. Bernice Wall, of Oshkosh, Wis., trounced Nora Rankin, of Montreal, 5 and 4.

The fifth American, Mrs. E. A. Millea, of Lakeville, N. Y., had to go to the seventeenth green to beat Mrs. H. Soper, of Montreal, 2 and 1.

Cub Stock Jumps To 300 After Win

CHICAGO, Sept. 21.—(AP.)—Chicago National League baseball club stock would make a great investment for a quick profit—if it could be obtained.

A Chicago brokerage firm, which very occasionally deals in Cub stock, reported a sensational rise yesterday afternoon. Its usual range is from 195 to 210, but opened yesterday at 255. One run in the first inning and it went to 275 bid. At the end of the game it was 300 bid, with the only offering five shares at 350.

SEEDED STARS ADVANCE IN HARVARD CUP TOURNAMENT

QUARTER-FINAL PLAY SET FOR SHADY SIDE

By PAUL G. SULLIVAN

The scene of hostilities in the tenth annual Harvard Cup interscholastic titular net event shifts this afternoon to the Fox Chapel bailiwick of Shady Side Academy, whither 11 surviving racqueters must trek with Chairman Wells Fay for conclusion of third and quarter-final round competition before evening.

Semi-final action is slated for the Arnold School lot on Braddock avenue tomorrow, with windup feature slated for the University Club on Friday.

ACKERMAN FACES TEST

Henry Ackerman, third seeded entrant and 1930 winner of the Cambridge flagon, encounters Jimmy Arensberg, hard-hitting Shady Sider, in the most promising fracas on today's list. Arensberg, whose classically turned and quite pace-laden ground game yesterday accounted impressively for Ken Ritenour, South Hills performer, 6-4, 6-3, and for Bill Drew, Dormont hope, 6-4, 6-1, should make things interesting for the more experienced, but less spectacular, Ackerman, who cavorted steadily, but without special power, to down Johnny Jones, of Crafton, 6-2, 6-3.

Ralph Bald, Mount Lebanon team-mate of Ackerman and first of the seeded quartet, battled through a torrid tilt with Ray McColligan, Duke Prep southpaw, to achieve a 6-3, 6-" decision and a place in the bracket of eight.

MADDEN ADVANCES

Meanwhile Bob Madden, Schenley mainstay and second of the select group, awaits the outcome of the combat between clever Bill Miller, of Taylor Allderdice High, and Bob Merchant, dogged Wilkinsburger, who yesterday outstayed Sam Pollock, Arnold School contender, in the lengthiest fray of the tourney to date, 5-7, 6-3, 8-6. Madden had plain sailing with 6-1, 6-2 verdict over Tom McKennan, of Peabody, in the second frame.

The summary:

Second round — Thomas Stout, Coraopolis, defeated James S. Criswell, South Hills, 6-2, 6-3; James Arensberg, Shady Side Academy, defeated Kenneth Ritenour, South Hills, 6-4, 6-3; Bernard Greenberg, Taylor Allerdice, defeated Floyd Schaler, Turtle Creek, 7-5, 5-7, 6-2; Robert Merchant, Wilkinsburg, defeated Spencer K. Pollock, Arnold School, 5-7, 6-3, 6-4.

Third round—Ralph Bald, Mt. Lebanon, defeated Raymond A. McColligan, Duquesne University, Pres., 6-3, 6-3; Henry Ackerman, Mt. Lebanon, defeated John D. Jones, Crafton, 6-2, 6-3; Robert Burnett, Wilkinsburg, defeated Irvin Sobel, Rankin, 6-0, 6-3; James Arensberg, Shady Side Academy, defeated William Drew, Dormont, 6-4, 6-1; Robert Madden, Schenley, defeated Tom McKennan, Peabody, 6-1, 6-2; Allerton Miller, Shady Side Academy, led Thomas Stout, Coraopolis, 6-1, 2-5, when rain interrupted the play.

BILLY MARKS INJURED

PRINCETON, N. J.—(AP.)—A 40-minute scrimmage yesterday between the Princeton varsity and scrubs uncovered a potential Tiger star in the person of Jack Coggeshall, of Morristown, N. J., sensational halfback post. Coggeshall, a sophomore, raced 25 yards around end for the varsity's first touchdown and dashed 65 yards for another only to be called back for offside. Bill Marks, former Kiski star a leading end candidate, suffered a torn ligament in his shoulder in blocking practice.

GENE JOINS WIFE

PARIS, Sept. 21.—(AP.)—Gene Tunney, the former heavyweight champion, arrived yesterday and went almost immediately to the bedside of his wife, who is ill in the American Hospital after a mastoid operation. Physicians said Mrs. Tunney is much improved.

THE BABE

He's the Grand Slam of World Series—Here's His Life Story

This is the ninth of 10 stories relating the prodigious World Series feats of the one and only Babe Ruth. Nearing the end of his career, the Babe this year will make his tenth and perhaps last appearance in the classic.

Babe Ruth smashed the home run record again in 1927, lifting it to its present level of 60, helped demoralize the Pirates in one world series, and then came back in 1928 to swing his war club against the Cardinals in the greatest of all series offensives.

He stands today on fairly feeble feet, a near-appendicitis victim, waiting the arrival of the Chicago Cubs, and in the great man there may be one final, historic display. Ruth is like that. But the odds are gigantically against his ever duplicating the hitting storms of 1927 and 1928, his eighth, ninth and last world series appearance up to this year.

Babe Ruth

Swinging his mace for the fences, Ruth still hit .356 for the season of 1927. The Yanks stormed into Pittsburgh for the start of the series.

Before the first game, canny Miller Huggins lined the Yankee hitters up for batting practice. He sent a pitcher out to toss them their favorite balls. They took their turns, Ruth, Combs, Meusel, Gehrig, Lazzeri, Koenig, Dugan and the rest, the Pirates peeping in awe at their first sight of the sluggers.

In far right field at Forbes Field was a covered stand, the seats still folded back in the upper deck, awaiting the customers. The first ball Ruth hit smashed a seat up there. He rocketed a half-dozen more, knocking the seats down like clay pigeons in a shooting gallery. Lou Gehrig did the same. And every bang was a clap of doom to the dumfounded Pirates. The eyes of the Waner boys popped.

The Yanks swept through the Pirates in four games, Ruth hitting .400. He hit two home runs and scored four times, adding to all his records for total series.

In 1928 the Yanks for the first time in history captured a second world championship in succession in four straight games.

This time Ruth, after another blazing season in which he belted 54 home runs, hit for the amazing average of .625 against the Cards. He shattered or equaled 19 records in the four-game span.

Again he hit three homers in one game, two off Bill Sherdel and the third off his former nemesis, Grover Cleveland Alexander, in the fourth game. He lifted his average for nine series to .325, scored nine runs, hit three doubles and four singles in addition to his homers.

He did everything one man could do to a rival band of ball players and still leave them no recourse at law. He rewrote the record book, and he left it for posterity.

Beaumont Leads In Dixie Series

BEAUMONT, Tex., Sept. 21.—(AP.)—Alex McColl was nominated today as Chattanooga's starting pitcher for the second game of the Dixie series, but yesterday's 1-to-0 loss to Beaumont had convinced the Lookouts that more than pitching would be needed.

Clyde Barfoot limited the Exporters to four hits but was beaten by Henry Greenberg's home run in the seventh and his great catch of a wide throw to first that retired the side in the eighth.

REDS TO HAVE NEW PILOT

CINCINNATI, Sept. 21.—(AP.)—The Enquirer says Dan Howley, manager of the Cincinnati Reds, is negotiating to purchase an interest in the Toronto club of the International League. If the deal is consummated, the paper says, Howley will hold an executive position with the Maple Leafs, but will not be manager.

It is known the Enquirer says, that Howley will not remain as pilot of the Reds.

Sidney Weil, president of the Cincinnati club, declared he had absolutely nothing to say and wouldn't until Howley's contract expires at the end of the season Sunday. He added:

"There'll be plenty of time to talk about a change—if there is one—then."

MAY BUY TORONTO CLUB

TORONTO, Sept. 21.—(INS.)—Reports were current today that Dan Howley, present manager of the Cincinnati National League baseball team, was negotiating for the purchase of the Toronto club, of the International League. Officials of the Toronto club were silent, but it was understood that present plans call for Howley ownership, with management of the team to be intrusted to Lena Blackbourne.

LOEFFLER HONORED

BALTIMORE, Sept. 21.—(AP.)—Ross K. Loeffler, of McKeesport, Pa., a game commissioner of Pennsylvania, today was elected president of the International Association of Game, Fish and Conservation Commissioners.

GRIDDER INJURED

CORKING CARD FOR BENEFIT TONIGHT

TONIGHT'S FIGHTS

George Panka vs. Art Rodenbach and Johnny Datto vs. Joe Marcus, 10 rounds each. Boyd Clements vs. Carl Gross and Curly Klaas vs. Roxy Jennings, 5 rounds each, and Johnny Montebano vs. Jerry Clements, 4 rounds (for benefit of Salvation Army of tri-boroughs of Braddock, North Braddock and Rankin), Meyers Bowl, North Braddock.

Harry Fierro vs. Dave Barry and Gyp Zarro vs. Lou Terry, 10 rounds each, and Max Brown vs. Johnny Miles, 8 rounds, and Carl Schafer vs. Al DeRose, 6 rounds, St. Louis.

By HARRY KECK,
Sports Editor.

Joe Marcus

It's one of the best bills of the season, a corker, in fact, and all for the sake of sweet charity. The Salvation Army will benefit, and the affair is being sponsored by the best people of the tri-boroughs of Braddock, North Braddock and Rankin. All three burgesses are on the committee, not to mention the bankers and other bigwigs.

Tickets have been sold in wholesale lots for the worthy cause, and they do say they'll sell out the Bowl, which will be a novelty for this season.

Two 10-round bouts, two five-rounders and an opener of four rounds make up the program.

PANKA IN WINDUP

George Panka, Homestead heavyweight, takes on Art Rodenbach, of New York, former Golden Gloves champion, and nephew of the famous Billy Rodenbach, six times National amateur champion a generation ago, in the 10-round windup.

The other 10-rounder brings together Johnny Datto, thrill-producing Filipino puncher, and Joe Marcus, the Leaping Lena from Portland, Ore., who smacked Patsy Hennigan, of Clairton, into the latter's first defeat in his only other appearance here. The winner of this number will be pitted against Battling Gizzy, of Donora, in the windup of the opening show of Eddie Kapphan's new arena, on the North Side, Friday night of next week.

A special five-round bout will be between Lloyd Clements, Jeannette light-heavyweight, and Carl Gross, Frank Klaus' big fellow, and will be for blood. Gross last week biffed Lloyd's big brother, Leo Clements, into stark madness and a small-sized riot at Hickey Park, and Lloyd is out to redeem the family honor.

KLAAS VS. JENNINGS

Curly Klaas, of the North Side, and Ray Jennings, Negro heavy, of Homestead, box the first five-rounder, with Jennings out to even up for a knockout handed him by Klaas while they were in the amateur ranks. The four-rounder, set for 8:45 o'clock, is between Johnny Montebano, of Braddock and Jerry—the youngest of the fighting family—Clements. They are featherweights.

Grimm Credits Pirates For Start to Fame

Charles J. (Lefty) Grimm, manager of the Chicago Cubs, who were crowned champions of the National League yesterday, was one of the most popular Pirates in the history of the Pittsburgh baseball club. Grimm's friends in this district are legion, and, while they were cheering and pulling for the Bold Buccaneers right down to the last ditch, they were glad to congratulate the former Pittsburgh first-sacker on top of his glowing success.

Grimm acknowledges the well wishes of the Pittsburgh district fans, and pays a fine tribute to the Pirates in the following telegram sent this newspaper:

"Chilly Doyle, Pittsburgh Sun-Telegraph:

"A great part of any success I may have in baseball is due to Pittsburgh and the fans of that vicinity. My first real major engagement was with the Pirates and my real start was with that team. Of course my old friends and I were enemies today, but they were splendid and fair fighting enemies. My hat is off to the Pittsburgh club and its gallant fighting quality and the never-say-die spirit that carried it to the last week of the pennant fight.

"CHARLES GRIMM."

Between Rounds

Ted Yarosz, with 56 wins behind him, still has five men ahead of him in the welterweight class, according to the N. B. A.'s newest ratings. They are Jackie Fields, the champion; Lou Brouillard, Young Corbett, Jimmy McLarnin and Johnny Indrisano. He has been matched with Fields and Indrisano, but the bouts did not come off. Corbett is out in California and Yarosz will have to go out there if he wants to fight him. McLarnin is impossible as an opponent here, because of his big-money demands. Brouillard may box him here at an early date. All of which makes Yarosz an Elk. Or a Moose, or an Eagle.

Willie Davies, who has been boxing as a bantamweight for more than a year, still is ranked as a flyweight by the N. B. A. Mose Butch is a listed bantamweight, behind Art Gross, who was soundly thrashed by Jimmy Thomas here last week. Yet Thomas, who also has boxed Spider Pladner, Davies, Pete Sanstol, Archie Bell and other good ones, is not in the list.

Fritzie Zivic will box Young Dorsey, of East Liverpool, O., in the opening preliminary on the Al Brown-Mose Butch nontitle card at Motor Square Garden next Monday night. Eddie Hebner, of Clairton, and Sid Silas, who boxed a semi-final at McKeesport last Thursday night, will meet again in the second bout.

Butch and his manager, Jack London, saw Brown knock out Spider Pladner in the first round of their title bout in Toronto Monday night and got an eyeful of what to expect when the Oakland southpaw goes against the champion at the Garden Monday night. London said:

"Brown looked like a million dollars against Pladner. He dropped him three times in the first round, the last time for the full count and then some. Each time he crossed an overhand right to the jaw over a long left lead. Pladner did not have a chance."

One of the judges at the Battling Gizzy-Midget Mike O'Dowd fight at Bridgeport, O., Monday night voted for Gizzy, the other for O'Dowd, and the referee for a draw, and it was declared a draw. However, a clipping from a Wheeling newspaper states that Gizzy won eight of the 10 rounds and the fans booed the decision.

Allegheny Elks Lodge No. 339 will stage an amateur boxing show in its clubrooms, Cedar avenue, North Side, Thursday night of next week. The Elks plan to run a show every other week during the fall and winter season.

Joe Adams, of Johnstown, boxes Charley Burns, of South Fork; Caleb Miller meets Pet Lamb and Joe Incesky opposes Chuck Strank in six-round preliminaries to the Joey LaGrey-Billy Angelo fight at Johnstown tomorrow night. Cooney Martin is the promoter.

Reservations for tonight's benefit show at the Bowl may be made by calling Brandywine 3831 or Brandywine 4085.

Local Net Star Wins Texas Title

News of the victory of John H. Stevenson, former Peabody High School sports star, in the annual Gulf Club tennis championship tournament at Port Arthur Tex., was received here today.

Stevenson first won the Gulf Club title last year, and had to defeat several Southwestern net luminaries to retain his crown.

WOMEN CLASH IN WOSCHENGO CLUB PLAY

By TOM BIRKS

Women golf stars of the district are playing today in the annual invitation tournament of the Woschengo Club, Schenley's women's golf organization, over the Schenley links. More than 80 of the leading country club players of the section are competing.

Jimmy Bruno, popular caddie master at Alcoma, captured the Caddie Masters' and Assistant Professionals' Golf Association championship yesterday by defeating Bill Stocker, of Stanton Heights, 5 and 4, in the final round at Longue Vue. Bruno succeeds Paul (Toots) Erath, of Edgewood, as the association's champion, Erath, victor last year was not eligible for competition this season.

In the second division, Fred Bennick, of Castle Shannon, annexed top honors by trimming R. Marks, of Wildwood, 1 up, in a stirring 20-hole battle. Joe Resposky, of Uniontown, won in the third fight, defeating J. Forbes, of Butler, 2 and 1.

The Schenley women's golf team served the South Park team a sound trouncing in the two-day team match. After winning the first half of the match on Monday, 21 to 0, the Schenley women came back yesterday at South Park to record a 19-to-2 triumph for a decisive total count of 40 to 2.

Yesterday Mrs. Curry defeated Mrs. Myrtle Stearns, 3 to 0; Mrs. Blair defeated Mrs. E. Falke, 3 to 0; Miss Clarke defeated Mrs. E. Van De Vanter, 3 to 0; Mrs. Masury defeated Mrs. Engeman, 3 to 0; Mrs. Schwartz lost to Mrs. N. C. Claiborne, 2 to 1, and Kitty McLaughlin defeated Mrs. E. V. Schaeffer, 3 to 0.

Only two district women players will engage in the national championship tournament at Peabody, Mass., next week. The local entries will be Mrs. L. G. Riley, of Edgewood, and Mrs. H. W. Christie, of Butler.

RACES POSTPONED

LEXINGTON, Ky., Sept. 21.—(AP.)—Rain caused postponement of yesterday's Grand Circuit races here. Events carded on the program will be run today.

STOCKS STAGE BEST RALLY IN 10 DAYS

NEW YORK, Sept. 21.—(AP.) — Bullish enthusiasm, which had been waiting for further evidence of a pickup in business, flowered out today in the best rally the stock market had seen in 10 days.

A number of leading stocks—rails, utilities, chemicals and specialties—led the upturn with gains of 2 to 5 points or more. Union Pacific ran up more than 5. Santa Fe, Norfolk and Western, Delaware and Hudson, New York Central and Atlantic Coast Line moved forward 3 to 5 points.

Buying quickly spread, after a brisk rally at the opening, to a wide list of industrial and utility stocks. Prices were pushed upward vigorously in more active dealings, many transactions appearing on the tape of 1,000 to 6,000 shares. United States Steel, which had lagged in recent markets when potential rallies appeared to be in the making, moved up 4. The preferred jumped about 7. National Steel and Bethlehem were up 3 or more. American Telephone gained more than 5 and advances of 3 or better developed in Consolidated Gas, Case, Harvester, Allied Chemical, American Can, American Smelting, Westinghouse Electric and American Tobacco B.

The weekly electric power production figures showed for the week ended September 17 a gain of 32,465,000 kilowatt hours over the week before, but were 11.2 per cent below the corresponding 1931 figure against a decline of 8.7 the week before. This widening of the gap compared with last year was attributed to the fact that the usual September increase in manufacturing activity started one week earlier this year than usual. Since August 27, the National Electric Light Association statement showed, power production had increased up to September 17 by 40,000,000 kilowatt hours against 25,127,000 in the same period last year.

GRAINS FOLLOW STOCKS UP

CHICAGO, Sept. 21.—Stimulated by jumps in securities, the grain markets today scored a brisk early advance. The fact that the Chicago-Liverpool wheat price difference was being fully maintained despite enormous Canadian marketing was also a bracing factor. Opening ⅜@1⅛ up, wheat afterward rose further. Corn started at ¼@⅜ gain and continued to mount.

Fresh purchasing of wheat in Chicago by millers today gave an advantage to bulls, and so likewise did word that Greece was in the market for more wheat from the United States.

A rise of more than 1½ cents a bushel was quickly established, with transient setbacks meanwhile brief and slight. Corn and oats responded to wheat strength, though hedging operations in corn tended to check advances.

Forbes

Foundation for Better Times Laid, Declares Motors Chief

—By B. C. FORBES—

DETROIT, Sept. 21.—We have stepped up Chevrolet production schedules 10,000.

That's the welcome news President A. P. Sloan, of General Motors, gives me. He added:

"Sales so far this month have maintain the increse that set in about mid-August. Hence our expansion schedule."

Mr. Sloan has learned from painful experience during the last three years not to be carried away by unduly high expectations. He has become very much "from Missouri." Therefore, what he says may sound cautious; but it is actually very encouraging. He tells me:

B. C. Forbes

"Our retail sales, which is our most effective measure of consumer purchasing power, showed quite an upward seasonal trend for August over July. This trend was evident in all price classes, including the lowest price. Early September returns are gratifying, but no definite statement can yet be made, of course, covering the month as a whole.

"As I see the general picture, there are distant signs here and there of improvement. I hope they are instances of straws which show the way the wind is now blowing.

"Being inclined to deal with facts rather than opinions, I personally have not made up my mind that the famous 'corner,' which we have been seeking so long, has been reached, although, of course, I hope so.

"Aside from whatever the trend of business activity may be at the moment, there is no doubt that there is a very gratifying reversal in sentiment as to the future of things—which in itself is undoubtedly a necessary prelude to a real economic recovery. While there are still things to be accomplished, yet the situation, particularly from the financial standpoint, is very distinctly better.

"Unquestionably the foundation is being built slowly but surely for better times. And this in itself should be cause for encouragement."

We have been told for many months that Detroit was the bluest spot on the American map. My first contacts do not tend to confirm this. While it possibly was true up to a month or six weeks ago, it is distinctly less true today. August brought rays of sunshine. So has early September.

The will to buy autos has returned, at least in some measure, since the general economic situation perked up—and especially since securities increased so substantially in market value.

The truth is that the power to buy, notwithstanding all that has happened and all that is said, is still enormous. America is far from broke. Our gigantic savings figures emphasize that.

One automobile manufacturing concern has originated a unique plan to coax sluggish dollars and to stir up salesmen. Each salesman, in five periods of 10 days, sends in a list of his five livest prospects, numbered one, two, three, four, five. If he sells prospect number one, he receives instantly a check for $50. The reward, in addition to the regular commission, for selling any of the other four is $35. For anyone not on the list, the extra compensation is $25.

The general sales manager sends a personal letter to each prospect forwarded by the field men. This is followed by a beautiful piece of direct mail, with the prospect's name printed on the cover.

BANKERS FAIL TO PASS ON RELIEF

By MERRYLE S. RUKEYSER
Universal Service.

NEW YORK, Sept. 21.—Business men—the users of bank credit—are by no means solidly behind the administration schemes for economic relief.

Even the bankers who as a class have benefited are by no means unanimous in expressing approval. George B. Harrison, president, Denver National Bank at Denver, Col., for example, writes:

Mr. Rukeyser

"I know of no additional steps that can be taken by the government to correct our present economic situation. In fact, in my judgment, many of the steps already taken have been fundamentally unsound. Attempts have been made to correct effects, rather than causes."

BANKS PROTECTED

From the business viewpoint, John W. Doty, president, the Foundation Company, told me:

"There is no question but what the banks have been substantially protected by the government emergency financial institutions, but as yet there is no indication of the banks making commercial loans if a company really is in need of credit. I could write at length on the question, but to sum the situation up, the government has provided means to stabilize and provide credit to our banking institutions, which was primarily necessary in order to save our banks; but until the banks commence to function along normal banking lines in the extension of credit facilities, we cannot hope for a serious stimulation of business and the return of profits to our various companies, which profits are necessary in order to create prosperity as a whole."

"I have spent the greater part of the past six months in Europe, where, as you know, the Foundation Company has a considerable volume of business which has been in continuous operation. The various governments over there have stopped financing new projects or taking on commitments until such time as conditions in the United States improve somewhat, which naturally affects their income due to exports.

BUSINESS ABROAD UP

"Business in Europe is proceeding on a more or less normal basis and, generally speaking, on my last trip to Europe I found conditions there more sound than during the spring. If we should increase our purchases abroad, Europe could proceed to carry out new engineering developments which it requires, without the least hesitancy. On the contrary, I feel that in this country our reconstruction must necessarily be slow. Financial affairs in many of the European countries have not been permitted to go to pieces, primarily due to the broad powers exercised by the Bank of England, the Bank of France and institutions of similar character in the different countries of Europe.

"We here must create or give similar powers to such an institution in the United States, which would have a valued affect on our financial situation and not permit the banks to sell the public out without discretion or discrimination, which has so seriously depleted our reserves and which seems to be the item that will delay the country getting back on its feet as promptly as Europe, which had kept its financial resources, such as they are, at least within control."

PENNSY, B. & O. LOADINGS UP

PHILADELPHIA, Sept. 21.—The Pennsylvania Railroad system handled 86,047 revenue cars during the week ended September 17, compared with 74,060 in the preceding 7 days and 112,787 in the similar 1931 week.

Loadings from January 1 total 3,163,975, against 4,396,123 in the like 1931 period.

BALTIMORE, Sept. 21.—The Baltimore and Ohio Railroad loaded 61,119 revenue freight cars during the first 10 working days in September, an increase of 7,976 cars over the same period in August, but 27,891 below the same period in September, 1931.

LONDON, PARIS STOCKS RISE

LONDON, Sept. 21.—A feature of the stock markets was the all-around improvement of international favorites. British funds were idle but steady, while foreign bonds were maintained. Home industrials were firm. Oil shares were higher. Rubber issues were firmer on an advance in the commodity price.

PARIS, Sept. 21.—Prices on the bourse continued to move upward today, with the tone strong.

ASKS RECEIVER FOR WALDORF

NEW YORK, Sept. 21.—(AP.)—A receivership was asked for the New Waldorf-Astoria Hotel yesterday by a mortgage bondholder, and the hotel management promptly declared there were "no grounds" for the action.

Lucius Boomer, president of the hotel, said the current financial position of the hotel was "highly satisfactory," despite the "adverse conditions general to all business."

Bernard Breslauer, the bondholder, petitioned for appointment of a receiver on behalf of himself and any other bondholders who might wish to protect their holdings in an $11,000,000 bond issue.

He stated the hotel and its expensive furnishings may be seized by the New York State Realty Company for nonpayment of rent, and charged the management had defaulted in various rent payments and failed to meet interest payments on bonds which fell due September 1.

VALENTINE

Captivating Story of a Shy Girl Rushed Into Love

By HAZEL LIVINGSTON

Val Spends Hours Planning Improvements on Her New Apartment

CHAPTER XXVII.

Val went into her room to get her hat, her beautiful coat with its immense blue fox collar, Her traveling bag, the shiny blue leather one with its demure gray cover, was packed. The trunks had gone ahead. The big suitcase she had got to go south, and which she would keep with her on the train, was ready, too.

She looked around the room. It wasn't a pretty room. It had only one window that looked out on some shrubs and over fences to a glimpse of the Bemis' yard, where she and Marjorie had played for so many years.

"I kind of hate to have you go," she said.

She saw Georgie Carey skipping along the sidewalk, bag of rice in one hand, large slice of cake in the other. How could she leave Aunt Julia and home, go off in a shower of rice, amid the shouts and sobs and joyful cries of the Careys. How could she?

She clung to Aunt Julia.

"Joe—I wish you'd ask Joe to come here a minute."

Joe was in the hall, overcoat over his arm, directing a taxi driver to load in the bags.

LEAVE RELATIVES

Mrs. Carey said, "But we can't all get in that! I told you two cars, Joe! Vivian can sit on my lap and Edwina can hold Ruth, and you and Georgia can squeeze in with the driver, but we need seats for Miss Macfarlane and myself and—"

Val held her breath.

"All the goodbyes are going to be said right here," Joe said firmly. "Unless you want it the other way, Val?"

"No—I think it would be better too—" (Dear Joe! Just what she had hoped).

She clung to Aunt Julia. Joe's mother clung to him.

* * *

He was so afraid that she wouldn't like it.

"But I do! I just love it. I've never seen such gorgeous autumn coloring in my life. I'm going to adore it, Joe. I've always wanted seasons—you know, summer and winter and spring and autumn—not all alike, like home."

EVERYTHING NEW

But he laughed at her when she snuggled into her coat in the brilliant sun of the first autumn days.

That was one of the surprising and nice things about Joe. Joe was always laughing. He took life so much more lightly than she had remembered him doing. But, of course, he had always had the family, his mother, the children, to worry about at home, and here he was alone.

Everything was so new to her, even Joe! Joe's clothes hanging up in her closet, the apartment Joe had selected for her, the climate, the beautiful, brilliant reds and lemon yellows of the autumnal trees, the lakes that dotted the city, the river that wound through its center . . . the Mississippi, the same river on which Tom Sawyer and Huckleberry Finn had played.

The apartment wasn't just the sort of place she would have chosen, but it was about the best to be had with the money they could afford to spend, Joe said.

It was a nice old brick house, set in a square of lawn, with elm trees and maples in the space near the sidewalk, and ivy clinging to the walls.

It had a square, rather small living room, with a davenport and two matching chairs, two or three small mahogany tables, two immense gilt radiators and a "radiant heat" fireplace that wasn't a fireplace at all, but just a glow of red, like a hearth in a stage-set.

There was a dining room with a big round oak table, and six sturdy chairs. A bedroom with a big brass bed, and a bureau and a chiffonier—rather dark. The kitchen was still darker than the bedroom, and the bathroom was so very dark that you had to turn on the lights to see your way around.

"But it's clean, and the furniture isn't bad, and I know there's plenty of heat in the building," Joe said. "Besides, it's a convenient location, and most of the gang live around this section."

DOESN'T WANT HER"

The gang. She hadn't realized that Joe had a gang. She had thought of coming here, to this strange home, and living isolated, from everyone. A sort of Robinson Crusoe existence with Joe. Which was silly . . . naturally Joe would have friends . . . people she'd have to meet.

"It's sort of barren now," Joe said. "You know—unhomelike. But I knew you'd fix it up. Pearl Neely wanted to. She was going to have everything looking swell when you got here, but I thought you'd rather do it alone and have it your own way."

"Oh, yes, I would," Val said firmly.

Pearl Neely . . . now where did she hear that name? Pearl . . . of course! The girl Mrs. Carey once boasted Joe was engaged to.

"That's what I thought, Pearl has wonderful ideas, though. She might help you. She teaches domestic science and knows how to do all kinds of things. You know, she makes curtains and weaves rugs—fixes up coal-oil cans to look like swell lamps — that sort of thing—"

"I know. But you were right, Joe, I WOULD rather do it myself. You can do lots with a place like this. I wish you could have seen the terrible places Millie used to take and then fix up. There was an apartment we lived in once—just before I came to Aunt Julia—that was a little like this, only not a twentieth as nice, and by the time Millie had her own things out—flowers in flower pots on the window sills and things like that—"

UNPACK BOXES

"That will be great, Val! I could just see how it would look. Architecturally it isn't half bad. Good proportions, nice oak floors, good beamed ceilings and those nice dormer windows—and then that river view. Gee, Val, I can't wait till we do get it fixed up!"

"Come on, help me unpack the boxes. My things will make all the difference."

That very night, while they were unpacking, someone telephoned—two or three of "the gang" wanted to call.

"Now, with everything all over, and nothing fixed? Oh, Joey, can't we wait, just a couple of days?"

"Whatever you say, honey girl."

So Joe made the excuses. He helped her unpack the Russian canisters, the odd pieces of silver, the geranium shoots she had brought packed in potatoes.

They got everything spread out all over the floor and the davenport and the two tables and one chair.

"Now where do I put them, Val?"

They perspired for three hours.

"The only difference," Val said, "is that when we got here it looked as if nobody ever lived here, and now it looks as though somebody is just moving out."

"You poor kid! Now you lie there and rest awhile and I'll get some food. I'm starved, aren't you?"

"I believe that's what's the matter with me. I'm famished. But you rest, Joe, and I'll fix something——"

Pearl Neely had stocked it with a few staples, fresh cream and butter, eggs, bread and coffee. Mrs. Peacock, Joe's ex-landlady, had carried up armloads of fruit and vegetables and an immense lemon pie.

"How perfectly heavenly!" Val said.

Joe wanted to laugh — Val took things so for granted. She never asked where the supplies came from. Did she think he made the pie?

"Oh, Joe, you're so funny!"

So they ate, eating and drinking cup after cup of strong coffee. The hours fled. It was nearly morning when they had finished planning the lovely home they would make of this place.

Synopsis

Valentine Macfarlane is practically deserted at the age of 8 by her gay, widowed mother, Millie. She is brought up by a man-hating maiden aunt, Julia. Millie roams the world, then returns to America. Valentine becomes engaged to a neighbor boy, Joe Carey, who takes an architect's position in Minneapolis. Aunt Julia sends Val to visit Millie in Santa Barbara. Val returns with a luxurious Hollywood trousseau. Joe's selfish mother learns of the engagement and creates such a disturbance that Joe rushes home and arranges for an immediate wedding. The wedding takes place in Aunt Julia's home.

Now Go On

Heart of a Wife

By ADELE GARRISON

Madge Is Put on Her Guard by "Sirupy" Avis

"Yes, I know," I said in reply to Lillian's comment that nearly half my dinner-dance guests were grown-ups. "I mean them to be. You see there are two guests of honor, Mrs. and Miss Arlen. Mr. Veritzen mentioned both of them distinctly in his request to me."

"Did it ever cross your mind that the old boy may be falling for the fair mamma of Avis?"

"Yes, it has," I retorted, laughing lightly, "but, in the mortal words of one Bunker Bean, 'I can think of nothing of less consequence.'"

"Atta girl!" she applauded. "There are seven on hand already; Mary, Marion, Carolyn and Avis Arlen for the feminine roster, and Noel, Ronald and Bob Trevellan for the masculine. Two more Yale friends of Ronald's, the cadets who were in the city at the Christmas party, and two or three girls from around here—Avis may have some one she wishes to have invited."

"Not that young woman," Lillian said drily. "In the first place, she isn't a girl's girl. I'll bet girls fight shy of her. And in the second place, even if she did know any, she wouldn't have 'em—not at a party where attractive young men were in the offing."

She drawled the parody deliciously, and when I had finished laughing she put another question:

"You're going to have them dance between courses, night club style?"

"Yes."

"Won't that mean that every man has to come back after every dance to his first dinner partner?"

ARRIVE AT ARLENS

"Yes, unless"—I hesitated, for I had not yet consulted Dicky upon this angle—"unless we make it progressive, like a bridge, you know, changing partners and tables at every course; and then, when dinner is over, have something like a Paul Jones—something old style that will shuffle them up for the rest of the evening."

She took off her hat and flourished it out of the window, to the patent amazement of some youngsters walking along the road.

"That spells loud and continuous applause," she said. "Also, it insures the success of your party. There's only one thing—"

"Yes? That is?"

"I haven't time to tell you now," she said hurriedly. "The hotel is just down this road a few yards. It isn't important anyway, and I need the next two or three minutes to steel myself against that sirupy voice of Avis Arlen. The ma I can stand if I have to, but heaven preserve me from the gal!"

Remembering her characterization, I had hard work to keep my face straight a few moments later, when in the sitting room of Mrs. Arlen's luxurious hotel suite, overlooking the bay, Avis cooed and dimpled and fully justified the adjective "sirupy."

WAS WITH NOEL

Mentally I added a tally to the number of times I had heard her use this exclamation, which she had brought back from England with her. But I had little time for mental comment; she was showering me with questions.

"How many? Is it formal? Do I know any of the people besides the ones of your family? When is it to be?"

"I'll take the last question first," I told her, forcing an indulgent smile to my lips as I saw the fatuously admiring look with which Mrs. Arlen was regarding her daughter.

"I should have told you at once. It is next Friday night, and I suppose it will be semi-formal. I shan't inflict tails or tuxes on the men at this season. They'll wear flannels or linen. But the girls, I fancy, will wear summer evening frocks.

"There will be about 30 guests, half of them older people, half younger. I am giving the affair in honor of your mother and you. As for the younger guests, I do not believe you know any of them save my niece and Mrs. Underwood's daughter, and of course, Noel."

She clasped her hands theatrically.

"Does Noel know about the party?" she asked. "If he does, I'm just going to slay him. We've been together all the morning, and he never said one word about it."

SUN-TELEGRAPH-WARNER THEATERS JUNIOR KOMIC CLUB

By BILL ZEILOR

Scrambled eggs play a most important part in starting the day for many people, but not so with a day at the Enright Chapter meeting of the Sun-Telegraph-Warner Theaters Junior Komic Club. Instead of scrambled eggs it was scrambled shoes that topped the list of events at Saturday's meeting.

The boys generally start the program so that the girls will have an opportunity to prepare for and limber-up for their dancing class and it was decided that they participate in a shoe scramble with their shoes well mixed in a large gunny sack. About 20 boys removed their shoes and took positions at the starting point and at a given signal all raced for the sack and their shoes. For a while it was almost impossible to penetrate the tangle and attempt to pick a winner—first it appeared that Bill Eisman would win for he had a slight advantage in wearing tennis shoes; then Alfred Pagano seemed a possible victor, but the contest was won by a "dark horse," Dominic Liberto protested that his shoes fit too tightly to win.

DANCING CLASS

Without loss of a moment the girls, 110 strong, were upon the stage and ready for their class, under the capable direction of Miss Ruth Miller and Miss Dolly Fritz.

Co-incidental with the starting of the dancing school all of the boys were removed to the scene of the second lap in the Enright Marble Shooting Tournament continued from last week.

The "tournament" was full of surprises and the leaders of last week's lap, Bill Eisman and Fred Bettiloyn, were completely submerged by the vigorous attack of Alfred Hutfles, who now stands as the runner-up and possible winner of the Championship Crown.

DODGE BALL GAME

Next, with a burst of enthusiasm, the entire club entered a dodge ball contest with the girls teamed against the boys. The girls formed into a circle about the group of boys and the boys were in for a real "battle." Some of the Enright girls have real throwing arms and when they throw at a member of the opposite sex—well, it is just too bad for that person. The contest, under the barrage by the girls, soon narrowed down and there were only boys remaining in the circle, the others having been hit by the girls and thus eliminated. Eugene Pagano — that's the other twin — and Thomas Blackburn were all alone in the circle and completely at the mercy of the girls. After a few moments of nimble-footed dodging Eugene got in the way of a zipping throw and to Thomas went the laurels and the spoils.

The boys then encircled the girls and with a vengeance started the eliminations. The girls may be good at throwing a ball, but we hadn't seen the boys in action when we made that statement. Those right-handers and south-paws sure made it almost impossible to avoid being struck by the ball as it was thrown across the circle and back again. The girls were slightly tired from their previous exertions and fell easy prey to the markmanship of the boys. Norma Williams exerted herself and manged to avoid the ball until only she remained in the ring and for her efforts received a powder-puff, case and mirror, and a pencil.

SHORT CUTS TO PERFECT HEALTH

Weight lifting is loads of fun, and a winter sport which is gaining in popularity by leaps and bounds. No ice skates or costly paraphernalia is needed. The sportsman can begin with simple equipment. Above picture shows a weight lifter who has fashioned his own equipment. He uses an ordinary span of featherweight bamboo, on the ends of which are impaled an apple, pear, plum, orange or perhaps an avacado. After working up an appetite by various exercises, gracefully executed to mandolin music, he eats the assorted fruits, cheese and nuts, which are rich in mineral salts. Or sometimes he prefers hot baked potatoes.

The Cut in Light Rates

The Public Service Commission Will Be Expected to Pass Judgment on the Reduction.

After months of negotiation the Duquesne Light Company has offered, and City Council, by a vote of six to two, has accepted, a rate reduction which will permit the average small residential consumer to save about 20 cents a month.

At the outset of the negotiations the company demanded, in return for a voluntary reduction in its rates, a pledge from the city that it would not sue for still lower rates.

The city, under the agreement now reached, makes no such pledge, but expressly reserves the right to take such action in the future as it may see fit to take.

What did the Duquesne Light Company gain, then, in conducting the protracted negotiations with the City Solicitor and the Council? Of what value is Council's formal acceptance of the new rates as satisfactory? Why did the company not reduce its rates months ago without consulting Council and the City Solicitor?

The answer, we presume, is that nothwithstanding that Council makes no pledge not to sue for lower rates, its acceptance of the proffered reduction as satisfactory places the city in a position where it cannot consistently demand anything further.

Council and the City Solicitor may or may not be good judges of the fairness of the proposed new rates. They have not been fair to the people in certain other things on which they passed judgment.

The people of Pittsburgh hardly will be satisfied that the new rate schedules are fair until the Public Service Commission has studied the subject and rendered an opinion to that effect. If the commission should find that the company can cut still deeper and at the same time continue to pay reasonable dividends, the people will expect the commission to take such steps as may be necessary to obtain an additional reduction.

In the meantime the new rates will save the public a little money and are to be welcomed. The Sun-Telegraph takes satisfaction in the fact that its disclosures and criticism were a factor in forcing the company to lower its exorbitant charges. It was the Sun-Telegraph that opened the campaign for a rate reduction.

Cost of Voters' Apathy

Citizens Pay for Civic Indifference in Extravagant Government and High Taxes.

Director Edward G. Lang, of the Department of Public Works, pointed to a sore spot in the body politic when he declared in a radio address Monday night that citizens' lack of interest in civic matters was responsible for the high cost of government.

Unless we are to believe that the majority of the voters—or, rather, of the persons eligible to vote—are stupid or corrupt—an untenable hypothesis—the conclusion cannot be avoided that not only extravagance in governmental expenditures and high taxes, but almost all other governmental ills are attributable to the citizens' indifference to civic affairs.

The corrupt political gangs marshal their forces in strength at every election, but the armies of honest, intelligent folks, who if they went to the polls in full strength could run the government to suit themselves, are always notable on election day for their absentees.

This is a particularly timely subject just now, because we are in the midst of a presidential campaign, with the election less than two months distant, and registration in Pittsburgh indicates apathy. Not as many persons have qualified to vote, so far, as had qualified at this stage four years ago.

The forces for good government should exert themselves to get all unregistered citizens to the polling places on October 8, the third and last registration day.

Entitled to Support

The Coal Traffic Bureau Deserves Public Co-operation in Its Fight Against Injustice.

The Western Pennsylvania Coal Traffic Bureau has renewed the fight against the big railroads' injustice in reducing the rates for the shipment of coal from Eastern Ohio to Cleveland, while refusing to grant corresponding reductions to Pittsburgh operators.

Until the reduction was granted the Ohio shippers it cost only 10 cents more to ship a ton of coal from Pittsburgh to Cleveland than it cost to ship a ton of coal from Eastern Ohio mines to Cleveland; and since Pittsburgh coal is superior to Eastern Ohio coal we were able to compete on that basis.

Now that the differential has been increased from 10 cents to 39 cents, we are unable to compete, and the result is that local operators have lost something like 3,000 tons of business a day.

The Coal Traffic Bureau has asked the Interstate Commerce Commission to grant a hearing at which arguments for the restoration of the 10-cent differential can be presented.

A blow to the coal industry, one of the most important resources of the Pittsburgh District, directly or indirectly affects adversely the prosperity of the whole community and the people.

The Coal Traffic Bureau is accordingly waging a battle not only for the coal operators, but for the community, and is entitled to public support.

Restoring Penn's Woods

The Planting of Seedlings, Furnished by the State, Is Helping to Bring Back the Forests.

An announcement by the State Department of Forests and Waters that trees for reforesting idle land will soon be shipped brings to mind that a number of coal companies in the Pittsburgh district have availed themselves of this opportunity of increasing the value of their property.

Pennsylvania's timber resources are now but a minor fraction of what they once were: but thanks to careful conservation the forests are slowly coming back in areas that are not well suited to anything else.

Replanting is not the most important factor in the restoration of Penn's Woods, but it is increasing in importance. Pennsylvania led all the states last year in the planting of trees on farm land and ranked third in the total number of trees planted for all purposes, with 8,000,000 seedlings and transplants distributed by the commonwealth.

The Department of Forests and Waters now has available at the four state forest tree nurseries white pine, Norway spruce, pitch pine, Scotch pine, larch, black locust, black walnut and yellow poplar, which can be had for fall planting at the rate of $2 a thousand for seedlings and $5 a thousand for transplants. It is recommended that in open land about 1,800 be planted to the acre.

AT SEA DAY BY DAY

By O. O. McIntyre

AT SEA, Sept. 21.—De luxe trans-Atlantic boating received a mighty larruping in the depression. This baroque barque symbolizes the decadence in mass grandeur affecting all. None escaped. A usual first-class passenger list of 800 is shucked down to slightly more than 400.

To the credit of all lines, I hear that despite wage cuts, rate slicing, etc., super service has been maintained. Certainly it has here. But I've been a newspaperman too long to acquire the art of leisure. The foliating of gaieties is, for me, like sending tired Old Rover through the flaming hoop.

Stringencies of the day, however, bring one notable curtailment in pleasure. There is no auction pool on the day's run. After desultory bidding the first night, it was abandoned. A hat pool finds few takers. Ocean greyhounds—the gamblers—have vanished. One cabin boats now get the play.

The charm of one cabin boats is simple democracy. Every passenger is on equal footing. There was always something snide and un-American about second and third class. I once luxuriated with a group of writers first-class to Europe. The most finished writer of all, David Garnett, of England, was in the steerage.

Near our dining table sits an olive skinned brunette I imagined was the Spanish princess on the passenger list. This morning I overheard her say: "I seen him in a fil-lum at the Roxy." The glamour of a ship makes it difficult to distinguish between Madrid and Rivington street.

While the ship, a honeycomb of light, rolled through darkening swells at 2 a. m., it was suddenly becalmed. Rhythm of engines diminuendoed to a purr. Subdued voices were heard in anxious murmur from surrounding cabins. In the phantom stillness, I glanced apprehensively at the life-belt. Today I learned a baby boy was born in the steerage.

* * *

Among first-class passengers is Pal, with a private suite aft on top deck. Too, he has his private sun pavilion and swimming pool. Pal is a trained seal on way to appear at the Palladium in London. It must be billiards to be kept by a seal! From his owner I learn, seals are more easily trained than dogs. It is possible for Pal to escape, waddle to the ship side and vanish. But he doesn't. Many humans, I suppose, could enjoy similar freedom if we made the break, or don't you care for sermons.

* * *

Three days out, a liner congeals into a gossipy floating village. In the smoking room today, I heard a great capitalist was aboard, incognito, in a de luxe suite with two cases of his especial brand of bourbon. Thus he stays semi-comatose from the three-mile limit until Plymouth. It's his annual relaxation. Or so goes the rumor. * * *

At the captain's dinner, I was impressed from the sidelines at the grand entrance of a six-pound salmon from the Columbia River mud flats. It came in opalescent glow on an enormously flanged silver platter, held high by three white-ducked servitors. About it was a rainbowed garnish—red beets, green beans, yellow carrots, etc. The descendant of, perhaps, some French ducal family awaited to slice it. All of which shows what happens to a poor fish who behaves himself.

* * *

Also, I'm practically neck-and-neck with Emily Post. I've learned, at last, that the gold-plated knife, fork and spoon decorating the French plate side are for fruit and dessert. However, I could handle crepes suzette with a barlow knife in a pinch. And, my dears, you should see me have an affair with a baked Alaska.

At sea I'm one of those benign simpletons making forlorn attempts to spread cheer among elders. Passing the deck chair of a white-haired lady napping, I adjusted the blanket around her exposed ankles. Her lids fluttered and, with fretted boredom, she sighed: "Somebody is forever tucking me in."

* * *

Harry Stivey has passed up the ship vamp and walks under the stars with a waxen-white ethereal creature of sulky beauty. He was glowey at breakfast about her spiritual radiance. But I'm skeptical. In the promiscuity of an ocean liner, I have known men to mistake pernicious anemia for a touch of spirituelle.

* * *

I was writing postcards to drop at Plymouth when a monstrously terrifying wave lurched everything helter-skelter. So I used a Groucho Marx formula in one to George D. Buckley. It reads: "Having a good time. Wish I was with you!"

LISTEN, WORLD

By Elsie Robinson

Can a democracy succeed?

That's a queer question to ask in America, isn't it? For America is theoretically a democracy—a "government by the people for the people."

Yet, has democracy ever been successful in America?

Our fathers thought it was. They met together as brothers, poor men and rich men alike. They fought and worked and dreamed together, and out of their struggles and dreams they made the Constitution, which they believed would keep America a democracy forever.

But is America a democracy today? Most of us think it is. We like to think it is. But our War Department comes out straight and repudiates all such sentimental nonsense.

In General Staff's training manual No. 2000-25, on "Citizenship," which every soldier must study, the following statements occur:

"DEMOCRACY RESULTS IN MOBOCRACY, DEMAGOGISM, LICENSE, AGITATION, DISCONTENT, ANARCHY."

That is what the American War Department believes about democracy. That is what it teaches American soldiers.

That is why we are using state militias and federal force instead of arbitration in dealing with striking miners, male and female mill hands, picketing farmers, lobbying veterans who are demanding jobs, higher wages, better living conditions.

That is also why a few powerful citizens are making the plans and running the works and manipulating the money of America, while the rest of us just tag along.

Now of course this isn't a democratic way of handling things. It is anything but a democratic way. It is the way dictators and kings handle things. But the few powerful citizens should not be blamed because of that.

If they are running things to suit themselves, it is because we're letting them.

If they have changed America from a democracy into a what-have-you, it is because you and I and the rest of the voters don't really want a democracy any more.

Or do we?

What sort of a government do you really think you have?

Do you realize how little you really do know about your government? Do you think you should know more about your government?

Or do you agree with the War Department that it is impossible to have a government "for the people by the people?"

Do you think we should frankly admit that democracy has failed in America? Do you think we should openly agree to let a few powerful citizens run things for the rest of us—and honestly confess that a monarchy is better for America than a democracy?

Or do you still believe in our father's brave dream of democracy? Do you still believe that every American citizen should have a direct "say" in his own government, and that the needs of the poor and the stupid are as important as the needs of the rich and the wise, and their rights as sacred?

Ask yourself these questions. Answer them. They are terrific questions.

America is at the cross-roads. The future of America and the destiny of the generations yet to be born depends on the answers you will make to these questions this year.

Text For Today

But God commendeth his love toward us, in that, while we were yet sinners, Christ died for us.—Romans, v:8.

Why I Am a Better Republican Than President Hoover

I SUPPORT ROOSEVELT in 1932. I supported Smith in 1928. If that be treason, make the most of it.

I am a Republican legally because my constituents, whose word is final, have elected me on the Republican ticket. But, aside from such technicalities, I am a BETTER REPUBLICAN THAN HERBERT HOOVER OR CALVIN COOLIDGE, if fidelity to fundamental principles and basic ideals counts for more than staunch adherence to the shibboleth of regularity.

If adherence to a party platform under all circumstances constitutes the criterion of loyalty in a public servant, let us abolish the eagle and institute the parrot as our national emblem.

We have been governed too long by parrots in politics and by yes-men in business.

The vast extent of our territory and the conditions of modern life may make it necessary to mechanize American civilization, but it is not necessary to mechanize our conscience. Let us be men, not robots . . .

THE REPUBLICAN CONVENTION in 1932 was dominated by big business. The Democratic convention escaped by a miracle. But we cannot count upon a miracle in every convention . . .

The control of our government by special interests destroys Lincoln's dictum of government "of the people, by the people, for the people." If Lincoln were in politics today he would probably be denounced as a Bolshevist for uttering these memorable words, which express with sublime simplicity the basic principle of republican government—the principle for which Gov. Roosevelt stands.

IF LINCOLN WERE ALIVE TODAY HE WOULD SUPPORT GOV. ROOSEVELT.

Big business and Mr. Hoover would agree with Lincoln in the first of his three propositions. But they would disagree with him on the others. They would say with Lincoln: "The government of the people." But at that point they would vary the text. Big business wants a government of the people by big business, for big business.

And because I cannot subscribe to this doctrine I cannot support Herbert Hoover.

I SUPPORT Franklin D. Roosevelt on a wet platform, in spite of the fact that my personal predilections are dry. I am 71 years of age. But I am not too old to learn, nor to admit an error. I cannot conceal from myself the sad fact that the noble experiment has ceased to be either noble or an experiment. We need no further trial to convince us that PROHIBITION HAS FAILED.

Other things being equal, I might have supported Herbert Hoover on a dry platform. I might have supported him on a wet platform. But I could not support him on the dubious plank which, with the aid of federal officeholders and the delegates from the rotten boroughs of Republicanism, he forced upon a hamstrung convention.

Mr. Hoover is the IANUS OF POLITICS. One face beams upon the drys, another smiles equivocally upon the wets. He has learned the art of carrying water on both shoulders. At present he carries upon one shoulder a pitcher of water, while upon the other he balances a jug painted to resemble a pitcher of beer.

I do not like Mr. Hoover's attitude on the subject of beer. I relish even less his attitude on water and water power. Mr. Hoover would be perfectly willing to dispense beer to the people if he could turn over the water in the land to the special interests.

Mr. Hoover is ALWAYS TWO-FACED, ALWAYS EQUIVOCAL, EXCEPT WHEN HE CHAMPIONS BIG BUSINESS.

With a singleness of purpose worthy of a better cause he plays the devoted henchman of high finance. One eye in each of his faces, no matter what his lips may say, always winks understandingly at the power trust and at Wall Street.

I TAKE MY STAND with the Republicanism of Lincoln against the Republicanism of Hoover . . .

LINCOLN EMANCIPATED the black slaves. Hoover refuses to take a single step to free the white-collar slave, the wage slave, and the agricultural slave . . .

By enslaving electricity we can emancipate labor from economic slavery. But if this necessity of human life, which should redeem us from drudgery, is owned and controlled by monopoly, slavery continues. Mr. Hoover and his adherents have done everything in their power to withhold the benefits of our national resources from the people.

Roosevelt has fought the power trust at every step. He has fought the power trust and has aided the farm. Hoover has done nothing to lighten the farmers' load. I parted company with Herbert Hoover four years ago because of his failure to recognize that the increasing demoralization of agriculture was a menace threatening not merely the farmer in his humble hut but the banker sitting astride the world in the topless towers of the financial districts.

Mr. Hoover could see nothing except our artificial prosperity, inflated like a balloon by high power salesmen ranging from Presidents of the United States to Wall Street touts . . .

NEGLECTED BY MR. HOOVER and his predecessors, the consuming power of the farmer languished until it died. Today our farmers are strangled by their debts. It is doubtful whether many can survive, even if we should be as kind to them as we have been to our European debtors and grant them a well-deserved moratorium . . .

As the avalanche of distress swept over the farms, until misery had spread from coast to coast, the politicians at last conceded that the problem existed. Then came Mr. Hoover.

He opposed every remedy for the relief of agriculture as a member of the cabinet. But after he was stung by the presidential bee he promised in his campaign speeches to put the farmer on an equality with the manufacturer.

Although his promises were as vague and indefinite as his mentality the people accepted his word. Millions of our people were persuaded that Herbert Hoover had some way of saving the situation. I did not share this fond belief. But I warned in vain. The country, including the farmers, followed the Hoover band wagon.

Alas, the "two chickens in every pot" and the banishment of idleness and unhappiness from our country, which he promised in his oratory, were fairy tales, now known as such, even to children.
